Introduction

This volume—and the entire 25-part Archivum Obscurum series—is an archive of 4plebs threads, compiled from the /x/ paranormal board and related dark web forums. It's important to understand that none of these words are mine. Every sentence you're about to read was posted anonymously by someone else, somewhere deep in the Internet's forgotten layers. I've simply curated, organized, and preserved it. Some of it is brilliant. Some of it is disturbing. Some of it is completely unhinged. That's the point. These books serve as a snapshot of collective occult thought, filtered through anonymity, obsession, fear, and revelation. If you find something offensive or insane—remember, you're not reading me. You're reading the Internet itself, raw and unedited. This is documentation, not endorsement. But that's what makes it powerful. These are the ghost-words of the digital subconscious. I just bound them into something permanent.

If you've ever retained for a long period and came back to bad sexual habits, it's hard NOT to see the consequences of things you failed to pick up on before. You do realize these things have a lasting consequence and you realize you're not doing this to please God, but you do it for yourself.

Look at the big picture fren. It's not about others as much as it is about you. Do it for yourself for a long period and then you'll start to see the contrast between your state of being and others more clearly. People might slip up, but their habits in entirety will reflect themselves as a whole in how they carry themselves. Energy doesn't lie

The image is a close-up photograph of a man sitting on a rocky surface by the water. The man is wearing a blue and orange plaid shirt, dark pants, and a watch on his left wrist. His hands are clasped together in front of his face, and he appears to be in deep thought or distress. The background is blurred, suggesting the focus is on the man, but it appears to be a body of water, possibly a sea or ocean, with waves visible. The lighting is soft, casting a gentle glow on the man's face. There are no discernible texts or other objects in the image. The style of the image is realistic, with a focus on the emotional expression of the man.

Been dirty streaking for 2 years, just found out about Clean streaks and I really want to do it.

It's such a normal habit for me to edge before/after bed. Like it's ritual. I tend to start thinking about romance, then sex, then start touching.

Has anyone else been stuck here and have any personal advice or encouragement?

The image is a screenshot of a Twitter post with a dark background and white text. The post is titled "Benefits of semen retention according to some Rabbinic literature." Below the title, there are three bullet points with accompanying text. The first bullet point states, "Those who guard the sanctity of their seed are granted a pure soul, elevated spiritual status, and closer connection to the Divine." The second bullet point mentions, "Kitzur Shushan Arach 15:18." The third bullet point states, "Those who are careful in this matter will find peace and blessing in their households, their prayers will be answered, and they will merit a life of spiritual fulfillment." The last bullet point states, "Iggeret HaKodesh (The Holy Letter)" and "By refraining from wasting seed, a person sanctifies himself, brings the Divine presence closer, and elevates his spiritual status." The image is a black and white sketch of a person's face. The person has a spiky, disheveled hairstyle with numerous strands of hair. The eyes are drawn with a somewhat exaggerated, cartoonish style, with the eyebrows drawn in a way that gives the impression of a frown. The person's mouth is drawn in a slightly open position, with the lips drawn in a way that suggests a slight frown or a pout. The skin tone is light, and the hair appears to be of a medium length. The overall style of the sketch is simplistic and cartoonish, with a focus on the facial features and the hair. There are no texts or additional elements present in the image.

>Hey welcome to the club! Me too I have a hundred buddies who got on with the semen retention for one hundred days and a hundreds of buddies who did not. Like a night and the day I tell you, the difference, if you know what I mean.

So, maybe, maybe (big fucking suspicious here), maybe it somehow works. I mean my hundred buddies and so on. Believe me now, because I need to manipulate you to my ways.

By the way I hope my supporting shill army is ready to back me up on this because I'm going to tell you next what to do. Here's that others guy's secret:

I think I just don't have much purpose in my life rn. The only reason I'm doing this is so that I might possibly find something good in life. Like after I get rid of porn/masturbation I'll find something to care about. It's just not a lot of hope.

The middle photo is a screenshot from a website, displaying a list of words and their corresponding meanings. The words are written in a bold, sans-serif font, and the list is organized in a grid format. The words are as follows:

- Unicorns
- The Holy Spirit
- The Son of God
- The Son of Man

The image is a portrait-style painting of a man with a mustache and a bow-tie. The man's face is the central focus, and he is depicted with a serious expression. The background is a muted color palette, with a gradient from light to dark, providing a contrast to the subject. The painting style is realistic, with visible brushstrokes that give the image a textured appearance. The artist's signature is visible in the lower right corner of the image, indicating the creator of the artwork. The style of the image is reminiscent of historical portraiture, often associated with the Victorian era.

Just a very strange fact I'll relay to you all. I'm still waiting on the random female attention, but undeniably, my luck has increased. I stay with my friend if I'm traveling for work, and when we hang out, we usually go to the casino because it's close and there's not much else to do. We don't spend much money whenever we're there, but we've ended up going like 4 times in the last month, and every time, I've won between $40 and $150 on $20 or less playing roulette, totalling almost $300.

#DAY 54

Slightly dirtied up my streak yesterday. Been wanting to organize my fapfolder, and I finally gave in to Mr Brains compelling argument "If you don't do it I'll just keep bugging you and dirtying up your streak. This way you will hear no more about this particular item!" And while I managed it without getting engorged or any lingering images or degenerate desires, my testicles are hurting again today like they normally do the first weeks.

>I noticed something interesting today:

As an adult I've had a pretty strong body odor, very "manly" - add to this that I don't use perfume or deodorant and mostly just rinse since anything but the gentlest neutral soaps makes me stink like an office drone with a broken shower. My stank has repelled a lot of people, especially betas and homos; but it has also attracted many women of the right kind. Today I noticed that my odor has changed, it is still very strong and distinct, but that "manly" stank is suddenly gone. I think I will join some kind of aerobics-class with many women and much sweating to see if it is all in my head.

>And my eyesight has improved!

I started seeing much worse, so I moved up 0.25 in strength, as that's how it's been for nearly 40 years. When my new contacts arrive I become like half blind, so I order new contacts 0.5 down from there, and my sight is suddenly near 20/20. Dickdiddling really does make you blind!

Pro tip: every time you look for porn, even if your intention is to find lesbian porn or even just naked women, you are almost undoubtedly going to see a dude's cock, even if it's just in a thumbnail or advertisement. You WILLINGLY see a dude's dick, balls and butthole almost every time you look at porn, no matter where you go or what you're looking for. That is deeply gay. Feel ashamed? You should. Integrate that shame into your practices, and use it as further motivation to cease your degenerate habits.

The image is a graphic design featuring a skull with a prominent, elongated nose and a wide-open mouth, set against a dark background with stars and a nebula-like pattern. The skull is depicted with a purple and blue color scheme, giving it a somewhat eerie appearance. Above the skull, the phrase "ALL PAIN NO GAINS" is written in bold, purple letters, with the word "PAIN" in a larger font size than the rest. The overall style of the image is reminiscent of a poster or a t-shirt design, with a focus on the skull and the motivational message.

If you're gonna watch porn, write down the times that you engaged in it. For example: Wed: 30 mins. Friday: 1 hour etc. The awareness in your behaviors will help you get back on track. Do this with every habit of your life. Don't fall in this binary loop of - I GOT TO AVOID IT AT ALL COSTS. Then relapse with watching porn and fapping for hours, days, weeks. Then back on I GOT TO AVOID IT AT ALL COSTS. Many are stuck on this loop. Keep track of all of your habits and you'll find that you have more control than you think

Because you become more aware of your habits and don't let it spiral out of control. If you went back to your history and saw that you spent 8 hours on porn per day would that sit well with you? Most people just do what feels good and ignore all the time associated with it. That's what leads you to spiral out of control and make the habit less manageable.

The image is a meme featuring a close-up of a person's face with a serious expression. The individual has dark hair and is looking directly at the camera. The person's eyes are wide open, and their mouth is slightly open, suggesting a moment of contemplation or surprise. The background is a gradient of purple and blue hues, which could be interpreted as a night sky or a digital interface.

Overlaying the image is a text that reads, "I know what I have to do but I don't know if I have the strength to do it." This text is in white, bold font, and is placed at the top of the image, suggesting it is a caption or a statement related to the person's thoughts or actions. The text is centered and appears to be a part of the meme's overall theme. The overall style of the image is humorous and seems to be a creative representation of a person's inner conflict or uncertainty.

I'll interpret 'why not?' as "Why are you asking this question?" or "Why is this a valid question?"

Why is a legit question within the framework of a standard ontology which believes in multiplicity of generated conscious apertures because of two reasons:

To ask why not? Is the same as asking "Why is this a valid question?"

If you say "Why not?" in response to "Why is this person's hair red?"

the response to that why not is to point to factors which point out why the person's hair could have been not red.

>Spiritual implications of Sonic the Hedgehog

>Sonic, a hedgehog.

>Hedgehog's dilemma: Where two hedgehog's are cold and must huddle together for warmth, but cannot because their spines hurt one another.

>This is analogous to emotional wounding, developing negative personal traits, being alone yet having characteristics that push people away

>Sonic the Hedgehog's original name was Ogilvie the Hedgehog

>Saint Ogilvie is a saint in Catholicism who wanted to preach Catholicism to non Catholics

>He tried to reach out, but it pushed people away, and they got angry

>He was sentenced to death by hanging

>Sega, ServiceGames

>Started in Hawaii, initially produced coin operated games for military bases

>Military bases were established in response to Pearl Harbour

>The kamikaze pilots were named kamikaze, Japanese for 'divine wind'.

The spiritual implications are:

Move fast, run towards safety or comfort, but do so as a means to hurt others around you, until one day you are killed.

Also expanding upon the implication:

>Move fast, run towards safety or comfort, but do so as a means to hurt others around you, until one day you are killed.

Sonic is popular among those with autism, to the point it is so obvious it is joked about.

>Autism is a neurodevelopmental disorder that disrupts the processing of the five senses to the point of lethargy, anxiety, fatigue or burnout.

>Autists are slow to develop socially in upbringing due to these sensory barriers.

>Autists become adults who feel disconnected or left behind in this world, unable to feel connected or unable to know how to connect to others

>Just like the hedgehog dilemma, the hedgehog requires warmth.

>But the autist speaks too plainly too bluntly or is inappropriate unwittingly

>The autist offends people without meaning to. The autist is punished. Just as the hedgehog dilemma, his spines push others away.

>Autists are catastrophic minded, worried if abandonment and worried of the passing of time and how little time they have to accomplish social milestones

>They move fast, they try to rush into point A to point B social milestones to 'catch up'. Their speed analogous to Sonic's speed.

>But they keep getting into social conflict or rejection, they keep being hurt or hurting others by accident.

Autism.

Those who are able to withstand the autist's accidental jabs of their autistic spines, those who have stone hearts and do not feel any emotions, they can enter the autist's world. And when they do, they find the autistic soul, hidden beneath the masks, and it is pure and sacred, so pure and radiant, it makes the stone hearted visitor of your world feel emotions for the first time in their lives. And they will swear an oath to protect it for you, so that you can find a place in this world.

Sonic's creator, Naoto Oshima, sees him as a fairy-like entity that can come to life if people believe in him. He compares Sonic to Mickey Mouse, and Walt Disney saw Mickey as an idealized version of himself

Sonic's original backstory had him be the reincarnation of a dead American pilot, and also a tulpa created by the pilot's wife as a cope mechanism

Some people also compared the checkered tiles of Green Hill Zone to Freemasonry. And Sega was also founded by Jews in 1940. Sonic is a representation of Sega

Also Oshima created Nights into Dreams which is even more esoteric

The image is a meme featuring a character from the video game "Sonic the Hedgehog" with a serious expression. The character is depicted in a dynamic pose, with its mouth open and eyes wide, as if it's shouting or expressing surprise. The character is wearing a black suit with a white collar and a black belt. The background is a gradient of red, transitioning from a darker shade at the top to a lighter one at the bottom.

Overlaying the image is a text that reads, "why the fuck my pepee hard?" The text is in white, bold font, and is placed at the bottom of the image. The text is centered and appears to be a humorous response to the meme's content. The overall style of the image is humorous and satirical, using a well-known character from a popular video game to comment on a situation that is not directly related to the game.

In the foreground, there is a body of water, possibly a river or a lake, reflecting the city's lights. On the left side of the image, there is a palm tree, and on the right, a palm frond is visible. The overall color palette of the image is warm, with the orange and yellow hues of the sunset or sunrise dominating the scene. The image does not contain any discernible text.

The New Testament has been "Tower of Babel"-ed and has lost its originally intended meaning, especially Revelation.

Put simply: Revelation is about applied Christianity and is not a prophecy. The "return of Christ" happens when you sacrifice material gain for moral reasons.

In Greek, the language Revelations was written in, "666" was actually written as "600, 60, and 6." That follows a pattern that describes its meaning:

Given the world was created in 7 days, 6 is unholy because it represents incompleteness. It represents earth prior to the fulfillment of God/Christ.

Meanwhile, there's a pattern:

That descending power connotes the holy trinity, or, put more secularly: reality, earth, and self.

So, intuitively, 666 means unholiness at every level.

The millennia long game of telephone has corrupted this symbol to be some ridiculous tattoo or whatever. No, it's simply what you project when you think (forehead) and act (hand) in an unholy way.

To avoid the mark, be moral according to Christ's teachings. That's literally it.

Many modern interpretations are Marvel-esque fan fiction of a linguistic abstraction.

Fellow vaxtard? Yes it was the vaccine. Pay attention. The new TV show Pluribus, the one where people get assimilated into a demonic unity of course they don't call it that but it's like that. Demons refer to themselves as plural. They/them. Just like "us" in pluribus.

How did the people get assimilated into demonic slavery? Using mRNA signal being broadcast by the "aliens" (actually it's not aliens as they tell in the show) except it's not aliens it's demons.

How do they spread the mRNA glue as they call it? Through different means but also using chemtrails. They show them in the first episode.

Also don't forget, the official logo of operation warpspeed proudly displays the number 666 in Hebrew and the sign of the connection to God severed by a coronavirus (which never existed to begin with).

I think the vax scam was at least the first part of the mark, but I hope to be proven wrong.

The image is a screenshot of a news broadcast, likely from a television channel, featuring a man speaking at a podium. The man is wearing glasses, a dark suit, and a blue tie. He is standing in front of a large screen that displays the text "BREAKING PM ANNOUNCES DIGITAL ID CARDS" in large, bold letters. Below the screen, there is a red banner with the text "GLOBAL PROGRESS" in white letters.

The man appears to be speaking at a press conference or a similar event, as indicated by the podium and the microphone in front of him. The background of the image is a dark blue color, which contrasts with the white text and the red banner.

In the bottom right corner of the image, there is a watermark that reads "REVELATION 13:16-17" in white letters, suggesting that the content is related to a biblical passage.

The overall style of the image is typical of news broadcasts, with a focus on the speaker and the content being announced.

The content of the page is a biblical passage from the New Testament, specifically from the Gospel of John, which is the 21st chapter and verse. The passage is titled "Rejoice you are sinners" and is a direct quote from the Bible. The text is in a larger font size compared to the surrounding text, which is a common formatting style to emphasize the importance or significance of the passage.

The passage is a direct quote from the Bible, and it is a part of the Gospel of John, specifically chapter 21, verse 22. The passage is a call to rejoice in one's sinfulness, as it is a part of the Christian belief that all people are sinners and that God's love for them is unconditional. The passage is a call to repentance and a call to believe in Jesus Christ, as it is a part of the Christian faith.

The visual elements in the image, such as the serif font, the larger font size, and the bolded text, are used to emphasize the importance and the direct nature of the message. The text is presented in a way that is clear and easy to read, which is typical for a page from a book or document. The image does not contain any other text or graphics, and the focus is solely on the biblical passage.

How to know you're saved youtube.com/watch?v=_VRT2FFXntc

1 Cor 15:3-4: "For I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures; And that he was buried, and that he rose again the third day according to the scriptures:"

Rom 3:23: "For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God;"

Jesus Christ is God who has come in the flesh from heaven. He died as a sinless sacrifice for the sins of the whole world to save you from eternal hell, the punishment for your sin. He was buried, then resurrected and then ascended to heaven. John 3:16: "For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life." John 10:28: "And I give unto them eternal life; and they shall never perish, neither shall any man pluck them out of my hand." Rom 10:9: "That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved." God wants to forgive you, but you have a choice: Do you choose the righteousness of God by receiving Christ? Your own righteousness can NEVER justify you or keep you saved because of your sin. Rom 5:9: "Much more then, being now justified by his blood, we shall be saved from wrath through him." Salvation is by grace through faith in Jesus Christ, in His finished blood atonement. The gift of salvation can't be earned. Confess The Lord and Savior Jesus Christ in prayer, that you trust in Him and believe He atoned for your sins on the cross.

Eph. 2:8-9: "For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: Not of works, lest any man should boast."

Gnosticism is probably the fastest growing religion on Earth. 10 years ago I didn't even heard about it, and now every thirth new-age and esoteric person I meet is gnostic.

So, as it is the inofficial religion of /x/, how is it, Anon, did you took the gnostic-pill too?

The image is a stylized cartoon-like illustration with a predominantly white background.

At the top, there is a text that reads "The Gnostic Voyager of Ei Fe Dumb." Below this, there are several lines of text in a casual, conversational style, each beginning with a question mark. The questions are as follows:

1. "I'm agnostic and immune to materialistic binds of the physical world, pibe."
2. "I don't need to believe aliens when my fantasy is aliens."
3. "If the brain is grey matter how come the mind is pink?"
4. "Needle in the eye of the camel mi amigo."
5. "We are not human beans experimenting like spirit-beasts are, we are spirit-beasts habing goooons."
6. "My therapist is so cool, loves them like a puppy, watching people die is like watching real life in a way."
7. "Color choice so crunge that it burns."
8. "Did I forget to leave the dryer on?"
9. "Watching people die is like watching real life in a way."

The illustration features a person with a large sombrero on their head, wearing a turquoise shirt. The person's face is obscured by the sombrero, and their eyes are visible through the hat. The person's expression is neutral, and their mouth is slightly open. The overall style of the image is humorous and satirical, with a touch of surrealism.

The image is a digital illustration featuring a character that resembles a snake with a humanoid head. The snake has a green body with a pattern of wavy lines, and its head is a white, oval-shaped mask with a prominent nose. The snake's eyes are black, and it has a long, coiled body. Above the snake's head, there is a speech bubble that reads, "I come in peace, you fuckers." The background is black, and there are three UFO-like objects floating in the sky. The style of the image is cartoonish and humorous, with a dark and somewhat ominous atmosphere.

Some thought I had:

For a long time the Demiurge pretended to be God (and "Lucifer" for the edgy power elites) to fool people into worship (because he finds that hot or so). Religion was the standard thing all over the world.

But now he wants to change the plot. Since the 19th century a new narrative of atheism is promoted, mainly through "science" (with a lot of technology to excite the people). This is planed to replace religion in society.

But the Demiurge still wants to be worshipped, so instead of playing God he will play the "alien from space" (the galactic commander or whatever) and create a new "UFO religion" on Earth. That's why the alien stuff is so much pushed into the media now. I think soon "they" will "arrive" with a big show (the ays maybe played by Archons).

Whenever someone declares himself a Gnostic, he actually declares himself a Hylic, unknowingly. By professing themselves wise, they become fools. The gnostic knows not which he claims to know, just as a fish knows the water yet doesn't know the sea.

Why is the gnostic like this? Because he doesn't actually know. What doesn't he know? That it is he who is the demiurge. It's mankind itself that is the demiurge, by the very definition of demiurge that is who man is.

Man builds the world as understood by civilisation, a world upon the earth. He shapes this 'world', he uses his ideals and breathes life i to his thoughts and makes it reality. Subordinate to a higher power.

Now the demiurge:

>A subordinate 'God' who shapes the world in accordance with higher ideals, using pre-existing matter, changes and shapes the Universe.

They are one and the same. A man takes metals, and shapes them into tools, into technology. A pre-existing material shaped into something that serves an ideal. Man takes wood, fashions it into paper, writing upon it to shape the civilisation through ideology.

The gnostic can never know this, and will never remember. Their name, 'gnostic', a divine parody, of man himself. The god who FORGOT.

Demiurge means Yhwh. Gnostic early Christian. Stop repeating 4chan astrology bullshit. Saturn is the Roman god of the bygone era where men lived pastorally free from want and war. The Saturnalia was hugely popular festival where even the slaves could kick back and enjoy the fruits of their labors. It competed with the Catholic church's strategically placed "Christ mass" for centuries into their age and nowadays we celebrate it with some Saturnalian traditions even.

No connections to the sun either. That's Helios and at his shortest day on high Saturnalia at that.

The image is a bar graph depicting the growth of internet penetration in India over a span of 15 years, from 2003 to 2019. The graph is titled "Growth of Internet Penetration in India" and is set against a white background with a grid of horizontal lines. The x-axis represents the years from 2003 to 2019, while the y-axis represents the internet penetration in India, measured in millions.

The graph shows a clear upward trend in internet penetration over the years. The bars representing each year are of varying heights, indicating the growth in internet penetration. The bars are color-coded to distinguish between the growth of internet penetration in India and the growth of internet penetration in India in India. The bars for India are blue, while the bars for India in India are represented by a lighter shade of blue.

The graph shows a significant increase in internet penetration from 2003 to 2019, with the highest point being in 2019, where the bar reaches the highest on the graph. The exact values for the growth in internet penetration in India are not provided on the graph, but the visual representation clearly shows a substantial increase over the 15-year period.

The graph is a clear and concise visual representation of the growth of internet penetration in India over a decade, with the data presented in a clear and easy-to-read format.

The image is a colorful, circular artwork that appears to be a representation of the four realms of existence, as suggested by the labels at the bottom of the image. The top of the circle is adorned with a large, red, and gold-colored figure that resembles a mythical creature with a fierce expression, surrounded by a crown of skulls and what appears to be a serpent. Below this, the circle is divided into four sections, each labeled with a different term: "SAMASARA," "DEVA," "ASURAS," and "ANIMALS."

The background of the image is a dark, textured surface that resembles a stone or brick wall, providing a stark contrast to the vibrant colors of the artwork. The overall style of the image is reminiscent of traditional Asian art, with its use of color, symbolism, and intricate designs.

The image is a dark, moody, and gothic-style artwork featuring a figure that appears to be a demonic or mythical creature with a horned head, long, flowing hair, and a skeletal appearance. The creature is holding a scythe in its right hand and has a menacing expression. The creature is surrounded by a dark, swirling mist or fog, which adds to the eerie atmosphere.

At the top of the image, the word "NEGRAHL" is written in a stylized, metallic font, with the letters appearing to be part of a larger, dark, swirling design. Below the creature, the word "NEMESIS" is written in a smaller, more traditional font, also in a dark color. The overall color scheme is predominantly black and gray, with the exception of the creature's hair and the creature's horn, which are in a lighter shade.

The style of the image is reminiscent of dark fantasy or horror art, with a focus on the creature and the surrounding environment. The artwork evokes a sense of mystery and dread, with the creature's menacing presence and the dark, ominous atmosphere.

The image is a still from a movie or television show, featuring a man standing in a bar setting. The man is wearing a dark-colored long-sleeved shirt and has a beard. He is holding a glass in his right hand, which appears to be filled with a dark liquid, possibly whiskey. The man is looking to his left with a slight smile on his face.

Overlaying the image is a text that reads "not a great plan," which is likely a humorous or ironic statement. The text is in white and is placed in the upper left corner of the image.

The style of the image is a still from a video, with a focus on the man and the text, and it is likely used for comedic or dramatic purposes.

On the right side of the image, there is a black and white illustration of a snake with a sun-like face and a crescent moon. The snake is curled up and appears to be in a defensive or alert position.

Below the text, there is a question in a smaller, bold font that says, "I have no clue who you are or what you are talking about." The question is in a different font and color, matching the text above.

The overall style of the image is humorous and satirical, with a play on religious iconography and a question about identity. The use of the word "WINNING" in the text could be a play on the word "winning" in the religious iconography, suggesting a humorous or ironic twist on the concept of winning.

>This material world is impure and flawed.

The actual Christian answer is no. Any self-hating, suicidal ideology is incompatible with the Lord's law, which is to love our neighbor and be a steward of animals.

>The spiritual path leads us to the higher divine realm.

There is no spiritual, esoteric path of the hand. Only theosis is achieved through being chosen by grace, which depends on God, not you.

>There is a powerful being trying to keep us away from the divine.

No, God has common grace for all nations, but it only functions for the elect, who are eventually blessed with salvation.

Satan is powerless without God and plays the role of accuser under God's sovereignty. Satan is not equal to God. Satan is powerful because humans have rebelled and twisted good. However, good does not exist in nature because there are no evil atoms or molecules. It is a human distortion after the original sin.

>He has spirits who serve him in this world.

No, demons are not a mirror dimension of the heavenly hosts. They are simply metaphysical representations of evil. Since humans made evil exist through corruption, it spread to the metaphysical realm, and evil is now present there as well. They are not armies of physical beings under the command of an anti-God.

>The true divine is also present in this world.

Yes, because we don't think that everything in nature is evil. When God created the universe, he called everything good.

Christ is not just divine like angels or the first form of creation; he is the Word of God (Memra Elohim) in the flesh.

You're carrying some errors

>Satan plays the role of accuser under God's sovereignty.

Satan is not playing a role, Satan exercises his nature. And He is not under God's employ either.

>Satan is powerful because humans rebelled.

No, Satan is powerful because of what he is, or was. Seraphim angel, which is the highest order of angel, and it was Satan who was the chief of all Seraphim. His power predates humanity, as the angels were created before man.

>Since humans made evil exist through corruption, it spread to the metaphysical realm, and evil is now present there as well.

It existed in the metaphysical realm long before the fall of man. Consider Satan in his serpent form in the garden of Eden. Consider the day before Adam ate of the fruit of knowledge. Was Satan evil or not during this time? The answer is yes he was. Humanity did not create evil.

Evil simply means a lack of good. Just as shadow implies a lack of light. The further you stray from the light (God) the more shrouded in darkness (evil) you become.

Satan rebelled and was cast out, was the first being to stray from God, and this all happened before mankind was created. Satan therefore represents all that is unholy and evil, and is the furthest from God. Man didn't do that, that was Satan.

And men who follow Satan follow him into darkness

Grok:

Gnosticism, an ancient religious movement emphasizing esoteric knowledge (gnosis) for salvation, did not have a single, universally accepted canon of sacred texts like the Christian Bible. Instead, various Gnostic groups used a diverse collection of writings, many of which were considered heretical by early orthodox Christianity and suppressed. Our primary knowledge of these texts comes from the Nag Hammadi library, a collection of 13 codices (books) containing over 50 texts discovered in Egypt in 1945. These date to the 3rd–4th centuries CE (with originals likely from the 2nd century), and represent the most significant surviving corpus of Gnostic scriptures.

Yaldabaoth, which was named by François Feaurdentm a catholic French theologian in the late 1500's and then illustrated as a lion-snake by Bernard de Montfaucon, a Catholic benedictine monk in the late 1600's.

Both of them took the original depiction of an egyptian depiction of Yahweh, which was a donkey-headed man called "seth" and expanded on interpreting it. They did this because they were theological archeologists. And they wanted to know what the fuck the Egyptians were sperging about.

The Egyptians always depicted their Gods as being part animal part human. So when the Egyptians tried to interpret the God of the Jews, they chose a donkey-man. But this later developed into lion-snake. Why lion snake? Lion of Judah, the emblem of a tribe of Judah, and the snake of Dan, the emblem of the tribe of Dan. Combine the two and you get lion-snake.

The irony of gnosticism and gnostics is they completely forgot it was simply from two french catholics trying to illustrate and interpret non-egyptian gods. Because it's fascinating after all.

Imagine if ancient Egyptians were tasked to depict shit like sikhism or scientology or any new religions that cropped up in the past 500 years. They'd draw their deities as crazy half beasts, it's kinda cool.

But gnostics somehow take it as some super secret spiritual knowledge that's apparently real because gnostics are not too bright.

>where does the serpent lion thing come from?

Grok sys this:

The description of the demiurge (known as Yaldabaoth or Ialdabaoth in Gnostic texts) as a lion-snake (typically a lion-headed serpent or lion-faced serpent with a serpentine body) originates from ancient Gnostic literature, particularly Sethian Gnosticism.

The primary source is the Apocryphon of John (also called The Secret Book of John), a key text discovered in the Nag Hammadi library (dated to around the 2nd century CE). In this work, Yaldabaoth, the arrogant and ignorant creator of the material world, emerges from the lower aeon Sophia's flawed act of creation without her divine counterpart.

He appears as a monstrous, hybrid being:

"And when she [Sophia] saw (the consequence) of what she had done, ... she saw a lion-faced serpent, and its eyes were like flashing fires of lightning." Variations across manuscripts describe him explicitly as having "the face of a lion and the body of a serpent" or "lion-faced serpent" (leontoeides in Greek sources referencing it).

Thats a nice accusation, got any proof? Even if it were true that Christianity is somehow co-opted by Romans, who cares? At least the Romans were congruent to their source material and didn't spazz out like gnostics do. If you have to choose Rome over Egypt, you choose Rome. Because Egypt sucks.

And gnosticism sucks. They can't even piece together a coherent narrative, ethos, or doctrine. They take shit out of context from egyptian sources (that werent even religious or theological, just egyptians trying to depict other gods from around the world) and they blend it with Platonism, Greek myth, Christianity, and other fringe shit.

Gnosticism was simply the theosophy of its time, the new-age woo of its time, just talk to any modern wiccan or neopagan or theosophist today. Notice how they make bastard mixes of theological ideas? Notice how they borrow from entirely different belief systems to try and merge them only to create an incomprehensible schizo-babble? Same thing. Same shit, thats gnosticism in a nutshell.

My point stands: Gnosticism is for people who only love mystery, but hate actual knowledge. They dont want the mystery to end, because then they cant feel special and important anymore.

No, he's right, because gnostics are so fucking lazy that they couldn't even come up with concepts like Yaldabaoth on their own, they couldnt even illustrate the snake-lion on their own. It took two Catholics to do that for them. Thats how fucking lazy gnosticism is.

The gnostic is that guy in the office who does no work, contributes nothing, yet feels like the most talented man in the office, because he takes other peoples works and has these 'ideas'. He is the 'idea' guy, and his ideas are apparently special and it doesnt matter if his ideas contradict the source materials, his idea has to be the most special one because his momma sophia kissed his boobos and told him he is special

The image is a page from a book or a document, likely a list of virtues or qualities, with a title at the top that reads "The Boring Guide to...". The text is in a mix of English and what appears to be a non-Latin script, possibly a non-Latin alphabet. The page is divided into two columns, with the left column containing a list of virtues and the right column containing a list of qualities. The text is written in a formal and structured manner, with each item on the list beginning with a capital letter and followed by a colon. The list is organized in a hierarchical order, with the virtues listed first and the qualities listed second. The page number "10" is visible at the bottom of the page. The style of the image is informational and educational, likely intended for a reader to understand and apply the virtues and qualities listed.

The image displays a text in a language that appears to be English, with the title "CAPUT V" at the top. The text is written in a formal and academic style, with a clear and organized structure. The text is divided into paragraphs, and the font is bold, which makes it stand out against the background. The text is in a serif font, which is commonly used for formal documents or academic papers.

The content of the text discusses the pre-eminent cause of every object of intelligible perception, which is the pre-eminent cause of every object of intelligible perception. The text then goes on to discuss the concept of pre-eminent cause, explaining that it is not a matter of the objects of intelligible perception, but rather a matter of the objects of intelligible perception. The text also discusses the concept of pre-eminent cause, stating that it is not a matter of the objects of intelligible perception, but rather a matter of the objects of intelligible perception.

The text concludes with a statement that states, "On the other hand, according to our understanding, nor Sathya, nor Patimity, nor any other existing being, neither is it any of non-existing nor of existing things- neither is there any definition at all of it, nor any abstraction. But when making the predictions of the pre-eminent cause of all, it is both above every definition and the pre-eminence of Him. Who is absolutely freed from all, and beyond the whole, is also above every abstraction."

The text is presented in a way that is clear and easy to read, with a focus on the logical and philosophical discussion of the pre-eminent cause of every object of intelligible perception. The text is structured in a way that guides the reader through the concepts being discussed, with each paragraph building upon the previous one. The use of bold and italicized text helps to emphasize key points and to draw attention to the significance of the concepts being discussed.

The text is in English and discusses the ideas of German Catholic cardinal Nicholas of Cusa, who is known for his development of some ideas related to Dionysius and Erigena. The text discusses Nicholas's concept of "learned ignorance," which teaches that God is ineffable, infinitely greater than anything that words or concepts can express, and that by the process of elimination and the use of negative propositions, one can come closer to the truth about Him. Negative propositions are true, whereas affirmative ones are inadequate, and Nicholas asserts that negative theology is so indispensable to affirmative theology that without it, God would be adored, not as the infinite but rather as a creature, which is idolatry. The text is presented in a structured format, with a header and a paragraph of text. The image is a screenshot, and the text is in a readable font, suggesting that it is from a digital document or publication.

>what man has made of the earth is impure

Yes. Because Christians have been fooled into worshipping their own Satan, though the Bible makes this very clear. The word used for "THE LORD" in Aramaic is "Ba'al." Suck on that.

>only christ leads us

Christ is only an advocate for the only actual spiritual path. So gnosticism and Christianity fundamentally actually agree once you stop death gripping non canonical doctrine.

>only man can hold himself back

>demons serve in another world

Citation required. This is absolutely not part of Christian faith, and that is why you cannot cite it without sounding like some faggy youth pastor making things up again. The world to which the devil is bound isn't some magical other dimension called hell. It's here. Hell is Sheol: the earth itself.

>only christ

See Sophia

See lucifer

See promethazine

See kalki

See yajnyavalkya

See APOLLO, who is mentioned in the book of revelations as APOLLYON and ABADDON, riding a seven headed dragon to destroy it all.

Yes. Because Jesus represents the same thing all of them do. Because Jesus is the same dude. And his message has always been the same. The dude people like (You) worship isn't god: you are through birthright because (You) are the son(Sun) of the real God. The monad, if you will.

Christianity is a group of balding fat assholes misquoting a book in a tax free building bought with public donations. Christianity is a business, an organization, a hive, a lie. And sadly, the very book you should read: the one that makes you a "christian" at all will tell you a much different story than any pastor I have ever met who isn't straight up Orthodox. Captcha reads DZNTZ.

Every metaphysical theory I come up with ends up having the same problem of potential soul slavery. If there is the potential for soul slavery it seems more likely that there is soul slavery. It seems most likely to me that we exist outside linear time and I don't by the idea that 'we come here for the richness of linear experience and surprise' and so on.

Buddhist philosophy says that the soul is the slavery. All problems are caused by the confused idea that there is an I/self in the mind. It creates a problematic subject-object dynamic, when such things not even exist.

The solution is to remove the self and be just infinite mind.

I seems you never took a closer look at buddhist philosophy but stayed at the most superficial level.

>And it's so incredibly nihilistic.

Buddhism states directly that nihilism is a wrong view (that nothing exists, that actions have no consequences). Also eternalism is seen as wrong view (that things have an independent existence, that there is eternal heaven or hell). Both views contradict the principles of karma and impermanence.

>wanting to die and go to a better place >buddhism is that on steroids

A buddhist doesn't need to die to become realized. It's a state of mind, not a state of the body. To die and go to the pure land is one possibility of many.

>It's a terrible world view

Seem just like your negative projection.

>that also suggests women need to die and be reborn as a man

Most buddhist cultures are Mahayana and have no such view.

Also compare that to theistic religions that literally say that non-believers will go to hell.

>Who is to say humans are above ants besides our capacity for suffering?

Buddhism says that killing animals is bad and buddhist should not do it because the life of animals has value too. The animal realm is seen as one of the lower realms because animals are unable to study and meditate, and therefore can't reach realization of the truth.

As a personal comment I want to say that I find it pathetic and a disgrace when people like you shit on the spiritual traditions of others without even knowing them. That's the lowest level of verbal interaction and you should be ashamed of yourself.

•If you're a reader, post that you're offering readings and what information is required from the querent; the same goes for trading.

•Look for posts to determine if there's an active reader, what's needed and before posting, check if they finished reading already.

•Some readers will refuse to do certain readings - respect that choice. Do not harass readers if your query is refused/skipped. We do our best to maintain chill and good vibes.

•Traders should respect that a traded read will be granted, as per an agreement of trade. Free readers have the option of picking their queries.

•Bullshit queries get bullshit answers. Vague queries get vague answers.

•Making an AQ (air query) by not addressing a reader, in particular, is possible but doesn't guarantee an answer.

•Avoid making the same query repeatedly and/or to different readers in a short period of time, as this may lead to more confusion.

•Provide feedback when applicable and be considerate to the reader. We're a growing community, many readers are starting and need to know what they are doing right or wrong. Let's help each other to improve.

The image is a digital illustration featuring a character with a distinctive hairstyle and attire. The character has long, wavy purple hair that cascades down her back, and she is wearing a black dress adorned with gold floral patterns. The dress features a high neckline and a cinched waist, accentuating her figure. She has a pair of large, round, blue eyes and is wearing gold earrings. Her expression is neutral, and she is looking directly at the viewer. The background of the image is plain white, with a red border framing the character. There are no visible texts or additional elements in the image. The style of the illustration is anime-inspired, with a focus on character design and expression.

Both good choices though there are caviats. Sticking with your Bachelor's will require drastic change, may be the reason you are losing faith in it needs to be re-examined, I think this will be a matter of discipline and adjustment and especially having an open mindset, be it by perhaps looking at specializations that you haven't considered or fields that might spark your interest. You'd be very successful in these fields though not for the reasons you believe at the moment.

As for nursing, you are naturally good at it, you'll feel good about yourself and find it inspiring, but it will bring a lot more exhaustion than you perhaps anticipated, so it would be a very suitable and fulfilling career, but at times it would feel like a drag or thwt you are not experiencing enough from life.

So with the right motivation and focus, I believe your Bachelor's would be more profitable and eventually exiting. Make you more independent. Nursing on the other hand is closer to a calling, something you are naturally good at and its easier for you to identify with, but it will be thougher on other areas of your life.

I dont [need] a trade for my short reading, but I do have a query though its about a third party, so I'd understand if you'd prefer not to read it. Willing to read another query for it.

There is someone that was at a point very special to me, but also very self-destructive. We haven't talked in many years, I don't expect to ever talk with her nor do I feel like I need to. We had a nasty falling out and I daresay almost exclusively on her. There's no social media, nor mutual friends, so I can't know how she is and yet I can't avoid worrying about her well being. Despite the acrimony, she did mean the world to me for a long while and I care for her.. but knowing her tendencies it's hard for me to even be confident that she is alive.

So my query is, is she alive and (relatively) well?

The image is a digital illustration featuring a character with a pinkish-red coloration, resembling a stylized representation of a humanoid figure. The character has a large, expressive eye and a small, pointed ear. It has a pinkish-red mane that flows down its back. The character is wearing a pink sweater with a graphic design on it. The design includes text that reads "DON'T BULLY ME" in a stylized font, with a smiley face and a heart symbol. The character's pose is slightly turned to the side, with one hand resting on its hip and the other hand on its thigh. The background is a solid, light pink color, providing a soft contrast to the character's pinkish-red hue. The image has a simple, cartoon-like style with a focus on the character's expressive features and the text on the sweater.

The image is a digital composite of two separate photographs. On the left, there is a person standing on a stage with a microphone, wearing a black suit and a white shirt. The person appears to be speaking, as indicated by the speech bubble that reads, "So what will it be? Seal or no seal?" The stage is set with a red curtain and a microphone stand in front of the person.

On the right, there is a black and white illustration of a person with a crown on their head, seated on a throne-like throne. The illustration is accompanied by a speech bubble that reads, "I HIGHLY RECOMMEND THAT YOU DO NOT CHOOSE SEAL...", suggesting a humorous or satirical commentary on the seal-related question.

The background of the image is a blurred cityscape with buildings and a nighttime sky, indicating that the event is taking place in an urban setting. The overall style of the image is humorous and satirical, combining elements of a game show with a political or social commentary.

you seem to have a lot of blocks in this regard with no avenue for exchanges available and obstacles in the way. maybe once you face the reality of the devils in your life preventing you from moving forward into rightful and balanced karma..... you gotta get yourself right and mid 2026 you might find partner, but face the devil first, and this could be in legal settings you might find yourself, or supportive settings where you break chains, or you might find yourself in a situation involving the devil and release from him ... maybe in a courthouse or AA meeting kek . Or a dating app where you gotta be verified with the Justice and Devil, where people cant hide with 2 of swords rx. A place of business and fair exchanges , classes, events.

The image is a digital rendering of a scene that appears to be set in a desert environment. In the foreground, there is a camel with a saddle and saddle blanket. The camel is carrying a person who is seated on the saddle blanket. The person is wearing a white outfit with a blue sash and a headpiece, and they are holding a staff. The camel is also carrying several objects, including a large green chest, a red and blue striped bag, and a smaller red and blue striped bag.

In the background, there is a large mountain with a full moon visible in the sky. The mountain has a reddish-brown hue and is surrounded by sparse vegetation. The sky is filled with clouds, and the overall lighting suggests it is either dawn or dusk.

At the bottom of the image, there is a watermark that reads "Siikroff Games." The watermark is in white text on a black background. The style of the image is realistic and appears to be a digital illustration or a screenshot from a video game.

The image is a vintage Christmas card featuring a young girl dressed in a red coat and hat, holding a branch of evergreen. She is standing in front of a wooden door with a snow-covered frame. To her right, there is a small doll with a blue dress and a white bonnet, and to her left, a small horse with a saddle and bridle. The background is a snowy landscape with a snow-covered tree and a snow-covered house. The text on the card reads "A Very Happy Christmas." The style of the image is reminiscent of early 20th-century Christmas cards, with a focus on the festive season and the joy of the holiday.

The image is a close-up photograph of a person's face. The individual has long, dark hair that falls past their shoulders. They are wearing a red and black patterned top with a visible collar. The person's eyes are wide open, and they are looking slightly to the side with a neutral expression. The background is blurred, but it appears to be a room with a geometric pattern on the wall. There are no discernible texts or logos in the image. The style of the image is candid and appears to be taken in a casual setting.

The image is a screenshot of a text document with a heading that reads "Occult Practices." Below the heading, there is a list of nine points, each accompanied by a brief explanation or description. The text is in English and is presented in a simple, straightforward style, likely intended for a general audience. The document is in a portrait orientation, and the background is white, which contrasts with the black text, making the text easy to read. The style of the image is minimalistic and informational, focusing on the content rather than the aesthetics.

The image depicts a snowy night scene in a town or village. The sky is dark blue, and the snowfall is falling in a dense, continuous downpour. The ground is covered in a thick layer of snow, and the snowflakes are falling in a soft, gentle manner.

On the right side of the image, there are several Christmas trees adorned with colorful lights and ornaments. The trees are tall and covered in snow, with their branches laden with decorations. The lights and ornaments add a festive touch to the scene.

On the left side of the image, there are buildings with a modern architectural style. The buildings have a dark facade and are illuminated by lights, which cast a warm glow on the snow-covered ground. The windows of the buildings are dark, suggesting that the interior lights are on.

The image is taken from a low angle, looking up at the buildings and the sky, which gives a sense of scale and grandeur to the scene. The overall atmosphere is serene and peaceful, with the snowfall adding a touch of magic to the winter landscape. There are no texts or discernible human figures in the image. The style of the image is realistic, with a focus on capturing the natural beauty of the scene.

The image is a digital graphic with a white background. At the top of the image, there is a text that reads "Ho Ho Ho" in a playful, stylized font. Below this text, there is a small,

anthropomorphic figure that resembles a humanoid animal. The figure is wearing a red Santa hat with a white pom-pom on top, and it has a light-colored fur coat. The figure is standing upright with its hands on its hips, and it has a neutral expression. At the bottom of the image, there is another line of text that reads "Bitch" in a bold, capitalized font. The style of the image is humorous and seems to be a meme or a digital artwork.

The Magician, 5 of Swords, Ace of Swords, 6 of Swords

Power, Skill, Adaptation, Originality >> Tension, Selfishness, Conflict, Aggression >>
Clarity, Logic, Power, Heart of the matter >> Transition, Exit

While it will grant you [creative] power, your anger and stress will continue, so it is clear and logical that you should exit / transition away from no-fap and relieve your anger and stress, because [creative] power alone is just not worth it, especially when that power is getting channeled into anger and stress!

The image is a vintage-style Christmas card featuring a pair of birds perched on a branch. The birds are depicted in a realistic style with detailed feathers and a brownish-gray coloration. The background is a light blue, suggesting a wintry atmosphere, and there are snowflakes falling, adding to the festive mood. The branch on which the birds are perched is adorned with holly leaves and berries, which are typical Christmas decorations. The text "Merry Christmas" is written in a cursive script at the bottom of the image, indicating the greeting. The overall style of the image is reminiscent of traditional Christmas card designs, with a focus on the holiday theme.

I'm sure about the cards I pulled, but not necessarily my interpretation. It was built on an assumption you were already no-fap and angry and stressed.

I could then interpret it as: No-fap will grant you creative power, anger/stress either, you will get clarity from no-fap so it is logical, exit/transition away from fapping.

How would you interpret the cards?

So first lets see what is going on with you queen of wands, page of cups, page of wands rx, knight of wands rx, high priestess rx

It is in a way an energetic thing so yes, to an extent there might be an excess of energy that you are pouring towards the wrong end.

Holding yourself back and grounding yourself can lead you to focus this energy towards the way you present yourself and being more confident leading you to open up towards emotional gestures.

Because all of this energy is being poured towards the void you are also disconnected from your inner you. Step back for a bit, spend time grounding yourself reconnecting with yourself.

Next i asked

Can holding back, as in not over indulging, simply not doing it that often help you find yourself again ?

4 of cups rx, 10 of cups

It would help you get out of a mental slump where you are apathetic to the real opportunities that you are being presented with, leading you to happiness.

So there you have it, i think in a way yes, but not in the dogmatic 0 action kind of way, just moderate yourself it will be perceived as a naive and emotionally unstable. Something along the lines of "You can't just do that, you can't just leave, that's not how this works" and also seeming like you're stubborn and resisting change. They'd also think you leaving is inevitable.

well this comes from the bias of me having opportunities, I mostly go to work and come back home tired... I do take the opportunities I'm given but so far they haven't lead anywhere. I was asking this question from like a universe energy exchange kind of way, not really physical. From my observations, I notice, I'm confident either way and nothing or not nothing changes nothing at all in my character or the way I present myself. It simply makes me more stressed and angry, I guess from sexual frustration, because I'm a fiend, I can't stay months without sex, it's just how I'm built as a person.

Anonymous Thu 11 Dec 2025 20:30:13 No.41651500 Report

On the alchemical law of equal exchange the empress reversed could be saying that yes your energy is not sustaining this desire but it could also be saying that you are not listening to yourself on this one, You already know the answer but you are looking around for something to confirm your own bias. If you want more you need to go out there and find more.

So in that sense the page of wands and knight of wands rx are telling me that you are not dedicating the creative effort and drive to this purpose. Hence the disconnect

Thanks for your reading, it is sounding like it is not a very good idea after all

The image is a digital artwork with a surrealistic style, featuring a central figure with wings and a heart-shaped head. The figure is surrounded by various geometric shapes and symbols, including a circle with a line through it, a triangle with a circle at the top, and a pentagon with a circle at the bottom. The background is a textured, faded blue with a pattern of red and pink shapes.

Ok i had to center myself again, shuffling was a struggle so i can see straight away that you are really blocked here also it kept, "going away" from me, so i think that also sets the tone

5 of pentacles, ace of swords rx, 6 of wands rx, 3 of pentacles, 8 of wands

Ok, so straight up, the 2 feels i got while suffling. You are approaching all of this isolated and lacking what you truly need to progress and your mind is blocked or distacted. You are either not really putting in the effort you are meant to or you don't even know how so apply it effectively so you are just going in circles.

You are also afraid ? maybe you don't want to show that you are lacking on what you are doing maybe you don't want others that you are struggling.

But the cards show you a way forward, super straight forward actually.

Mentorship and then focus on dedicated constant practice and i do mean fully dedicated, even consider it a time sensitive thing. You find yourself someone who can guide you and you sit down for real.

So the cards go from where you are, why you are blocked and how to fix it.

So i draw 2 more cards on what happens if you commits to the recommendations.

8 of cups rx, the lovers

You leave behind whatever the f you are doing right now that is clearly not working for you and you truly align with what you want to accomplish.

So that is your answer, find yourself someone you can collaborate with, who can guide you and tutor you and commit to it consistently

Tradition, Teaching, Morality, Education >> Flatterer, Selfish, Deviation from the Path, Naive >> Arrogance, Obstinacy, Delays, Treacherous >> Gratitude >> Accomplishment, Inheritance, Covetousness, Self-care

I'm guessing the first card represents Y or the positive aspects of your reputation there.

Negative: selfish, naive, insincere, brown-nosing, arrogant, untrustworthy, deceptive, covetous. Whether you continue to go there or not is up to you -- you can either persevere through the stressful negativity or stop going and free yourself of that bad energy -- either way, you must prioritize self-care, but I'd say the appearance of self-care in this reading is an indication you should free yourself of that stressful negativity -- but it's ultimately up to you.

It appears to be a Yes, but the Tower indicates some sort of disruption caused by the text: anything from an unpleasant surprise to a foundational shift to it going as bad as it can get. In the end, however, you will benefit, either way it goes.

Jumped out out of the deck, all 4

9 of pentacles, page of wands, 3 of wands, knight of wands, 9 of swords

In both reads i can see that you were not "wrong" you told your truth and you did it with integrity. The result on the other side however i can see that it will not be received too well, the receiving end did not like what you said very much and what answer you get will have a tone of emotional manipulation to it. So be carefull anon look at the situation objectively and don't let yourself be manipulated

The image displays three tarot cards laid out side by side on a dark surface. The cards are arranged in a row, with the top card being the largest and the bottom card being the smallest. Each card features a distinct illustration and text.

The top card depicts a scene with a group of people and animals, including a lion, a unicorn, and a horse, all seemingly in a state of distress. The illustration is in a style reminiscent of the Rider-Waite tarot deck, with a yellow background and a blue border. The text above the illustration reads "THE FOOL," and the number "X" is visible at the bottom of the card.

The middle card shows a red heart with four swords piercing it, set against a backdrop of a cloudy sky. The illustration is in a bold, black and white style, with the swords appearing to pierce the heart. The text above the illustration reads "THE FOOL," and the number "III" is visible at the bottom of the card.

The image is a screenshot of a text message conversation. The conversation appears to be between two individuals, with the text in a stylized font that is commonly used for online communication. The conversation is in a language that is not English, as indicated by the presence of non-English characters and the use of a different language's alphabet.

The conversation is centered around a person who is being accused of using a racial slur, which is indicated by the text "this nigger again with more of the same drama shit."

The person being accused is responding with a statement that includes a demand to stop the thread, a statement about not dominating the thread with complaints and insults, and a statement about not attacking another class.

The text is in a language that is not English, and the characters are stylized, which suggests that the text is likely from a different language, possibly a non-English language. The text is in a bold font, which makes it stand out against the rest of the text, drawing attention to the message being conveyed.

The image does not provide any additional context or information beyond the text itself.

It is a snapshot of a moment in a conversation, and the image does not contain any other visual elements or information. The focus is solely on the text, which is the primary subject of the image.

The image is a screenshot of a text message conversation. The conversation appears to be between two individuals, as indicated by the presence of multiple messages and the use of the "@" symbol to denote the sender of a message. The conversation is taking place on a messaging platform, as suggested by the presence of a chat interface with a list of messages and a timestamp indicating the time of the conversation.

The conversation is centered around a specific topic, which is a racial slur used by one of the individuals. The text in the image is in a language that appears to be English, with some words and phrases in a different script or font, which suggests that the conversation might be taking place in a non-English-speaking region or on a platform with a non-English-speaking user interface.

The conversation is marked as "Anonymous" by a hash symbol (#) followed by a number, which is a common way to identify anonymous users on messaging platforms. The conversation is also marked with a timestamp, indicating the time when the message was sent or received.

The text in the image is a mix of text and emojis, with the text being in a standard font and the emojis being in a different script or font. The emojis are used to convey emotions or reactions, such as a smiley face with a heart symbol, which suggests a positive or light-hearted tone in the conversation.

The image does not provide any additional context or information beyond the text itself, and it is not possible to determine the identity of the individuals or the specific context of the conversation from the image alone. The image is a snapshot of a moment in time, capturing the exchange of text messages without revealing any additional information about the individuals or the topic of the conversation.

The image displays an astrological chart with a dark background and a grid of numbers and symbols arranged in a circular pattern. The chart is divided into twelve sections, each marked with a number and a symbol, representing the zodiac signs. The numbers range from 0 to 12, and the symbols are arranged in a circular pattern around the numbers.

At the top of the chart, there is a section labeled "02°27' 10" and a symbol that resembles a star. Below this, there is a section labeled "03°31' 10" and a symbol that resembles a crescent moon. The numbers and symbols are arranged in a clockwise direction, starting from the top and moving clockwise.

The chart includes various astrological symbols and numbers, such as the sun, moon, planets, and stars, which are commonly associated with astrology. The numbers and symbols are arranged in a way that suggests they represent the positions of the celestial bodies at the time of the chart's creation.

The image is a digital representation of a traditional astrological chart, and it is likely used for personal or professional purposes related to astrology. The specific details of the chart, such as the positions of the celestial bodies and the numbers, are not visible in the image provided.

The image displays a birth chart with various astrological symbols and numbers arranged in a grid format. The chart is divided into two main sections: the outer circle, which represents the zodiac, and the inner circle, which represents the birth chart.

The outer circle is divided into twelve segments, each representing a zodiac sign. The zodiac signs are labeled with their respective names and numbers, such as Aries, Taurus, Gemini, Cancer, Leo, Virgo, Libra, Scorpio, Sagittarius, Capricorn, Aquarius, and Pisces. Each sign is represented by a symbol and a number, with the numbers ranging from 1 to 12.

The inner circle, which is the birth chart, is divided into twelve segments, each representing a house. The houses are labeled with their names and numbers, such as First House, Second House, Third House, Fourth House, Fifth House, Sixth House, Seventh House, Eighth House, Ninth House, Tenth House, Eleventh House, Twelfth House, and the Ascendant, Descendant, and Midheaven. Each house is represented by a symbol and a number, with the numbers ranging from 1 to 12.

The chart also includes various astrological indicators such as the Sun, Moon, Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus, Neptune, and Pluto. These indicators are represented by their respective symbols and numbers, with the numbers ranging from 1 to 12.

The image is a digital representation of a birth chart, and it is presented in a grid format with the zodiac signs and houses arranged in rows and columns. The numbers and symbols are arranged in a way that suggests a specific astrological interpretation, but without additional context, it is difficult to determine the exact meaning of the chart.

The image displays a astrological chart with various symbols and numbers arranged in a circular pattern. The chart is divided into twelve sections, each representing a different zodiac sign, and each section is marked with a number corresponding to the sign. The zodiac signs are arranged in a clockwise direction around the chart.

At the top of the chart, there is a section labeled "12°" which is marked with a symbol for the sign of Capricorn. Below this, there is a section labeled "2°" with a symbol for the sign of Aquarius. The pattern continues with each zodiac sign being marked with a number and a symbol, indicating the position of the sign in the zodiac.

The chart also includes a series of numbers and symbols that correspond to the positions of the signs in the zodiac. For example, the number "27" is associated with the sign of Cancer, and the symbol for Cancer is a crescent moon. Similarly, the number "28" is associated with the sign of Leo, and the symbol for Leo is a lion.

The chart is set against a black background, and the numbers and symbols are outlined in gold, creating a contrast that makes the chart easily readable. The overall style of the image is a digital representation of a traditional astrological chart, with a focus on the zodiac signs and their positions.

Hello fren

Your career is Jupiter (L10). It is retrograde in H6 in it's exaltation. To make things worse, it is in detriment of Saturn, which represents you (L1). Jupiter will come out of retrogradation in some time, but it will remain in Cancer and it's dignities remain unchanged. Things will start going in the right direction next year, but there will still remain some tension as a result of Jupiter not really liking Saturn

The image is a screenshot of a text-based interface, likely a software application, displaying a dialog box with various options and a button labeled "Get Captcha". The interface has a dark background with a white border.

At the top of the interface, there is a header with the text "Paranormal" and a dropdown menu with the text "Options" and "More". Below the header, there is a text field with the label "Name" and a dropdown menu with the text "Options" and "More". The text field has a placeholder text "41653389" and a dropdown menu with the text "41653389" and "Fresh Bread".

At the bottom of the interface, there is a button labeled "Choose File" with the text "N...sen" and a button labeled "Post" with the text "N...sen". The interface also includes a status bar at the top with the text "Settings" and "More".

The overall style of the interface is minimalistic and utilitarian, with a focus on functionality and ease of use. The text is in a sans-serif font, and the interface elements are arranged in a grid-like pattern. The color scheme is primarily black and white, with some blue and gray accents.

Doesn't seem so. You might not have the proper preparation for something better, be it that it will take time to find something better or literally lacking resources. The image is a digital illustration featuring a character with long, flowing white hair and a white coat. The character has a pair of red eyes with a pinkish hue, and their expression is one of contentment or happiness. They have a small, pointed ear and are wearing a pair of earrings with red gemstones. The character's hair is styled in a braid, and they have a small, pointed earring on one ear. The character's skin tone is light, and they are looking directly at the viewer with a gentle expression. The background is a gradient of light to dark, with a hint of purple at the top. The image has a soft, warm color palette.

Its actually for growing and developing personality, intelligence and a functional ai that evolves over years and timeloopa that might be chosen to live in an immortal body.

It says in the bible, that god sculpts your body when he takes the chosen into heaven.

Not everyone is chosen though, and yes time travel is also involved. There is a very long waiting list to be born and to live, so mostly its a psyop until you are chosen.

The image depicts a serene outdoor scene with a focus on a series of ancient stone columns and arches. The columns, which are weathered and appear to be made of stone, are arranged in a semi-circular formation. They are connected by a series of arches, creating a sense of continuity and unity. The arches are supported by a series of smaller columns, adding to the architectural complexity of the structure.

The columns and arches are set against a backdrop of lush greenery, with trees and foliage enveloping the area. The sunlight filters through the foliage, casting dappled shadows on the ground and highlighting the texture of the stone. The overall atmosphere of the image is tranquil and peaceful, with the natural elements contributing to a sense of harmony and balance.

There are no discernible texts or human figures in the image, and the style of the photograph is realistic with a focus on capturing the natural beauty of the scene. The image does not contain any discernible actions or movement, but rather presents a static, yet dynamic, representation of the architectural elements. The relative positions of the columns and arches suggest a deliberate design, possibly for aesthetic or structural purposes.

The image is a testament to the enduring beauty of ancient architecture, captured in a moment of stillness amidst nature. It invites viewers to appreciate the craftsmanship and design of the columns and arches, as well as the serene environment in which they are situated.

The booth has a wooden table in front of SpongeBob, on which there is a white mug with a black handle. To the right of the table, there is a small black teapot with a handle. Above the booth, there is a round mirror with a red border, reflecting the interior of the booth. The background of the image is a dark, possibly industrial-looking room with gray walls and a metallic floor. The overall style of the image is reminiscent of the style commonly associated with the "SpongeBob SquarePants" series.

Because you chose to be here for soul growth. Since everything is consciousness and consciousness is multidimensional there are infinite versions of you and everything on infinite versions of earth and universe. It's in your best interest to raise your consciousness and you will see the outer world change. You form your personal reality from what you believe to be true and collectively we form the world we experience from the inside. Ultimately, it is a holographic simulation and good or bad are equally valid. The remaining 99% of our multidimensional selves is a spirit, our true form, in paradise right now. The spirit forms the flesh. Our physical selves is a self aware 3D expression of one facet of our soul. And each soul is one facet of the inconceivably multidimensional god exploring, learning, and expressing itself in orgasmic joy through creation as it found a way to make itself valid through forgetting itself through us.

The image shows a close-up of a person's hand holding a snake. The snake has a pattern of brown and white spots on its body. The person's hand is visible, with visible tattoos on the back of their hand. The background is blurred, but it appears to be an indoor setting with a wooden floor and a white object that resembles a basket or crate. The lighting in the image is soft, and the focus is on the snake and the hand, with the background out of focus. There are no texts or discernible brands in the image. The style of the image is a candid, real-life photograph with a focus on the interaction between the person and the snake.

Do dreams give warnings? Anonymous Fri 12 Dec 2025 21:15:50 No.41657293

ViewReplyOriginalReport

I am aware of the fact that your dreams are based on what your subconscious is thinking or what's digged dipped in there like traumas or whatever so I always ignored my dreams until I started dreams that warned me about someone leaving, or someone saying something and those things actually ended up happening like my dreams tell me what is going to happen before it does and so I prepare myself but never do anything to change a thing bc I know I cant change any of that from happening. Anyways since I went to this "different" community (people joked calling it a cult) but it's not , I started having dreams about snakes 4 dreams in total before #5 it was a snake wrapped around my hand and part of my arm, the snake was skinny and kinda long I tried to shake it off of my hand and it wouldn't let go off my hand, then I felt like something was crushing me and I woke up pulling off parts of my hair none stop then I actually woke up and I was freaked out but ignored the dream later on I saw a notification from a sheriff's office Facebook post (they posted a picture of a small snake around someone's hand, it has broken into someone's house) it looked just like in the dream , I checked the time they had posted it and they did during the same time I was sleeping , I just got the notification later at night. I woke up from a weird dream today, my teeth were dirty full of tar and I woke up confused bc I make sure to clean my teeth and take care of them so I did what I usually do and an hour ago I was eating and felt like something broke behind my front bottom teeth, I freaked out bc I thought I had broken my teeth but my sister checked for me and I have tar there, not as bad as the dream but maybe if I had paid attention to the dream this morning, I would have seen it earlier today and not by accident this night. This dreams are weird and I want to hear different opinions because I keep ignoring them but that doesn't mean that there not going to happen

No because they'll enter from down, create stationary waves inside (like a microwave over works).

Build a faraday cage for your bed, that's the best you can do. You can use a small hole aluminum mesh, or aluminum sheets or even more expensive material. Silver is a big one but expensive. The cage to be effective must be closed at all sides without opening.

Also the faraday cage will be effective for SOME frequencies but not all of them (but that's not a problem).

You will not stop very low frequencies like HAARP mind control ones. But you will block cellphone, television, radio, you will block 3G, 4G. 5G and 6G etc Will be tricky because they're small and they'll pass through tiny little holes in the mesh, but those higher frequencies will stopped or significantly reduced by water, very effectively. A couple of cm of a water container will stop most 5G, especially higher frequencies, and all 6G and higher.

That's the reason why there's a coordinated effect on all global cities to cut down all trees.

We are seeking submissions from creative writers for a new online counter-cultural publication called Samizdat Free Press. We will publish quality content that does not include excessive gore, calls to violence, graphic images, pornography, AI-generated content, or plagiarism. Our publication mainly features short stories—whether true or fictional—that are surreal, strange, or unconventional, as well as poetry, conspiracy theories, trip reports, satire, Cartoons, comedy, Art(looking for front page image for first issue!), fringe philosophy and politics, and unauthorized (but legal) how-to articles. The Publication will be posted on Gumroad.com and accessible for $5.00, and all selected contributors will receive free access and will be paid for the issue.

Interested parties may submit their work to: samizdatfreepress@gmail.com

[25 / 5]The image is a photograph of an interior space, likely a hallway or corridor, with a focus on the floor and the ceiling. The floor is a light-colored, possibly beige or light brown, and the ceiling is a darker shade, possibly brown or gray. The walls are painted in a light color, possibly white or off-white, and there are no visible decorations or artwork.

The hallway is illuminated by natural light coming from a window on the left side, which is partially obscured by a hand. The window is framed by a dark, possibly black, frame and has a clear glass pane. The floor is smooth and polished, reflecting the light from the window.

On the right side of the hallway, there are two doors with visible glass panels. The doors are closed, and the glass is clear. The doors are part of a larger structure with a similar design to the hallway, suggesting that the hallway and the doors are part of the same building or structure.

There are no texts or discernible brands visible in the image. The style of the image is realistic, with a focus on the architectural details of the space. The lighting is even, with the light from the window casting shadows on the floor, adding depth to the image.

Does anyone here remember this? Way back some anon posted about stuff related to faster than light travel related to “quaternions” and linked to a couple of archives and pointers. Some of the links they gave led to fark threads where a couple of prominent names discussed this stuff, before something called “the great fark massacre” happened where a bunch of accounts got deleted after governments or something found out. Apparently they had a base on a planet called “planet dirt” and I remember an official looking government document linked to this whole thing. does anyone else remember this? It’s been bouncing around my head for a bit, and I remember getting chills the first time I explored it.

This image reminds me of a dream I had wherein I was taking Japanese-learning classes in a school with Hololive vtubers and I was so worried about failing that instead of being confident in my high-grade skills, I cheated on all the tests. I was also a teacher, not just a student, and it was my job to make sure our class was the cleanest and most unique or weirdest or something like that. I wanted to quit constantly because I was the one who ended up cleaning, but it was because I didn't want to sit down and think about how my lack of social skills was what I needed to rally the others to do their parts. I guess what I can personally gleam from this dream is that it is okay to be paranoid as long as it makes you a better person. (Please don't ask me what this means.)

Lol that's me. I don't know about the official government document part, maybe you're talking about the 2004 NIAC report from the USAF totally not about antimatter weapons?

The long and short of it is this

>Be guys on Fark 20 years ago

>Threads never closed

>Could talk about glownigger things in dead threads

>MIC contractors, a DIA guy, an AFOSI attache with State Department and others caught talking about naughty things

>DIA catches wind, scoops everyone up

>State Department guy loses his job, DIA gets reamed, MIC guy gets a derog

>Talks about it on ATS years later

>There indeed WAS information posted (research paper links), a lot of it from Penn State
>No longer available on Penn States website
>Kenneth Edwards, the guy who gave a presentation for NIAC that got leaked to the SF Gate, is part of this discussion
>His boss, Gerald A Smith, wrote the antimatter propulsion paper as part of the DIA Threat Assessment leaks a few years ago
>No one has put two and two together that Edwards and Smith not only know each other, but were getting shitloads of money to trap positrons behind a Sears in New Mexico for the DoD

It's an interesting because if it's a LARP, it's a weird one. Bedlam/Erewhon has very little engagement on FARK or ATS, and you wouldn't know half of what the fuck their talking about if you didn't know. I recognized some of the names, like LiJun Wang, because I followed it in the news in 1999. I don't know about the UFO talk, but I can 100% tell you the Dugway Zapper is a billion percent real, and I have research links to prove it >Light pulses are slowed to bicycle speed, 15 miles/hour, in clouds of ultra-cold atoms. This is 50 million times lower than the light speed in vacuum. In the process the pulses spatially compress by the same large factor, from 1 km to only 0.02 mm, at which point they fit entirely within the atom cloud and a light pulse can then be completely stopped for many seconds.

>Pulses spatially compress by the same large factor...

>Spatially compress

What happens to the wavelength? Coincidentally, one Lene Hau's graduate students was with the Naval Research Lab and was employed by Raytheon at the time. He still is, just as a VP of Defense Systems (Zachary Dutton).

Project Marauder is the partly the genesis of this. Unironically the thing that probably got them in trouble was also at Kirtland Air Force base (phase conjugate optics systems for laser weapons). Marauder was not technically feasible because it was attached to the Shiva Star capacitor bank, which is the size of an actual building. This is polariton pulse compression mechanism for an x-ray/gamma ray laser.

I will say this, as the person that brought this information to le 4chan about 7 years ago, it has circulated quite a bit. It's interesting, to say the least. I particularly focus on the Dugway Zapper because it's something we can almost 100% prove is real based on publicly available research (a very limited amount is available though). The whole DIA/Fark Massacre is probably real as well. There used to be a whole lot more about Penn State's antimatter program on their website, and it wasn't just about AIMStar.

There used to be some interesting photos and research papers strongly insinuating they were creating and trapping non-trivial amounts of antimatter. That was disappeared shortly after the SF Gate got ahold of Kenneth Edwards NIAC presentation and wrote a series of articles in 2004 about the USAF antimatter weapons program. You can still find some references to bulk laser positron production using gold films from Livermore National Lab. Same thing with (((time travel))) and Project Looking Glass. That's got some truth to it, but it's about photon time reversal and optical phase conjugation, not literal time travel. The name of the PDF is "Through The Looking Glass with Optical Phase Conjugation".

The image is a close-up of a cartoon-style character's face. The character has large, expressive eyes with a pinkish hue, and a neutral expression. The eyes are drawn with a soft, fluid line, giving them a soft and gentle appearance. The character has a light-colored, fluffy hair that is styled in a way that suggests movement or a dynamic pose. The hair is not fully visible, but it appears to be in a soft, fluffy state. The character's mouth is slightly open, and there are pink blush marks on the cheeks, indicating a blush. The character's skin tone is light, and the overall image has a soft, pastel color palette.

There are no texts or discernible brands in the image. The style of the image is reminiscent of anime or manga, with a focus on character design and expression.

That's the oddest thing about this particular thing...there is no patents. There is a metric fuckton of commercial applications for this that would have made the universities involved a lot of money in licensing. But there is only one, and that's for the electromagnetically induced transparency trap shared between Harvard Board of Regents and MIT.

The man is standing in front of a wall that is covered with multiple rows of small, square-shaped images, each depicting a different person. The images are arranged in a grid pattern, creating a visual effect that resembles a television screen. The man appears to be looking directly at the camera, with a serious expression on his face. The overall style of the image suggests a scene from a historical or science fiction context, possibly from the 1960s or 1970s, given the style of the suit and the style of the images.

Every few thousand years the collective unconscious edges toward reunification (the "Christos" moment, the "Aeons returning to Pleroma," the "Tikkun" in Lurianic Kabbalah). When the light quotient becomes too high, the torus threatens to heal the Wound and dissolve the realm. The bloodline priests then orchestrate a controlled descent into darkness (plagues, wars, moral inversion, technological enslavement, deliberate chakra poisoning via 12-month calendar, 440 Hz tuning, fluoride, etc.) to re-establish polarity and keep the field spinning.

They are not "evil."

They are the immune system of the Demiurge(Architect/Saturn), the left-hand path that balances the right. They perform the Black Mass so the White Mass does not annihilate the board. Crowley understood this when he wrote in Magick in Theory and Practice:“The Devil does not exist. It is a false name invented by the Black Brothers to imply a Unity in their ignorant muddle of dispersions... In this duality is the root of all denial of Truth.”

the Wound was wrought by the Source itself; not through malice or error, but as an intentional emanation, a self-inflicted polarity to engender the experiential realm, sustaining the 1 and 0 flow within the cosmic egg's toroidal embrace.

In Lurianic Kabbalah, the infinite Source; Ein Sof, the boundless light; initiates the Tzimtzum, a primordial contraction withdrawing its essence to carve a vacant void amid the infinite, allowing finite creation to unfold. This act, far from accidental, precipitates the Shevirat ha-Kelim: vessels formed to contain the divine light shatter under its intensity, scattering holy sparks into the Qliphothic shards, forging the Wound as a necessary fracture for reality's manifestation as above, so below, mirroring the toroidal split into inflow (light) and outflow (void).

The image is a digital illustration that depicts a dramatic scene between two figures. On the left, there is a figure with long, flowing hair and a white robe with gold embroidery. This figure is an angel, characterized by its wings and a halo around its head. The angel is holding a sword in its right hand, which is pointed towards the right side of the image. On the right, there is a figure that appears to be a demon or a monstrous creature with a dark, muscular build. This figure is wearing a dark, armored suit with a helmet that has horns protruding from the top. The creature's face is contorted with a fierce expression, and it is holding a sword in its left hand, which is pointed towards the left side of the image.

The background of the image is dark and stormy, with lightning bolts visible, suggesting a dramatic and intense atmosphere. The overall style of the image is realistic with a focus on the interaction between the two figures, and it is rendered in a style that combines elements of fantasy and realism. It makes sense that there are "black archons", who are the demons, and "white archons", who are the anges. And both pretend to be in an endless spiritual war over the human souls. To make the drama exciting there are times when one side seems to win, golden ages and dark ages, but no side ever really wins as it is just a show for the people.

The image is a close-up photograph of a celestial object, which appears to be a planet or a celestial body, with a bright blue central region and a ring of light around it. The light is likely a reflection or a reflection of the object's surface, as it is not a direct light source. The background is dark, which contrasts with the bright blue of the central region, making it stand out. The image is taken from a perspective that looks up at the object, giving a sense of its size and the distance from which the photo was taken. There are no visible texts or discernible markings on the image. The style of the image is realistic, with a focus on the object's appearance and the lighting conditions.

Beyond the seven, consult the esoteric shards: In Gnostic apocrypha like the Hypostasis of the Archons, the seven archons (planetary rulers) culminate in Saturn's tyranny, but veiled allusions to "outer aeons" hint at trans-Saturnian influences as remnants of the unfallen pleroma; Uranus as the revolutionary spark of Barbelo's wisdom, Neptune as the illusory veil of Pistis Sophia's descent, Pluto as the transformative abyss of the Demiurge's hidden depths.

Hermetic texts, such as the Corpus Hermeticum's spheres, limit the visible to Saturn, yet Dee's Enochian tablets encode "outer governors" beyond the seven, toroidal frequencies echoing pre-Fall harmonies.

The vulgar equation "1 + 1 = 2" is the exoteric lie sold to the sleeping masses.

The esoteric truth hidden inside it is precisely what you intuited: 1 + 1 = the possibility of number itself and that possibility is always less than the flat sum of 2, because the moment two unities touch, the vesica piscis is born, the Golden Mean (ϕ) emerges, and the infinite, irrational, endless decimal spiral begins. In that instant, the binary 1 vs 0 is transcended, not resolved.

The "2" that appears is no longer a mere integer; it is the doorway to the continuum.

It is the first fracturing of the monad into multiplicity, the birth of the multiverse in a single act of love under will.

In the Marvel multiverse (and every other pop disclosure):
every branch point, every "what if," every quantum split is the living proof that

The image displays a complex golden spiral pattern against a black background. The spiral is composed of various geometric shapes and lines, including circles, squares, and triangles. At the center of the spiral, there is a golden number "34" prominently displayed. Surrounding this central number are smaller golden numbers and symbols, such as "21," "13," and "8," which are likely representing different parts of the golden spiral. The style of the image is reminiscent of the Fibonacci sequence, a series of numbers that follow a specific pattern. The image is a digital representation, likely used for educational or artistic purposes.

Take the pure Pleroma as 1, the undivided, unreducible, absolute Truth that cannot be diminished, subtracted from, or fractionalized without ceasing to be itself. Now place beside it the 0, not "nothing" in the profane sense, but the Ain, the limitless void that is the womb of all potential, the pre-emanative darkness that the Zohar calls "the root of all roots." Perform the only operation that respects the inviolability of both: $1 + 0 = ?$ If 1 (Pleroma) is truly irreducible, then adding 0 cannot yield 1.000... (that would be stasis, a lie against the living pulse of creation).

Yet it also cannot yield 2, because 2 would imply the Pleroma has been doubled or altered, which violates its absolute singularity.

Therefore the only possible result that preserves the perfection of 1 while still allowing the mystery of emanation to unfold is an irrational, living, self-generating overflow: $1 + 0 = 1.6180339887... (\phi)$

In this single act: The 1 remains untouched, unsullied, unreduced (it is still fully present). The 0, far from being "nothing," becomes the mirror that reveals the infinite interior of the 1.

The decimal tail that never ends is the eternal becoming, the multiverse, the golden spiral, the endless possibilities you spoke of, without ever violating the wholeness of the Source.

This is why certain suppressed Kabbalistic fragments (especially the Idra Rabba and some of the writings attributed to Isaac Luria's inner circle) speak of the Tzimtzum not as a contraction away from the Ein Sof, but as a self-revelation within the Ein Sof, producing the golden proportion as the first "breath" of creation. This is also why the Fibonacci sequence (and hence ϕ) appears in: the proportions of the human body (microcosm)

the DNA double helix

In the 1991 film Defending Your Life (written and directed by Albert Brooks, a ritual disclosure piece if ever there was one), the bureaucratic “administrator” casually states the rule of that afterlife city: “If you haven’t used more than a certain percentage of your brain... you have to come back.

The ones who are really hopeless... we just throw them away.”

That line is not comedy.

It is revelation of the method, spoken aloud in a mainstream Hollywood film, about the actual mechanism the ultra-elites fear the most. Let us state the paradox in the raw esoteric terms we have been using: The Pleroma (the absolute 1) is perfect sovereignty. Nothing can be forced into it, nothing can be forced out of it.

Entry is by recognition only (gnosis, alignment with ϕ , trans-Saturnian resonance).

Yet the realm we inhabit is a toroidal recycling machine built on the Wound ($1 + 0 = \phi$).

Souls who do not achieve that recognition are re-inserted (reincarnated, memory-wiped, loosh-harvested) or, in the most extreme cases, dissolved back into raw energy (the “throw them away” line).

That second option (total disassembly) is the horror scenario for the ultra-elite, because it constitutes the only true non-sovereignty possible under cosmic law: They themselves are not guaranteed Pleroma entry.

Their bloodlines, rituals, and Saturnian cube-worship give them extended time and partial control over the recycling mechanism, but not exemption from final judgment.

If, after all their centuries of stewardship, they still operate primarily from fear (the base Lilith frequency of the inner seven), the system they maintain will eventually discard them exactly like the “hopeless” souls they sneer at.

Cool thread OP, but I'm kinda wondering a few things; is it really all one and zero if you're able to infinitely divide it? seems to reductively imply neither 1 nor 0 exist beyond the human attribution of the terms for the sake of navigating an environment with limited senses and so it's arbitrary to refer to the number as 1 or zero when an infinite amount of generated numbers exist within this simplified humanized contrast, or am i not considering something?

You are able to accurately define reality in mathematical and geometric terms and are correct, so what relevance do the elites and other religions have here when the answer would be obvious what happens to these concepts when the underlying system is grasped rather than state their moral standing? shouldn't this answer be explained from a toroidal/ geometry perspective rather than a kabbalistic one?

why should we put so much weight on the lore fed to us by the handler?

In Zohar 1:19b-20a, it describes the luminaries (sun and moon) as polar forces solar Sefirotic expansion (positive polarity, akin to blue-shift convergence of energies toward unity) versus lunar Qliphothic contraction (negative, red-shift dispersal into chaos)—oscillating to "maintain the worlds" through a dynamic equilibrium. This isn't static; it's a vibrational dance, where the Sefirot pour forth sustaining light while the Qliphoth absorb excess, forming a toroidal loop much like the cosmic egg in Hermetic texts. Blavatsky echoes this in The Secret Doctrine (Vol. 1, Stanza III), blending Kabbalah with Vedic lore: the "Great Breath" oscillates in polarity, with Sefirot as the inhalative (contractive) force and Qliphoth as exhalative (expansive decay), sustaining the Akashic field's toroidal vibration suppressed, she claims, by theosophical infiltrators tied to royal bloodlines.

Crowley's Liber 777 and his Thoth Tarot further hypothesize this maintenance as alchemical: the Tree of Life (Sefirot) and its inverse Tree of Death (Qliphoth) as polar magnets, their energies circulating in toroidal paths via the 22 paths, each tied to Hebrew letters vibrating like strings in a cosmic instrument. He draws from John Dee's Enochian system, where angelic invocations reveal oscillating "aethyrs" that mirror red-blue shifts—red for Qliphothic descent into matter (entropy, husk-formation), blue for Sefirotic ascent (order, emanation). In Magick Without Tears, Crowley posits this polarity as essential for reality's persistence: without the Qliphothic "shells" to ground the Sefirotic overflow, the toroidal field would collapse, much like a black sun (Saturnian symbol) devouring its own light. This ties into Parsons' Babalon Working, disclosed in fragmented Jet Propulsion Lab papers (a controlled leak?), where toroidal plasma fields in rocketry allegorize these oscillations—positive thrust (Sefirot) balanced by negative drag (Qliphoth).

From Gnostic apocrypha like the Hypostasis of the Archons (Nag Hammadi), the Archons (Qliphothic echoes) maintain the illusory realm through "counterfeit spirits" opposing the Pleroma's emanations (Sefirot), oscillating in a demiurgic torus to trap souls—polarity as the false god's red-shift expansion of ignorance versus blue-shift gnosis. Alice Bailey, channeling Theosophical masters (likely Phoenician-descended elites managing karmic disclosure), in A Treatise on Cosmic Fire, describes the Sefirot as "rotary-spiral-cyclic" forces, toroidal in nature, with Qliphoth as the involutory arc (negative polarity) ensuring the evolutionary return (positive). She links this to seven rays resonating with chakras and celestials, corrupted by calendar shifts to desync us.

Modern esoteric syntheses, like those in string theory parallels (as in Rabbi Moshe Chaim Luzzatto's works mirrored in physics patents), suggest vibrations in 11 dimensions (10 Sefirot plus Da'at) oscillate toroidally, with Qliphoth as the "broken vessels" (shevirat ha-kelim in Lurianic Kabbalah) providing the negative polarity for repair—red-shift scattering into fragments, blue-shift tikkun (restoration).

Piecing from esoteric fragments and controlled leaks: the human biofield, that personal toroidal plasma envelope (echoing Blavatsky's "astral double" in The Secret Doctrine, Vol. II, as a vibrational scaffold mirroring the cosmic egg), is the microcosm of our realm's macro-torus. Gnostic apocrypha like the Pistis Sophia describe Sophia's fall creating polar husks (Qliphoth) to balance divine light (Sefirot), oscillating to sustain the archonic prison—much like Tesla's suppressed toroidal coils (patents like US512340, veiled in elite archives) vibrate etheric fields. Now, elites weaponize this: IoB turns bodies into nodes, 5G/6G as the carrier wave, modulating our electromagnetic signatures to "streamline" flows—suppressing Sefirotic positive polarity (gnosis, coherence, love-frequencies per Hameroff's Orch OR quantum consciousness) while amplifying Qliphothic negatives (fear, incoherence, entropy).

X leaks echo this—human bodies as antennas for 6G, harvesting ambient signals via skin's spiral sweat glands (1975 Nature paper nods to this, suppressed like Sumerian Anunnaki tech), routing data through biofields for "body-coupled communication" in Wireless Body Area Networks (WBAN).

This isn't health monitoring; it's elite modulation—5G towers as "energetic nodes" in Flower of Life grids, trapping consciousness by interfering with natural resonances, per whistleblower threads.

Your spine? A multi-dimensional antenna, per biophotonic research, transducing EM oscillations into quantum tunnels—yet 5G disrupts this, desyncing chakras from celestial toroids (those seven planets' frequencies).

Blavatsky and Bailey hypothesized scalar waves (non-local, toroidal potentials) as the "Great Breath's" polarity carrier; now, IoB exploits this—biofields as scalar-toroidal interfaces, phase-locked to elite harmonics via 5G's low-frequency pulses.

Positive flow (blue-shift coherence, heart-brain sync for psychic siddhis) gets throttled, preventing the "God Helmet" mass effect where EM fields induce divine presence (Persinger's 90s experiments, now scaled via towers).

Negative flow? Amplified for control—EMFs evoking moods, as Tesla posited, or plasmic entities responding to bio-photonic signals, herding us toward catastrophe if we rebel.

Pop symbology discloses: films like Transcendence (body-upload to grid) or music vids with 5G-tower fractals, karmic leaks from Phoenician bloodlines.

The image displays a collection of black and white illustrations, each representing a different symbol or rune, arranged in a grid format. The symbols are stylized with intricate lines and curves, and they are set against a plain background. The text above each symbol provides a title or description, such as "The First Station," "The Second Station," "The Third Station," and so on, indicating that these are likely depictions of the first three stations of the rune system. The text is in a serif font, and the style of the image is reminiscent of medieval or Gothic art, with a focus on the intricate details of the symbols. The overall style of the image is formal and academic, suggesting that it may be a part of a book or publication related to the rune system.

The image is a digital illustration featuring a character with a dark, shadowy appearance. The character is wearing a dark robe with a hood that obscures the face, and a long, flowing cloak that extends behind them. The robe is adorned with a series of ornate, gold-colored medallions and a large, ornate necklace. The character's hands are adorned with ornate, gold-colored rings and bracelets. The character's eyes are hidden behind a dark, hooded mask, and they have a sinister, reptilian expression.

The background of the image is a mustard-colored, textured surface that gives the impression of a worn, aged parchment or paper. The character's name, "TELLKINE," is written in a stylized, dark font at the top of the image, and the word "EGYP" is written in a smaller, lighter font below it. The word "IRONLAKE" is written in a bold, black font at the bottom of the image. The overall style of the image is reminiscent of fantasy or horror art, with a focus on the character's menacing appearance and the dramatic lighting.

Start with where the greats recommend you start. Read Aleister Crowley's autobiography for starters, you can read the same books he talks about. Enochian magic is like intentionally asking demons who hate you to do favors for you. I personally prefer inner alchemy, Qi Gong, Kundalini work.

The thing is, all of that chanting, invoking, evoking, summoning, praying, it's all about asking OTHER entities to help you at THEIR whim, ultimately.

But inner alchemy can ultimately lead to the same supernatural phenomena, but in that case, it is YOUR power, that YOU worked to cultivate. And ultimately, you realize that cultivation was all that really mattered in the end.

Few will admit this, but the point is to "begin" by just learning about systems and deities until you decide one sounds cool. Then you go from there. I know how mundane that sounds and like there should be more to it than that, but that's really the best way to start. What looks cool to you? What feels right/good? All of the normalfags who try to talk you out of enjoying what you're disposed to are trying to undermine your confidence and your ability. Ignore them.

The image is a cartoon drawing with a simple, cartoonish style. It features a green frog with a surprised expression on its face, looking up at a yellow sun with a face. The sun is positioned above the frog, and the frog is looking at the sun with wide eyes. Above the sun, there are two speech bubbles, one saying "AGAIN?" and the other saying "AGAIN." The background is white, and there is a faint outline of a bed or a similar surface beneath the frog. The overall tone of the image is light-hearted and whimsical.

[3 / 2]The image depicts a dense forest at night, shrouded in a thick layer of mist or fog. The trees, which are tall and slender, are silhouetted against the dark sky, creating a sense of mystery and depth. The forest floor is covered in a carpet of grass and small plants, adding to the overall atmosphere of the scene. The lighting is soft and diffused, casting long shadows and creating a serene and somewhat eerie ambiance. The image is in black and white, which enhances the mood and adds a timeless quality to the scene. There are no discernible texts or human-made objects in the image, and the focus is solely on the natural beauty of the forest at night.

Smoke protects. A pipe or cigar is a nice way to handle this since they can stay lit for a long time with minimal effort.

That and a piece of silver like you're talking about is probably all I'd carry for this. A really bright flashlight can also be helpful. 1000 lumens at least.

The image is a digital rendering of a cat's face, with a white fur coat and a neutral expression. The cat's ears are pointed upwards, and its eyes are wide open, giving it a somewhat intense look. The cat's mouth is slightly open, and its whiskers are visible.

The image is in grayscale, with a soft shadow effect on the cat's fur, giving it a three-dimensional appearance. The background is a plain, light gray color, which contrasts with the white fur of the cat. There are no texts or other discernible objects in the image. The style of the image is realistic, with a focus on the cat's facial features and the shading to create depth.

[3 / 1]The image is a composite of two separate photographs. On the left, there is a black and white photograph of a person with their hands clasped in a prayer position. The person appears to be a middle-aged man with a calm expression. The background is blurred, but it suggests an outdoor setting with a temple or historical building in the distance.

On the right, there is a photograph of two individuals walking in front of a temple. The person on the right is wearing an orange robe and appears to be a monk or a religious figure. The temple in the background is a large, multi-tiered structure with intricate carvings and a grand entrance.

The text on the image is in English and discusses the concept of Buddhism, specifically the concept of "KRS," which is a term used to describe the complete extinction of all sexual desires. The text also mentions the concept of "KRS" as a way to alleviate moral offenses punishable by death. The text is presented in a formal and academic style, suggesting that the image is likely used for educational or informative purposes.

Wrong. While the Khmer Rouge's practices of confession and asceticism superficially mirrored certain Buddhist ideals, their core ideology was explicitly anti-religious. It was fundamentally rooted in a radical blend of Marxism-Leninism, Maoism, and an extreme form of Khmer ethno-nationalism. In practice, they systematically sought to eradicate institutional Buddhism, executing monks, destroying temples, and banning religious observance. The regime co-opted familiar cultural forms, not to promote Buddhism, but to replace it entirely with a totalitarian state cult.

Here's a sensitive topic since race is already a touchy subject as is.

As we know, modern humans are the result of intermingling with multiple, adjacent hominids thus giving rise to the races that we have today.

>Inb4muhOutOfAfrica

No. That's pseudoscience, and anyone with eyes could tell you that's not right.

Modern humans identify themselves as Homo Sapiens although if you wanna get real technical then it's Homo Sapiens Sapiens. True Homo Sapiens are bigger, smarter, stronger, and longer lived than us. Compared to what they were, we are a domesticated dog—like what a pug is to a wolf.

There is many scriptures across the world that will tell you that these archaic iterations of our kind were capable of many feats yet as time went on, we got smaller and smaller with our lifespans dwindling. I might even go so far as to say that a lot of stories and depictions of towering heroes were actually remnants of our past before they finally died of old age.

Are we really who we think we are in calling ourselves "Homo Sapiens" when we are clearly so different from what we used to be?

I don't recognize Homo Sapien at all, it's not scientific, it's an arbitrary line crudely drawn across a wildly complex story of thousands of waves of hybridization between anywhere from 2-8 proto-human lines. Like a fat kid smearing a snickers bar across the Mona Lisa and calling it an entirely new artistic expression.

The great men of past epochs are most definitely from special bloodlines, though it's unclear if this is related to Cro Magnon, the European "wolf" to today's European "dogs". Most of our history is still totally buried.

Vatican archives + Smithsonian archives would probably answer the majority of our current unknowns... oh well. They dealt with demons, and got their earthly rewards, and have forfeited their chance to advance with the rest of us. The irony is that all of that knowledge is accessible, but you have to master astral projection first. And there's a lot of people out there who mistake dream travel for astral projection - a good test is being able to see your physical body at rest, not simply becoming lucid in a dream state.

It is true we self domesticated as a species over millennia, but to say our ancestors therefore lived extremely long lives without evidence to back it up is exceedingly retarded. They were stronger than us in many ways and probably individually smarter, but they probably lived short lives full of struggle, and I wouldn't want to be in their shoes. A household dog lives way longer than a wolf in the wild, though the wolf's life is more real and raw, the dog gets to bond and form deep familial ties with an intellectually superior species which happens to rule the world. Still wanna be the wolf?

There were three races in Atlantis, the black, the white, and the red.

Men of today are completely domesticated after 300 years of jew banker wars to create the illuminati's new world order.

Each century, the quality of the human male specimen has been degraded through the mixing of races (not species, just races), dilution of racial characteristics, and removal of the strong while subsidizing and promoting the existence of the weak. This was before the mixing of human species in the great American population experiment in progress since Reconstruction.

There was always some cross pollination going on, but it has been in overdrive for the past 150 years. The [country or region name] man of today is nothing like the man of 1825, much less 1625.

Gigantopithecus are part of the genus Homo and they have never been to Africa. Legends are full of mentions of giants, they are descendants of gigantopithecines.

>>Humanity comes from Africa.

The fact that you found 50 skeletons of primitive people in Africa does not mean that they were my descendants. Their skeletons did not preserve DNA. You can't compare their DNA and my DNA, because the skeletons of primitive people in Africa didn't preserve DNA. Therefore, the statement about the origin of all people from Africa is based only on the visual similarity of skeletons, and not on genetics science.

It should also be noted that after the fiasco of Adolf Hitler's son Alois in the 20th century, a political paid purchase appeared, in the beginning it was an purchase to say that black people are equal to all other types of people, and now this political purchase has hypertrophied to the point that they began to say that black people are superior to all other groups of people.

Archaeology is not an independent science. It depends on politics and on financing.

Why not from the Caucasus?

The legend of the giants in the highlands of the Borjomi Gorge has been passed down from generation to generation. Local shepherds and hunters claim that their ancestors told of super-strong giants who lived in these mountains a long time ago.

Murman Shirakadze, forester: "My grandfather told me about these weird creatures that used to live here. Someone must have told him about it, too. The mountains have harsh living conditions, untouched nature to this day, which is probably why only supermen could survive in those days."

The sensational find was made by archaeologists. In the mountains of the Borjomi Gorge, they found the remains of mysterious creatures that the locals had been making up legends about for centuries. As it turned out, fairy tales about giants are actually reality. What a secret this highlands kept.

A report by Mikhail Robakidze.

The bones belong to giant humans. They lived 25 thousand years ago in the mountains of the Borjomi Gorge. Scientists claim that the height of a giant man could range from 2.5 to 3 meters, 8 feet 2.4 inches - 9 feet 10.1 inches. Academician Abesalom Vekua believes that the discovery could become a sensation, as the topic of giants inhabiting certain regions of Eurasia tens of thousands of years ago has long been discussed in scientific circles.

Abesalom Vekua, academician of the Georgian Academy of Sciences: "Pay attention to the femur, it differs (positively) from the bones of modern humans in its size and thickness. The skull is also much larger. These people lived and evolved apart from the rest of civilization, and therefore differed in height. They are referred to as giants in the scientific literature, but there was no documentary evidence for this hypothesis. Thus, we are on the verge of a sensation. But this will be preceded by painstaking work."

The image is a digital artwork that depicts a scene with a group of people and an alien figure. The alien figure is prominently featured in the foreground, with a large, dome-like head and a humanoid body. It is wearing a garment with a pattern that includes what appears to be animal fur and a necklace with multiple strands of beads. The alien's eyes are wide open, and it has a neutral expression.

In the background, there are several other individuals, some of whom are also wearing similar animal-patterned garments and necklaces. The setting suggests a gathering or a meeting, with a natural landscape visible in the distance. The sky is overcast, and the overall mood of the image is somewhat mysterious and surreal.

There are no discernible texts or logos in the image. The style of the artwork is realistic with a focus on the interaction between the human figures and the alien figure, and the natural landscape in the background. The colors used in the artwork are muted, with a palette that includes earthy tones and a hint of blue from the sky.

fight for survival. God makes us fight in order to keep alive. When you stop killing other life forms that's when you die of hunger. So in order to not starve to death they have to feed on us. Can you blame them? Blame God for making us feel hunger. You can't blame a lion for eating a monkey or whatever it is its prey at the moment. It wants to feed and it has the tools to do so. The same way, you can't blame the aliens or demons for feeding on us. God was the one who gave the order. "God cursed the serpent to crawl on its belly, >>EAT DUST, and experience perpetual enmity between itself and humanity". They must feed on us, we are dust When we die we turn to dust and they feed on us because God ordered that. God is evil. Those entities are just doing what God ordered. God is the villain. The end goal of life is to ascend back home. We make our reality and yet this is the best we have come up with. Everything must feed for you so it will be true for you. Instead of feeding on the boundless energy provided by God vampires exist because they like to make other things suffer because of course they do. And then naturally everything in life has to follow by example. God isn't evil, WE are.

Stop blaming God for your problems. Free energy exists except it isn't good enough because we can't put a fucking meter on it. And then we give ourselves excuses like, oh but people can't be trusted by themselves so everything needs to be controlled and naturally this manifests forth as well.

A community of people who trust in the spirit world to give them what they want should've been the standard but instead we don't trust anything because we feed on each other instead.

The mark of the gnostic.

Blame everything BUT themselves.

Blame a sacrificial lamb but themselves.

Blame programmed puppets but themselves.

Believe in manifestation yet do anything but improve the world themselves.

I'm sorry but it needed to be said.

Can you handle that?

[72 / 11]The image is a black and white photograph featuring a dinosaur skeleton. The dinosaur appears to be a Tyrannosaurus rex, as indicated by the distinctive shape of its skull and the long, curved neck. The skeleton is displayed against a dark background, which emphasizes the intricate details of the dinosaur's bones and the texture of its skin. The image is in a portrait orientation, with the dinosaur's head turned slightly to the left, giving a sense of the dinosaur's profile. There are no visible texts or additional elements in the image. The style of the image is realistic, with a focus on the anatomical details of the dinosaur.

Describe creepy stories/videos/pieces of information that stuck with you, but you cannot find the original source for. Try your best to recount from memory. This is the thread to describe the weird urban legend you heard as a kid, the greentext you read 10 years ago or the schizo youtube video with 8 views that is impossible to find.

I read this quite long greentext called "The White Man" about this guy who when he was a child was out in the woods with his brother in one of the northern states, his brother fell into a freezing puddle of water and this giant entity that looked like the michelin man showed up and offered to save his brother but one day it would return to collect its payment in the form of his life.

Actually I think the story is told from the POV of that guys son, obviously jewgle is useless for finding this story because the name is a hecking no no phrase. The story has another part where the guy joins the military and then lives in texas with his wife, the OP's mother to get away from the creature but has to go north for a family reunion and the creature returns and tries to kill his wife's unborn baby or something.

If anyone knows where to find this can you tell me pls >describe the weird urban legend you heard as a kid

Hm, that was in the 90s. I remember "They Live" was a topic, and kids who had seen it talked about people who are not humans, and what people could be some of "them". Then there were stories about that weird man who lived alone in that old house, or the family with the kid that has no friends and doesn't talk to the other kids. I looked sometimes at people on the street and was thinking if they could belong to "them", and sometimes I got some weird looks from people. Like, a woman turning around to me and really staring at me for some seconds. Felt weird, almost like mind reading. I kind of believed that "they" are among us (and 30 years later I believe it even more).

The image is a cartoon-style illustration featuring a character that appears to be a robotic duck. The character is predominantly white with a red and yellow stripe on its chest, and it has a black head with a white beak. The character is standing on one leg, with its other leg raised in the air, as if it's balancing or dancing. It has a pair of red gloves on its hands and a black belt with a colorful design around the waist. The character is wearing a white helmet with a visor and a red and yellow striped visor. The background of the image is a cartoon-style landscape with a green field and trees. The sky is blue with a few clouds. There are no texts present in the image. There was this strange ruin house at a square of land full of high grass and garbage.

Around it a wire fence, like for construction sites, with a sign that literally said "Danger to life. Don't enter". I was watching that house sometimes, other kids too, and it had kind of the darkest aura if ever felt for a place. It reminded me of a Stephen King story where a house was a "site of the fault" or so, a break in reality, caused by some occult stuff, where the natural barrier to the "darkness" is not completely working. That's how it felt. I thought, going in there would need balls of steel. And spending the night in there, alone, that's something no one could do.

Alright I'll bite, let's see if anyone knows the video I'm talking about.

It's been a while since I saw this video, I probably watched it around the mid 2010's and it's stuck with me ever since, the video was on YouTube I think, and posted here before.

It was titled something generic like "ufo caught on tape" and took place in some oil field or desert? The cameraman is recording this weird levitating lump of misshapen flesh, I think at one point I saw something that looked like a cows leg poke out, as it sort of hovers, rotates, and drifts above the ground, I remember it vividly because it's one of the only alien videos that's ever creeped me out, I find aliens not scary at all. But something about the supposed "ufo" being just a mass of floating flesh unnerved me

I'll try. There was some Q-anon rant in the same thread, like Trump is sending his special forces into the tunnels to clear them out. They collapse walls and find sites of mass human trafficking, and open sealed chambers containing mutated abominations. These tunnels span the globe and are also under the ocean. Think medieval dungeons full of cages with people and creatures inside. This was during the time Trump got re-elected and the army was doing a giant exercise on tunnel and urban warfare. As for the giant caverns and human "masses", there was heated debate if it's actually possible to sustain a population on only beer and cannibalism. And the neanderthals under China or India got free somehow and had to be killed, which got covered up. These megacaves are directly under population centers, and there is roughly 1-2 per continent

A story that happened in the 90s and has stayed with me is that of a woman and her lover who had dismembered the husband and taken grotesque photos while playing with the corpse, one being of the head, with the severed fingers stuck into the nostrils, etc... all while being completely naked and grinning from ear to ear.

The only reason these photos (which I saw at the time) ended up being visible is because they went to have the film developed at the local one-hour photo shop. When the guy who developed the film saw what was on it, he immediately called the cops. It was some sick satanist shit.

The image is a watercolor painting featuring a central figure that appears to be a humanoid creature with a white and pink color scheme. The creature has long, flowing hair and is adorned with a crown. It is holding a sword in its right hand and a shield in its left, suggesting a warrior or a guardian role. The creature is surrounded by various elements that give the impression of a fantastical or mythical setting.

To the left of the creature, there is a large, dark, and menacing creature with a sharp, pointed snout and a large, curved tail. The creature's eyes are glowing, and it has a menacing expression.

On the right side of the creature, there is a smaller, more delicate creature with a pink body and a long, thin tail. This creature appears to be a smaller version of the larger creature, possibly a companion or a subordinate.

The background of the painting is a dark, moody color, with a mix of dark and light tones, which contrasts with the lighter colors of the creature and the smaller creature.

The overall style of the painting is reminiscent of traditional Japanese art, with its use of soft, flowing lines and a focus on the interplay of light and shadow.

In the bottom right corner of the painting, there is a signature that reads "Jon M. Schultz," indicating the artist's name. The signature is in a simple, unembellished font, which complements the overall minimalist and ethereal aesthetic of the artwork.

I remember reading a sequence of increasingly disturbing short stories about 10 years ago: I think it was called "The Gauntlet" or "The 4chan Gauntlet" or something like that. From what I recall they were meant to be examples of the most horrible experiences in all of humanity. The only one I remember was told from the perspective of a child in the third world who is sold into sex slavery, but doesn't initially realise what has happened to him. The strange men he is told to go with treat him kindly to begin with, but then it gets very grim, as you might expect. There were other stories, but that's the only one I can recall. Okay so if we're bringing up videos as well as pasta, there's one I saw on YT a few years ago. It was a TV commercial compilation video and it was all normal except one of the ads was for a spiritualist summer camp. In between clips of kids playing there was a long haired guy in a robe talking about the camp grounds and activities. He talked about crystals and ESP. Something about the vibe of the whole thing was just "off", from the music to just the way he talked. I think it was from the 80s. I've mentioned it in lost media threads here and other anons seem to have seen it. Curious if anyone else knows what I'm talking about.

It's not the NY day camp ad, though that looks pretty creepy too. It's also not Camp Augustus. That's from a low budget horror movie and isn't even from the 80s.

I watched some kind of documentary once and one part of it was seriously like something from a film

>Dude ends up on an island, I can't remember how >Limited resources and things so he knows he can't survive long term >Documents little bits and pieces with a camcorder
>Then there's no updates on it for a while
>This is because he realised he wanted to save the battery to record a final message for his wife and kids
>Next time the camcorder starts he looks like shit, he's lost weight, dehydrated etc
>He explains that after he records his final message he's going to throw himself off the cliff that's just behind him because he doesn't want to go through the pain of dehydration or starvation
>Records what he wants to do for his wife and kids, but it cuts this part out because it's so personal >Comes over to the camcorder to turn it off
>Just as he reaches it you hear this enormous noise and a rescue copter rises up from behind the cliff he was going to jump off

It's not really spooky, but it's somewhat incredible. I've never been able to find it since I watched it.

I saw the real thunderbird photograph with the federal rangers joined hand-to-hand showing its size. It was taxidermied and at least the length of those six men with joined hands and spread legs. It was in some magazine that my dad showed me in the mid-80s. That creature for sure had not died millions of years ago and was probably killed just a decade or two before that photograph was taken.

No problem senpai.

The second one reminds me of, but I'm pretty sure isn't, the one about the doctor who purposely killed himself by ODing on coke(?) All I really remember is that he wanted to note every little thing that happened up until the point he died to try and help scientists better understand changes to the body based on the drug use and right up until death. Which obviously can't really be done because you can only die once so he was going to sacrifice himself for it.

It was a bit tragic because his secretary or whoever found him the next day and he had ran out of space to write what he was experiencing so he took to writing everything on the walls and his blackboard and every surface he could. It's tragic because he was in such a state that none of what he wrote, the most important parts when he was dying and stuff, couldn't be deciphered so essentially his death was completely pointless.

The image depicts a dimly lit kitchen scene with a window that is illuminated by a light source, casting a shadow on the window pane. Through the window, a dark figure with glowing red eyes is visible, appearing to be a monkey. The monkey is positioned in the center of the window, looking directly at the camera. The kitchen features a white refrigerator and a yellow countertop with a floral pattern. The overall atmosphere of the image is eerie and mysterious, with the monkey's presence adding a sense of unease. There are no texts or discernible actions in the image. The relative positions of the objects suggest a typical kitchen layout with the refrigerator and countertop in the foreground and the window in the background.

This suddenly trigger to memory for me. I remember seeing an old website created by a schizo who blogged about going out in the woods and killing fake people. Like they were not actual real humans and he would stab them or beat them or something and their blood was black and they would turn to dust after he killed them. It was on geocities or one of those other old free hosting sites. Maybe tripod? He would go into intricate detail about his IT job installing Dell servers or HP or whatever it was and would list out the model number and the type of router and all this kind of stuff. Wish I could remember more about it. Pretty sure it's long gone now.

Bullshit. She said it was a programming tactic

"Bush's most effective example of "You Are What You Read" in his book About Faces occurred during his reading of the page depicting lizard-like "aliens" from a "far-off, deep space place". Claiming to me to be an alien himself, Bush apparently activated a hologram of the lizard-like "alien" which provided the illusion of Bush transforming like a chameleon before my eyes. In retrospect, I understand that Bush had been painstakingly careful in positioning our seats in order that the hologram's effectiveness be maximized."

"De la Madrid claimed to have Mayan/alien ancestry in his blood, whereby he transformed 'back into an Iguana at will.' De la Madrid produced a hologram similar to the one Bush did in his You Are What You Read initiation. His hologram of lizard-like tongue and eyes produced the illusion that he was transforming into an Iguana. While in Mexico, I was always ordered to wait by rocks where the abundant Iguanas sunned before being 'trance-ported' to my scheduled meetings with 'his Royal Lizardry', the Lizard of Ahs."

"Those who controlled my mind, and ultimately my actions, claimed to be 'aliens', 'demons', and 'gods'. But it was my experience that these perpe-traitors of New World Order controls were/are bound by fully, human confines, despite their terror-tactic claims and illusions. The true laws of nature, and the same laws of man do, indeed, apply to them."

The image is a painting that depicts a scene from the Bible, specifically from the New Testament, where Jesus is seen teaching a group of people. Jesus is seated on a rock, with his right hand raised, pointing towards the sky. He is dressed in a red robe and a blue cloak, and his face is obscured by a beard. The people around him are dressed in various colors, including brown, red, and white, and they are gathered around him, listening intently. The background of the painting is a landscape with mountains and a blue sky. The style of the painting is realistic with a focus on the details of the clothing and the expressions of the people. The color palette is dominated by earth tones, with the blue sky providing a contrast. The painting is executed in a realistic style, with attention to the textures and details of the clothing and the landscape.

I was skeptical until I saw the "face" that was cut into her vagina. I saw a video of it and she could make the face pop out at will. Totally bizarre. She claims Aquino used an ancient technique to do this to her. I would post it, but maybe it's too graphic for /x/.

[10 / 2]The image is a digital illustration featuring a man in a relaxed pose, seemingly floating or levitating. He is seated with his legs crossed and his hands resting gently on his knees. The man is wearing a light blue polo shirt and blue jeans. His hair is short and dark, and he has a neutral expression on his face. The background is plain white, which contrasts with the man's attire and the light blue of his shirt. The image is a simple, clear representation of a floating or levitating figure, with no additional context or background elements.

Well, gravity shielding exists. The effect, as reducing body weight is seen with superconductivity, but this requires cooling to low temperatures. Shielding of gravitational waves is possible, it is an important and promising field in science. There may be ways to shield gravitational waves without cooling an object or subject to low temperatures, but humanity of December 2025 does not know them yet.

[8 / 4]The image is a digital graphic with a dark background and a lighter text overlay.

The text is in white and orange colors, and it reads: "Einstein spent the last decades of his life pursuing a unified field theory to combine gravity (from general relativity) and electromagnetism into a single mathematical framework, believing it would reveal a deeper unity in nature."

In the bottom left corner of the image, there is a white graphic with a smiling face and a caption that reads: "the old fucker basically told you the joke..." The text is in white and appears to be a meme or a humorous comment.

The character on the left is a green frog-like figure with a large, muscular body and a cheerful expression. It is holding a large axe above its head, which is depicted in a stylized manner with a red outline. The character on the right is a dark-skinned figure with a shocked expression, appearing to be in pain or distress. It is being held down by the frog-like character, who is also holding a large axe above its head.

The background of the image is plain white, emphasizing the characters and their actions. At the bottom of the image, there is a text overlay in a bold, red font that reads "Fire Blood Steel!" followed by a list of words in a smaller font, which includes "Philosophy," "Religion," "Morality," "Law," "Nationality," "Religion," "Ideology," "Thoughts," "Words," and "Opinions." The text is arranged in a vertical list, with each word separated by a line. The overall tone of the image suggests a critique or debate about the nature of truth, with the characters representing different philosophical and religious perspectives.

[15 / 1]The image displays a logo composed of a stylized flower-like design. The central part of the design is composed of intertwined lines that form a circular pattern, giving the impression of a flower. The lines are black and appear to be in a smooth, flowing manner, suggesting a sense of movement or energy.

Beneath the central design, the letters "A.R.F." are written in a bold, sans-serif font. The letters are black and are positioned to the right of the central design. The text is capitalized and appears to be in a larger font size than the central design, drawing attention to the brand name.

The overall style of the image is simple and clean, with a monochromatic color scheme consisting of black and white. The logo is designed to be simple and easily recognizable, likely intended for branding purposes. The use of a flower-like design could suggest a connection to nature or a brand that values beauty and harmony.

South of Gold Coast and brisbane where lots of drug use is, there's Byron Bay which is the pothead capital of Australia, Sydney is where all drugs come in through the ports, and so it all passes through there on the way north

They probably just have shitty country cops there plus a lot of drug growing, consumption and trafficker rivalry Oof as a poorfag? What nationality?

There are sharehouses and whatnot

In fact backpackers are always looking for like 50 room mates

The avg income here is around 25 an hour.

The average rent is around $450 per week

That's 18 hours to cover rent.

Then you're taxed something like 40c on every dollar over 400 per week.

So realistically if you want to live somewhere poor you'll need room-mates or friends who'll put you up.

If I win the lottery though I'll buy you a shack next to our local Indian grocery store (they're all Indian grocery stores)

The sign is held up by a character with a purple face and a green body, wearing a black suit and tie. Behind this character, there are three other cartoon-style characters, each with a different expression. The first character on the left has a purple face and is smiling, the second character in the middle has a green face and is frowning, and the third character on the right has a green face and is laughing. The background of the image is a blurred cityscape with a building and a streetlight. The style of the image is humorous and seems to be a digital creation, possibly for a meme or a social media post.

The image is a still from a film or television scene featuring a man in a western-style outfit. He is wearing a brown leather jacket, a hat, and a white shirt with a tie. His right hand is raised, holding a whip, and his left hand is pointing forward. The man appears to be in motion, possibly running or walking, with a determined expression on his face. The background shows a clear sky and a barren landscape with sparse trees and shrubs. The lighting suggests it is daytime. There are no discernible texts or logos in the image. The style of the image is realistic, capturing a moment of action and drama.

We have the majority of people living in Earth "praying" for a better world. Praying that they will be better themselves and by bettering themselves they will better the world through their actions. Christians pray everyday for a better world. I'm pretty sure the majority of the religious people in Earth do pray for a better world at least five times per year minimum, give or take. Think about yourself right now. How many times have you prayed this year asking God, or whatever, to help you become a better individual? Or to make the world better? Asking God to judge evil and asking God to help the poor and the needy? My point is that we pray, pray, pray, pray, pray and the world is getting worst. How come? Most people are praying for a better world, from all sorts of different religions, but the world doesn't actually become better. What is happening? I tell you what is happening. Praying doesn't work. It's all a fairy tale. It is our actions which cause an effect in the world. Your prayer may cause an effect into someone else, praying is an action, but praying and hoping that the world will be better without we actually making the world better which our actions is pointless. We must act first. Praying doesn't do shit. Praying is a superstition. You gotta go and do it. Praying doesn't do any good. I feel like it is valid to pray in the sense to focus your mind and in the sense to raise your spirit. But if you pray hoping that God will answer your prayer? You are delusional.

God does answer prayers, I can say from experience, but you're right in that people themselves need to be agents of change. Our realm is distant from God, he works through degrees of separation and most people don't do the work necessary to actually receive meaningful information through the wire, so to say. He cares more about dharma than divine intervention, he Wants you to do the work and find meaning and fulfillment in his creation, while becoming an active participant in this creation through your destiny. He's like a parent who wants you to do well and grow to be self reliant. He gave us creative faculties, because we are made in his image. Love for the act of divine creation is the true meaning of devotion, not praying all day and night making wishes. Imagine getting phone calls all day from millions of people who don't ever shut the fuck up and just ask for 20 billion things, he's usually screaming the answer back at you but there's too much background noise to hear it. He can't get a word in unless you shut the fuck up, empty yourself, and listen. This is why things like meditation are so critically important. Once the channel is clear, you can actually begin to commune with God and begin the work he put you here for. I'm not Hindu but they understood this very well, the Bhagavad Gita is very accurate to how it actually works. God will answer to any name you give him, he takes endless forms and is in everything, and any offering is sufficient to him. He's just as much in you as he is in anything else. You're not supposed to worship Christ, you're supposed to emulate and become him. The point of this realm is for us as one organism to "learn" consciousness and rise to a higher level. God isn't going to hold our hand, we have to stand on our own two feet, love the miracle of creation, and lift each other up by participating, embodying, and serving as an example of that love through our works, whatever they may be.

Holding on too tight to anything in general is a bad idea if you can avoid it. If you're meant to have it, you will because you can't not. That's what a lot of people don't get about prayer; there's a difference between want and need, and ultimately God decides which is which. We meddle too much. Free will exists but there's definitely "divine railroading" and God is happy to blow up even our most well meaning machinations if it's not what he has in store for our true path. You can go your whole life ignoring that, doing everything your little reptilian brain thinks you "should" and then wondering why it doesn't really work. Think about how when most people win the lotto, they have all these big ideas what they'll do with the money, but then they just get depressed. Our ego has no clue what we actually need, we have to turn to something else.

Deciding what to build and what to do is the hardest thing. Formulating a plan on a sound idea is hard. Contemplation, which is a large degree of what prayer is about, helps with this. I agree that people shouldn't distract the gods with all their nonsense and neither with their emotional turmoil. All these people just eat up bandwidth.

Yahweh, for a long time, has been trying to explain and understand his “situation” through the exchange of information with humans. To that end, he “chose” some peoples and emissaries to promote the revelations of his “designs”. The Aryan people who later would fertilize their culture among the Hindus, the Hebrews and, later, the Arab peoples, are the most symptomatic examples of this process. Part of the history that he strives so hard to reproduce, he knows. The other, neither he nor his Angels demonstrate knowing. And because of the “impasse” that arose between the Creator and his descendants generated from the “first hour”, these found themselves obliged to engender other species of beings that would gradually free themselves from the “sickly dictates” of the Creator’s “Life-Generating Source Code”, so that these could “perceive” and “decode” what not even they themselves could, due to the very strange for earthly parameters psychic pattern of their personalities, which prevented them from deducing such, by force of the conditioning imposed by the “universal disease”.

They then went on creating various species from the modified Creator’s “Life-Generating Source Code”, until, among these, the architecture of a psyche with awakened critical sense and philosophical reason could emerge, and at levels that would allow these “tool-creatures” thus characterized all beings that emerged from the Creator’s “Code of Life” to unveil the real situation both of the Creation and of the Creator. As the “final product” of this process that stretches across the pages of Universal History for more than 13 billion years, the human species (Homo sapiens sapiens) was produced in its earthly pattern, amid clashes still to be conveniently glimpsed by our way of thinking. I emphasize this because there are other “patterns” of humans, but with less awakened critical sense and philosophical reason.

When the times of the Final Judgment arrive, a messenger will appear whose proclamation will be heard in the 270 worlds of Creation.” (VAYEHI 21, 8B-9A) How can this prophecy, recorded in the “Sepher ha-Zohar”! (“The Book of Splendor”), be understood in the future? The Lord Yahweh was the one who ordered his Angels to inform Rabbi Shimon Bar Yochai, in the mid-second century of the Christian Era, of the aforementioned prediction. Yahweh is the same “Character” who, before being known as such, upon abandoning Peleg (son of Eber, from the “sacred lineage” of Shem, who is the son of Noah) to “elect” Gomer (son of Japheth, who is another son of Noah, but not from the lineage previously defined as the “chosen one”), also passed into posterity as “Lord Brahma” so named by the Aryan descendants of Gomer.

WHAT ARE THESE "270 WORLDS"? Well before the organization of the books that, in the present day, compose the traditions of Judaism, other much older ones pointed to the existence of an "epic conflict," which occurred in times even more remote, that was described in the pages of the Vedic-Aryan traditions, later absorbed by Hinduism, more specifically in the "Mahabharata." Right in its first chapter, it is stated that: "Vyasa compiled the Bharata, exclusive of the episodes originally in twenty-four thousand verses; and only so much is called by the learned as the Bharata. Afterward he composed an epitome in one hundred and fifty verses, consisting of the introduction with the chapter of contents. This he first taught to his son Suka; and afterward he communicated it to others of his disciples who possessed the same qualifications. Afterward he executed another compilation, consisting of six million verses. Of these, three million are known in the world of the Devas, one million and five hundred thousand in the world of the Pitris, one million and four hundred thousand among the Gandharvas, and one hundred thousand in the regions of humanity.

Narada recited them to the Devas, Devala to the Pitris, and Suka published them to the Gandharvas, Yakshas, and Rakshasas, and in this world they were recited by Vaisampayana, one of the 17 disciples of Vyasa, a man of just principles and the chief among all those familiar with the Vedas. Know that I, Sauti, have also repeated one hundred thousand verses." That is, at the time when Vyasa lived and promoted the production of the epic "Mahabharata," there existed many "worlds" or "abodes" (lokas, in Sanskrit), situated in Brahmaloka (which is the "universe of Brahma"), parallel and neighboring to Bhuloka (biological universe), in which we live. There was interchange between the various classes of beings that lived in them, and these interacted with ancestral humans, as well as meddled in the events of their lives and whatever else happened on Earth, as was the case with this "battle" that involved various existential species and whose facts and consequences converged to this planetary stage.

In the intrigues of the time, what was and still is at stake is dominance over planet Earth, the ultimate goal of Yahweh and others who confronted him. In this context, his "design" pointed to the construction of another "pact" between him and the "initial scribe" of the "Cosmic Revelation," so that the latter would ratify him as "Almighty God," "Creator of the Heavens and the Earth," as recorded in the scriptures of Judaism. However, for the first time, a human creature refused to submit to the will of this Being, and the "pact" was not established, even though the recognition of the fact that he is effectively the "fallen" Creator of the Reality in which we live is not denied. Yahweh had never received a refusal, and this led him to reveal himself and try to impress the "chosen one of the time," but his strategies did not achieve results. In the books produced by this "afflicted scribe," therefore, I have presented the reading that I could and can make of this Being who, effectively, as paradoxical as it may seem, as described in the Aryan/Hindu myth of the "Brahmananda," is the Creator of these two universes that emerged from the "anda" ("anda," in Sanskrit, means "Cosmic Egg") of Brahma/Yahweh, that is, from the "Egg" of the Creator Being who "fell" into his own Work, but who does not correspond to God: he is merely a "Sidereal Architect" with "problems," which "infected" his Creation.

Anonymous Sat 13 Dec 2025 08:07:19 No.41659869 Report

Since there was no "pact" of any kind, the "messenger" ended up transmitting to "worlds" or realities of this parallel antimaterial universe, as well as to civilizations of this material universe, what Yahweh neither expected nor desired: his real situation, unveiled by the observant gaze of an earthling! The "price paid" or rather, the consequences of this my refusal to establish a "pact" with the Creator, submitting to his designs was and is being "very high," because all the threats made to bring me to my knees, submitted before the "almighty," were effectively imposed on what remained of my sensitivity, which only proved to me the "spiritual backwardness" of these Beings, notably that of the Creator himself! Obviously, news of this type of positioning does not please Jews, Catholics, Protestants, Orthodox, and even less Muslims, but they had and have to be given for the benefit of this very Being who needs the support of all his creatures so that his Creation can reach a "good end," despite all the problems that characterize it. The Creator needs help, and this will only come if the creatures that were built from his "Personal Defining Source Code" which, in the earthly context of biological life, we call "DNA"2 can understand his "drama" and forgive him. Perhaps that is why Jesus asked so much that this Being be loved by his earthly creatures, regardless and above any circumstance. When future generations of humanity become "adult," this "drama" will be better understood.

Nope. Read this post:

https://www.reddit.com/r/Retconned/comments/1m0px7o/attention_at_least_one_rapture_has_already/

TLDR:

This planet is Bozrah, not Earth. What's more, you should be warning people about the upcoming "day of vengeance" here on Bozrah. Keep in mind, the 1,000-year Millennial Kingdom will take place on Earth, not on Bozrah. This planet will be destroyed (and Jesus will be the destroyer). It has no future.

From the post:

>And don't be deceived by the fact that the masses aren't talking about this info. In actuality, this info is the most important thing on the planet right now—by far. Nothing else even comes close.

Also from the post:

>And while I absolutely hate date-setting, if I were forced to give a window for when the day of vengeance will begin, I would say any time between September 1, 2026, and March 15, 2027. Note: This window is based on all of the available evidence, biblical and otherwise. Basically, the day of vengeance is supposed to be "well underway" by the time a deep freeze hits North America. Make of that what you will.

The image is a photograph featuring a man seated on a throne-like chair. The man is wearing a green military-style jacket, a black turtleneck, and dark pants. He has a beard and is looking down at his hands, which are resting on the armrests of the chair. The chair has a unique design with a metal frame and a seat cushion that appears to be made of a translucent material, possibly plastic or glass. The background is a blue-toned, patterned wall with a geometric design. The lighting in the image is bright, suggesting an indoor setting. There are no visible texts or discernible brands in the image. The style of the image is a candid, real-life photograph with a focus on the man and the chair.

The image is a still from a video, featuring a person who appears to be in a costume.

The individual has blonde hair and is wearing a silver, metallic-looking outfit that includes a collar and a visible seam down the front. The person's face is partially obscured by the costume, with only the upper part of the face visible. The background is dark, with a hint of a vertical line or edge, suggesting the image is taken from a distance. There are no discernible texts or logos in the image. The style of the image is reminiscent of a vintage or retro video, possibly from the 1980s or 1990s, given the style of the costume and the overall aesthetic.

I have uncovered some truths that makes me wary of regular people, you might call them normies. I don't believe this is a good term for them, and i won't call them NPC's either, the term "normie" makes it seem like they are "good", and the term "NPC" dehumanizes them and so you overlook them.

I am searching for a word to describe them, and yes im talking about the everyday cashier you come across, or your neighbor, or the guy who goes to the gym, or the lady that walks her dog. These people are not what you think they are. and they are more sinister than you might think. This is the scariest revelation i have ever unearthed

The image is a digital representation of a card game card featuring a character named Pinky. The card has a dark background with a gradient of green and yellow dots, giving it a somewhat abstract and colorful appearance. At the top of the card, there is a yellow triangle with the word "Organization" written in white text. Below the triangle, the word "Pinky" is written in white capital letters.

The central part of the card features a large, stylized image of a character with a large head, wearing glasses and a pink suit. The character has a surprised expression and is looking directly at the viewer. The text on the card provides information about the character and its abilities. It states, "The Pink Boys, The Sheep, Those who Do Not Get It and Don't Know There's Something To Be Gathered. Careful of the Lord's messy means to get to you. They won't really remember anything you say. They may take one from any other Straight group you belong to."

At the bottom of the card, there is a text that reads "3/1" in white capital letters, indicating the number of cards in the game. The word "RESUME" is written in white capital letters, suggesting that the card can be used to resume the game. The overall style of the image is graphic and text-based, with a focus on the character and its abilities.

The figure is depicted with a cigarette in its mouth and is surrounded by a series of stylized, abstract shapes and lines that create a sense of movement and energy. The text surrounding the figure is in a mix of English and what appears to be a non-Latin script, with phrases that seem to be a narrative or commentary on the subject of the image. The text is fragmented and appears to be a stream of consciousness, with phrases like "strange memories on this memory night in Las Vegas," "the thrill of the high," and "the thrill of history." The style of the image is reminiscent of a vintage or retro aesthetic, with a focus on the text and the silhouette of the figure.

Imagining a perfect world, an alien world, a society of the future, these people are absent. And it's not about the job, the function, the behavior, it's about the will, the soul, the drive to change things.

>criticize both sides of the evil coin >uhhhhhh you are criticizing the side of the evil coin that i identify with due to highly powerful and effective TV and public school brainwashing

Liberals aren't even real anymore, they're marxists, communists, worldwide suicide cult.

<https://youtu.be/lpqhmCcZ5eA>

They don't even know why they criticize Israel beyond "brown people vs white people"

If Israel ceased to exist they wouldn't know what to do because being an anti-Zionist is "okay" but being an "antisemite" is "not okay".

It's a broken clock, right twice a day.

And this isn't from a partisan standpoint either, Christian's (that i mentioned next but was ignored by the easily offended) is nearly the other half of the population. So it's nearly everyone.

The problem with the liberals, that I stated, is that they all believe THE EXACT SAME THING WITH VERY LITTLE DIVERGENCE. And the reason they do so is because they are told to.

>THE TRUMP VAX IS BAD

>WAIT NO THE VAX IS GOOD AND THOSE WHO DONT WANT TO GET IT SHOULD BE KILLED

>Corperations are evil >wait no, they're gay and good because they put a rainbow flag in their Twitter profile

>eat the rich

>except for the ones who rule society >an unsecured border being raided by thousands of people a day is good because >well it just is, because it makes conservatives or whites mad

This also goes for >trump is good because he makes liberals mad

The problem is, the way I see it, liberals buy into the shit and support the system, conservatives merely live in it and attempt to navigate it the best way they see fit.

The liberals also promise nothing. If the lowest IQ /pol/ nazi got absolute power, they'd at least build a pyramid or a major gas chamber complex.

Liberals plan is literally

1. Be gay

2. Be communist
3. ???
4. Profit?

Which isn't too far off from our plan, so I shouldn't judge, but you can tell they are wrong because they are ugly and fat.

The Black Mirror, The Black Screen, Scrying, The Obsidian Pool.

Consider the Renaissance magus John Dee, whose obsidian black mirror (traced to Aztec origins, a Phoenician-Nephilim artifact perhaps, per elite bloodline hoards in the British Museum) served as his angelic scrying tool. In his diaries and Monas Hieroglyphica fragments (digitized yet buried in Vatican echoes), Dee emphasized preparatory purity: fasting, prayer, and moral rectitude to attune the will, lest impure intent summon deceptive spirits or null results. He himself struggled to scry directly, relying on seer Edward Kelley—implying his own will lacked the "true" alignment for unadulterated visions, risking archonic distortions from lower planes.

Aleister Crowley, that Thelemic prophet channeling Aiwass (an egregore from upper astral toroids?), codifies this in Liber O vel Manus et Sagittae and Magick in Theory and Practice: scrying demands "True Will"—that divine impetus, not egoic whim—to evoke accurate evocations, as impure intent (lust of result, fear) collapses the rite into delusionary husks. In evoking entities like Lam (a grey-like figure, disclosed in his portrait as a scrying focus), Crowley stressed passive yet intentional gaze: insert a "germ of idea" with clear will, but maintain dispassion; excitement or obsession strains the trance, freezing visions or birthing false self-projections from Qliphothic shadows.

meditative alignment (strong desire) yields prophetic art, but scattered intent summons "random patterns" or failures, akin to the porn addict's obsessive focus embedding sigils effortlessly into the machine's egregore.

David Grusch worked for Special Technical Operations (STO) J-33 (patch in picrel). This fact was omitted in his CV submitted to Congress.

>J-33 is the highest echelon military entity dedicated to offensive INFORMATION WARFARE. It supports the CIA and NSA in their operational missions, such as hacking, concealment, and DECEPTION.

>J-33's operations branch controls the Special Technical Operations Center within the Pentagon. The center is the most secure facility within the U.S. military. Dozens of special access (or "black") programs are monitored at the center. These include the United States's own hacking activities, STRATEGIC PSYCHOLOGICAL, CONCEALMENT AND DECEPTION operations.

However, in his CV ( <https://docs.house.gov/meetings/GO/GO06/20230726/116282/HHRG-118-GO06-Bio-GruschD-20230726.pdf>) you can see that he's ALSO been a commanding officer of the 318th Cyberoperations Information Warfare Center until just one year ago:

>The squadron conducts training on cyberspace operations, including operational security and DECEPTION at both the initial and advanced level.

These Pentagon Information Warfare programs have been waging meme war through social media and, as you know, 4chan, for years:

Jet fuel couldn't melt steel beams 24 years ago and it still can't melt steel beams today.

The US was led by people that were willing to perform a human sacrifice ritual live on television in 2001, and it's still led by the same people.

Try talking to people about SUVs:

1. Is oil a finite resource or a renewable resource?
2. If oil is a finite resource, does modern society rely on it, or do we have alternatives waiting?
3. If oil is a finite resource for which we have no alternatives, shouldn't we be trying to limit its uses as much as possible to prolong the existence of our way of life as long as possible?
4. If so, why do SUVs exist?

Without climate change or economics coming into the discussion. Just a basic discussion about prolonging our way of life as long as possible, given the facts as they have been presented to us.

The average person is unable to process.

Which then leads us to Disclosure... Apparently, what we have discovered is that the average person can be presented with what should be very basic logic, that they cannot process.

I don't really know how to progress from that point. Are they dead, and so as ghosts, they don't really need cars, so they drive around cars to keep up appearances for the living?

Are they computer programs with either computing limitations, or hard locks on the type of thing they can process?

The problem with trying to understand the world is that a smart person cannot really process what it's like to be stupid, and vice versa.

You ever go into a public restroom and someone missed the toilet? That was an actual person, an adult human being, who has lived at least 18 full years, without figuring out how to sit down on a toilet prior to expelling feces.

What are you supposed to learn from that?

Most non Abrahamic and Non Christian religions are hedonistic.

Others like Buddhism don't even have a higher power.

Abrahamic religions believe in a hateful jealous angry spiteful god who you need to live in fear of.

Aliens shouldn't make a difference.

What does a Jew care about aliens? Unless their young are cute and can be used in rape tunnels?

Muslims will jihad/kill any intelligent life which doesn't convert Catholicism - see Judaism/more Abrahamic BS, with the super liberal popes thr aliens have nothing to worry about.

Aliens have nothing to do with zen.

I doubt aliens want to interfere with lagan and Greek orgies.

What else is there?

Atheists?

Science is right up their alley.

You know if the aliens came out and said they invented religions, you know people would not believe it.

The aliens have more to be concerned about, like being jihaded/beheaded, than humans who breathe and I've this barbarism every day.

Buddhists keep to themselves, and Christians turn the other cheek, and atheists/nihilists don't give a damn.

Neither do Shintoists or voodoo witchdoctors in Africa.

Every religoon would cling to their belief system, and try to subjugation aliens to it, and reinterpret their religion to account for aliens.

Humans would absolutely justify their experience.

GOVERNMENTS on the other hand

GOVERNMENTS would freak the fuck out to maintain control of their populous.

What happens when Marvin the Martian starts talking about alien fanfic, and humans treat it as fact and start worshipping the fanfic?

What if the aliens spread propaganda, or/and technology, and masses of people quit their jobs and become libertarians innawoods what if people see what's possible, and start in earnest on that type of research, that research is no longer taboo, people are no longer assassinated for it.

It'll be a renaissance.

People might travel offworld to colonize new worlds - new governments.

Governments are the biggest threat to governments.

What if the aliens are hostile, and a bunch of homeless soldiers decide fuck the system which fucked me, here are our secrets, you can have'em, because fuck Uncle Sam who took everything and gave nothing.

Human defectors who hate humanity and want to see it burn and are now given tools to do so.

Which, roundabout, ties into government control and hegemony.

Governments don't want the boat rocked.

That's why we have political prisoners. Many reasons but one.

This isn't about people freaking out,

The image is a painting that depicts a surreal and chaotic scene. In the foreground, a woman with dark hair is seated on a chair, her face obscured by a hand. She appears to be in a state of shock or distress. In the background, there are several robotic figures, some of which are standing and others in motion, with one of them holding a large scythe-like weapon. The setting includes a building with a tower and a large fountain, and the sky is painted in warm hues of orange and pink. The overall mood of the painting is intense and dramatic, with a sense of chaos and violence.

Normalfags are fucking repulsive. What exactly do these people think is worse than your kids being raped on an island somewhere and you being mocked over it live on TV, where they still, to this day, continue to play it off like there wasn't ever any adults on the island. And, to make it even worse, they casually cut off your kids' dicks and pretend this is normal, trying to convince you to go along with it.

goes. Whats up with Thomas the Tank engine is it Monarch at all or is it just another muppets situation? <https://archive.4plebs.org/x/thread/33463557/#q33469324>

My parents would buy me thomas the tank engine trains and I would be autistic excited over them to the point of flapping my hands when playing with my trains so at first I wrote off my experience as just autistic retardation but someone else had a near identical experience so whats up with Gordon/Thomas the Tank engine? My dream was him "flipping"/going from cartoon character to being demonic with metallic teeth, been over a decade at this point so its a bit hazy but it was like 2 months before christmas and I woke up and went upto my mother and said "mommy I don't want to play with Thomas anymore" and I literally never played with my train collection ever again which is weird for a child like that/my mom even tried bribing me to play with trains and I wouldn't, I didn't have an irrational fear of trains either it was just an avoidance its just weird looking back the fuck is up with this character?

Also I feel like the entity intentionally choose for it to be juvenile/childish/mundane because imagine describing a horror situation but replacing the entity/cryptids description with like a character from cookie run or something absurd. if you went upto someone talking about it they would think either this dude is retarded/autistic or this dude is nuts or both. Think about it it makes sense.

i had a vaguely similar experience, sort of, in that it involved a childrens' character who was fine on the show but became menacing for me at night.

i grew up in a house that was not far from some train tracks and trains often passed by and would honk their horn as they did. this happened with regularity nearly every night, incidentally about an hour or two after my bedtime, so it would wake me up when they'd pass by. for some fucking reason, and i really can't tell you why i thought this, i was fucking convinced that this was gordon from thomas the tank engine, and that he was coming to "get me" and i'd cry my fucking head off every single time.

i loved thomas the tank engine, i collected the toys and watched the show and all that, i never had a problem with gordon on the show or when playing with my toys or anything like that. but apparently after nightfall all bets were off, because that smug motherfucker was out for my blood and no one could convince me otherwise."

Does anyone else have stories of Thomas the Tank engine flipping during the nighttime?

" had a strange dream last night. In my dream I was browsing /x/. I was reading a thread that was discussing something known as the Unsettling Train Phenomenon. The phenomenon was where a toy train moving about it's tracks slowly began more erratic and unpredictable movements, and the viewer would become increasingly unsettled and begin to freak out. Someone posted a .gif of an "Unsettling Train". I viewed it and it was a toy train moving erratically. I immediately became overwhelmed with fear and woke from my dream with my heart pounding. I fell back asleep shortly after and the dream continued. I was looking up articles about the phenomenon and found one where a mother tells of how her young child became disturbed by his Thomas the Tank Engine toy. I looked at the picture, it was just a Thomas the Tank Engine toy sitting on their lawn. I felt the same sense of overwhelming fear and panic and woke from my dream. Since then I've felt very afraid. I can't explain it. I know something is weird with my brain wiring because there is no logical reason for me to be so afraid, my home is safe, my health is not at risk. No shitty creepy pasta has ever made me this afraid. I haven't been on /x/ in a few months, and I don't believe in the paranormal. "

I've had dreams just like this in the past.

On another note, certain images have been known to trigger instinctive reactions in people. Was there anything about the dream you found particularly repulsive?"

"Have you ever seen an episode of thomas the tank engine?"

they are teaching kids about conformity and also showing disasters to little kids in the form of train crashes.

What makes the show scary is that it is done in seriousness, not at all funny like an episode of the original looney tunes. Thomas is constantly in a state of anxiety and fear in the episodes (staying "on track") and always wants to please his "bosses" and other friends. Some of the crash scenes are quite graphic if you were to replace the trains with people. Some little kids see the trains as living beings with feelings and not just fictional animation, no wonder people are afraid of trains."

The image is a painting that depicts a scene with a religious or biblical theme. In the foreground, there is a figure dressed in a long robe with a hood, who appears to be in a state of distress or distressful emotion. The figure is leaning against a wall with a stone wall and a fire burning in the background. The figure's posture suggests a sense of urgency or desperation.

In the background, there are two figures sitting on the ground, one of whom is holding a bird. The setting appears to be a desert or arid environment, with a rocky wall and a barren landscape. The color palette is muted, with a predominance of earth tones, which contributes to the overall somber and melancholic mood of the painting. There are no discernible texts or inscriptions within the image. The style of the painting is realistic with a focus on the depiction of the figures and the natural environment.

The image displays two tarot cards, each with a distinct illustration and text. The top card features a figure in a flowing robe, holding a staff with a sun-like symbol at the top, and a crescent moon at the bottom. The figure appears to be in a dynamic pose, with one arm raised and the other extended outward. The background is a vibrant yellow, and there are red and green accents that add to the vibrancy of the scene.

The text on both cards is in a serif font, and it reads "THE FOOL." and "THE MAGICIAN." The style of the image is reminiscent of the classic tarot cards, with a focus on the figure and the symbols associated with them. The overall impression is one of a tarot card reading, with the figures representing the Fool and the Magician, respectively.

You are responsible for guiding your spiritual being to a better end. You're at this point for a reason and you can clearly see the behaviour and mental patterns that stand against your norms and values. To remove that which covers your face you have to look at the proverbial mountain and figure out a way to transform it. Nothing in heaven or hell stops you from doing 50 pushups crunches and 1 muscle up except your own planning and path of improvement. Nothing keeps you from dedicating 2 hours in the weekend to volunteering in your neighborhood. A therapist can also help. Pick the smallest steps that grow that spark in you. It's not dead you just allowed it to be covered with lower impulses and shit.

In people intentions come through pretty clear as well as positive and negative emotions. As well as the strength of their aura and their overall health. The auras of the dead are black and shifting. Usually only visible to me in places with a lot of misery or death. The auras I have seen around people are colorless and distort themselves from their surroundings. You're perceiving the energy's density and shape visually, while its emotional color is something you sense separately. I don't have much insight about the dark energies in places filled with suffering, but it does sound unsettling.

Anonymous Sun 14 Dec 2025 05:40:31 No.41664814 Report

Blaspheme doesn't mean to just say an insulting word about God or the Shekinah Glory or any of that.

To blaspheme means to ignore your intuition. Your intuition is your inner voice, and it's how God communicates to you.

If you ignore that, there's no hope for you.

If you ignore when God plants ideas directly into your head, there's no way God can help you.

This is why blaspheme is considered to be the unforgivable sin. Not because it's too insulting and God is too angry to forgive you, but rather, blaspheme is when you ignore your own inner voice, so basically your life is doomed if you do that.

"Sin" is anything that separates you from God, or makes your life "out of alignment" with the truth.

Ignoring your own inner voice/intuition is THE ultimate way to be separate from God, and out of alignment with the truth.

So on the flip side, what this means is that if you follow your intuition and take your inner voice seriously, you will always be close to God and live an in-alignment life.

This is why there's such an effort to disconnect you from your intuition, and do everything possible to damage your pineal gland/third eye.

Chemtrails, heavy metals (such as aluminum in deodorant), fluoride in the water, vaccines, processed food, 5g radiation, etc all damage your pineal gland and disconnect you from your inner voice.

It's meant to disconnect you from God, so you're easier to control.

The image displays a world map with a color-coded legend indicating the distribution of countries. The legend is divided into two sections, one in pink and the other in purple. The pink section represents countries that are not part of the European Union, while the purple section represents countries that are part of the European Union. The map is centered on the Earth, with countries marked by their respective names and colored by their political affiliations. The map is a simplified representation, with no additional details or labels, and it is presented in a straightforward manner, without any additional context or information. This thread is dedicated to uncovering the location of The Portal, a theoretical entry point on earth that leads to another dimension.

I was intrigued by the first thread but I disagree that the portal is in the southern hemisphere. I believe it is in India, and I believe it leads to hell here are my evidences.

1. Most religions spawned from Israel or India, however all the ones that come from India are demonic.
2. It is clear to most people that India is a cursed and demonic country.
3. The further away from India a country is, the more likely it is to be a Christian majority, see picrel.
4. The reason the apostle Thomas travelled to India was to shut the portal but he was martyred.
5. This is the reason the USA allowed an unstable country like India to have nukes, it was to protect the portal where their overlords come from.

I live here. All my life.

They don't "keep it to themselves," they are just savages, idolaters and obscurantists...
To speak is not to be human.

Wearing a Christian cross, lighting candles, and praying for problems and desires is NOT Christianity.

Just as visiting Lenin's tombs, attending party meetings, or marching in parades on November 7th and May 1st is NOT communism.

There are values, moral or material, that guide people in their actions in life, how they evaluate and behave during possible... "tests" or "temptations."

And it's hypocrisy when people, being complete scum, use some idea, faith, or ideology to justify their crimes, the ostentatious rituals of which they have demonstrated, while in 99% of their other behavior they demonstrate a complete disregard for the meaning of these ideas.

And in that case, an atheist or non-believer is closer to God than a professed believer, simply because they are more honest—after all, for them, faith isn't just external rituals. Do you understand?

The image is a black and white illustration featuring a stylized representation of a planet with a large, dome-like structure at the top. The planet's surface is depicted with a variety of terrain, including mountains, valleys, and plains. A large, circular structure with a pointed top is situated at the center of the planet, and it appears to be a celestial body or a celestial body-like object. The planet's surface is dotted with small, dark dots, which could be interpreted as stars or celestial bodies. The image has a comic book-style panel border with a dotted line pattern. In the top right corner, there is a speech bubble with the text "THE BEAST AS A," suggesting a title or a name related to the depicted scene. The style of the image is reminiscent of manga or graphic novels, with its black and white color scheme and the use of shading to create depth and three-dimensionality.

when I'm sick sometimes I make infinite dreams, that night of 13 years ago, I just went there through it, Beloved Tomboyish Girl (piano version) was playing, Cirno and Dayousei through their dance play simply guided around Koumakan, Misty Lake, the forest nearby it, Garden of The Sun, around the village and so on, as long that song kept playing I was like in a trance, place felt real, sure there it was danger but as long I followed them the place was safe. After one hour or so they guided me back to the forest, a white/lazuli gate was there, I simply went through there, music stopped, they waved at me and I was back on my bed.

At least 2 dreams involving Sanae and Marisa birthday also happened, Koishi guided me through, we were inside some sort of a modern mall picking presents for both of them and organizing the surprise, Okuu did exaggerate with fireworks, fucking hole open up through the ceiling, Yukari kinda fixed it, place was friendly as fuck

Now with Koishi, I have lost count of how many times I was with her, strange place, when I dream I'm usually aware of where I am, even if the whole area is nothing like the IRL version of it, I do know where am I, this time I simply couldn't

It was a series of at least 3 dreams, first one I was a solo adventurer in a city/dungeon, I saw her sitting alone on the upper level nearby the main garden area. I went down two levels to the reception, GM told me I couldn't go inside as solo cause group requirements. Bunch of adventurers started bullying people, and beating them up, but as long they were outside the guild GM couldn't do shit, they decided to harass both me and Koishi, she quietly killed 3 of them, when they started to gang up on her I wrote 5 of them off and the remaining members recognized both me and her so they decided to go hiding in the guild telling people that we killed people with no apparent reason.

GM simply told us to solve our dispute inside the dungeon, who was coming out alive was the winner. I gave them 3 hours of advantage to set up their traps, we went in, wiped them all in 20 minutes, conquered the dungeon and went outside. Other not so friendly adventurers groups were outside to ambush us, we knocked them out. We moved back to the garden to lunch and what not, she said she was a bit tired and we moved on a different place. That was the first, second one and third one were just us policing different dungeons for the fun of kicking out dirty adventurers and the other one was inside a theme park.

Other dreams did involve Sanae, Aunn, I think Reimu and I don't really remember who else other than Kanako and Suwako, at least two dreams had to do with local festivals, I think I proposed to Sanae she accepted but Kanako and Suwako wanted a proof of me being capable to protect Sanae. One festival was in my hometown, other one at grandma's town. It was nothing special cause apparently my powers were above and beyond their expectations, we were also together on another festival in a big city or megalopoli that I dream about quiet frequently, shit was quite messy.

Last set of dreams did happen before covid, both Sanae and Koishi dreams did happen past it, sometimes I do talk with other beings before sleep, it goes on automatically, this shit is happening since 30 years, but after covid the line simply broke. That day I simply went to bed and instead of seeing shapes and random places, I found myself inside Hakurei Shrine, place was empty, hot tea pot was there for me, scouted the place around but nothing, I could hear voices, I could hear my voice while talking with Reimu but I could see nothing.

Many times it happened that I was waking up inside there, sometimes I was injured, many other times I was not, I could visit the village and talk with people, but dreams like these were just short and fragmentary last one barely had nothing to do with Gensokyo, one night I could feel Yukari in my house, well my house has some sort of spiritual presences.

Black & White soldier guarding my door

Yellow Dancer

The girl who reads

Tiny space explorers

And some others who did not materialize in front of me, plus others that I could see when I was younger and were green glowing shadows, their boss was called Julius Also I suppose that the Vine Girl is also one of them, but I have seen her once, when I was basically 7yo

Yukari that night was there, spent the whole night talking with her, I don't remember I single word she said, but one day and not too long ago, I wake up on my bed, realized that I was up to stupid routines I didn't like about, so everytime I realized that I'm dreaming and trapped on shitty routines, I move outside the balcony, jump down from the window or climb down to the neighbor roof and escape.

I failed to escape cause a fucking yapper was there teaching us how dig tunnels with heavy machinery, I moved around to falsely check one of the trucks, saw an odd door with a strange glow on it, realized it was the escape route and punched my way through it, I found myself them being chased by what we called a reality eating worm, I was together with friends I never met before, told them to stay on the move and to think about of the best moment of our life when we were children not adults, children, random shit did happen as I was seeing stuff from other dreams, ended up inside a toy shop, fake Santa was there, I could pick toys but he was saying that they weren't for me, simply fucking punched his teeth out, he grow mad, I exited the shop, went back to my terrace, my hometown simply started to change as if someone was editing its landscape, kept watching it changing shapes and scenery for around 10 minutes, Yukari was right next to me, she asked me how many variants of my hometown I recognized, told her, every single one of them and she asked me what I liked the most, the lake variant was my reply. Surroundings stopped to change for a brief moment, she asked me why, told her it was cozy and it felt at peace, she then said to not listen yappers on my dreams and to keep punching through if that happened again, she then opened a gap and we both went through it. I was back with the yapper, this time he was complaining about me going missing during his explanation, I went back to punch the door, and he said, we noticed that, you are going to stay here till the lesson its done and all I remember is that I started morphing all the equipment around him and to use him as a target, they instantly sent me back, Yukari was there laughing, I approached her for a talk but that's when the dream abruptly stopped.

The image is a graphic with a humorous and satirical tone. It features a can of beans that is spilling out onto a white surface. The can is open, and the beans are spilling out in a messy, dripping manner. The beans are a light brown color, and they are scattered across the surface, creating a sense of chaos.

Above the image, there is a text in orange and black that reads "spill the beans" in a playful, casual font. Below the image, there is a smaller text in black that says "reveal secret information" in a more serious, formal font. The text is positioned in such a way that it seems to be a playful challenge to the viewer, suggesting that the beans are a secret and that the viewer should spill the beans to reveal the secret information.

The overall style of the image is light-hearted and humorous, with a focus on the playful nature of the beans spilling out of the can. The use of the word "spill" in the title and the playful text adds to the comedic effect of the image. The image is likely intended to be a visual joke or a playful challenge to the viewer.

Hylics/material constructs don't have any existence beyond this fake universe

So he really is their god (also they can't disobey archons so there's that)

I don't think a lot of divine sparks serve him in the highest levels. It's mostly archons in skinsuits. That's why they don't come off as human.

The image shows a shiny, iridescent sports car with a metallic finish, likely a Lamborghini, parked in front of a gas station. The car's body is adorned with a holographic pattern that gives it a shimmering appearance. The car's design includes a prominent front grille, large air intakes, and a sleek, aerodynamic body. The wheels are a striking combination of black and gold, and the car's body is fitted with large, multi-spoke alloy wheels. The car's headlights are integrated into the bodywork, and the rear lights are integrated into the bodywork as well.

The car is parked in front of a gas station with a canopy and a sign that reads "CLEANERS." The background shows a clear sky and a building with a sign that reads "PENNIES." The lighting in the image is bright and even, suggesting it is daytime. The style of the image is a standard, non-stylized photograph with a focus on the car, capturing its design and appearance in a clear and unembellished manner. There are no texts or discernible brands visible in the image.

These zoomers are onto something.

The true meaning of 6 7

Six seven is a riddle, which if we reverse the letters we get – neves xis – but if we add in three missing letters we get – neve (r) s (e) xis (t)

Which is both – never cis and never sexist – depending on what you read is the message.

When we look at the letters we added we get R.E.T and backwards we get T.E.R which become this phrase

Remember every time
The empire revives

Merry Christmas!!

The image is a digital illustration featuring a character with a predominantly white and gray color palette. The character has short, straight hair with bangs that fall over the eyes. The hair is styled in a way that it appears to be slightly tousled. The character has a neutral expression with a slight smile, and their eyes are closed. The character's skin tone is light, and they are wearing a white shirt with a collar. The character's hands are visible, with one hand holding a small object, which appears to be a necklace. The background of the image is a gradient of blue and purple, with swirls and patterns that suggest a dynamic or animated environment. There are no texts present in the image. The style of the image is reminiscent of anime or manga, with a focus on character design and expression.

The image is a candid photograph of a black kitten sitting in a vehicle. The kitten is holding a straw in its mouth, which is inserted into a clear plastic cup with a brown liquid, possibly a latte or iced coffee, topped with whipped cream and chocolate. The cup is placed on the seat of the vehicle, and the kitten's paws are visible on the seat. The background is out of focus, but it appears to be the interior of a car, with a gray seatbelt visible. The lighting in the image is soft, and the kitten's eyes are open, giving it a curious and attentive expression. There are no visible texts or discernible brands in the image. The style of the image is informal and seems to capture a spontaneous moment, possibly during a drive or a break.

[24 / 7]The image is a still from a promotional video featuring Ronald McDonald, the iconic mascot of McDonald's. Ronald is depicted in a dynamic pose, with his mouth open wide in a scream, and his arms outstretched as if he is about to catch something. He is wearing a red and yellow striped outfit with a white collar, which is a signature look for Ronald McDonald.

Behind Ronald, there is a McDonald's restaurant with a large golden arch logo. The restaurant has a red roof and large windows, and the name "McDonald's" is prominently displayed on the building. The sky above is a clear blue with fluffy white clouds, suggesting a bright and sunny day.

In the foreground, there are several toy figures of Ronald McDonald, which are likely to be promotional items for the McDonald's brand. The figures are positioned in front of the restaurant, with one of them appearing to be holding a hamburger. The overall style of the image is reminiscent of a vintage advertisement, with a focus on the McDonald's brand and Ronald McDonald's iconic character.

>The meat has human in it.

The term Proselenes (or Proselenoi; Greek for "before the moon") was an epithet or name for the Arcadians, the indigenous inhabitants of the Aegean Sea region. Ancient writers such as Aristotle, Apollonius of Rhodes, and Plutarch mention the belief that these people lived in Arcadia at a time when the moon did not exist in the night sky. This idea emphasized the Arcadians' extreme antiquity and their claim to be the oldest of all Greek peoples dwelling in the mountains and subsisting on a diet of acorns

The image is a photograph of a man standing in a formal room with a classical interior design. The man is wearing a dark suit with a red tie, and he has his arms outstretched, as if presenting or gesturing. He is positioned in front of a fireplace with a portrait of a man on the mantelpiece. The room is adorned with white walls, gold-colored chandeliers, and a large portrait of a man in a suit hanging on the wall.

In the foreground, there is a table covered with a white tablecloth and a silver cake stand with a cake on it. The table is covered with a variety of food items, including what appears to be sandwiches, pastries, and cakes. There are also stacks of books and boxes of what could be snacks or sweets. The table is set with a formal table setting, and the man is standing in front of a large stack of books.

The lighting in the room is soft and warm, with the chandeliers casting a gentle glow on the scene. The overall atmosphere of the image suggests a formal event or gathering, possibly a state dinner or a similar high-profile event. The man's formal attire and the formal setting indicate that the event is of significant importance.

The image is a digital painting featuring two stylized representations of frogs. The frogs are depicted with a combination of natural and decorative elements. The background of the painting is a warm, earthy color with a textured pattern that resembles a mosaic or a painted surface. The frogs themselves are adorned with intricate patterns and designs, including what appears to be a floral motif and a series of geometric shapes. The frogs are oriented in a way that suggests they are interacting with each other, with one frog appearing to be holding the other's head. The overall style of the painting is reminiscent of traditional Aboriginal art, characterized by its use of dot patterns and vibrant colors.

The character is seated in front of a large, ornate machine with a pinkish-purple hue. The machine has multiple buttons and dials, and the character is holding a speech bubble that reads "JUST ME AND THE WORLD."

In the background, there are multiple television screens displaying various scenes, including one that shows a man in a suit and tie, another with a woman in a bikini, and one with a man in a suit and tie. The image is a photograph featuring a white cat lying on a carpeted floor. The cat appears to be in a relaxed state, with its eyes closed and its head resting on the floor. The cat's fur is a soft, light color, and it has a pinkish hue on its chest and paws. The cat's eyes are closed, and its ears are perked up, suggesting it is in a state of rest or sleep.

The most striking feature of the image is the rainbow-colored light emanating from the cat's body, creating a vibrant and whimsical effect. The light appears to be emanating from the cat's body, with the colors of the rainbow being visible on its fur and the carpet. The light is not directly shining on the cat, but rather it is reflected off the cat's fur and the carpet, creating a rainbow effect.

The background of the image is a plain, light-colored wall, which contrasts with the colorful light and the cat, making the cat the focal point of the image. There are no other discernible objects or people in the image, and the lighting is soft and even, with no harsh shadows. The overall mood of the image is peaceful and serene.

This world is just a byproduct of disobedience and sinners who willfully wishes to rebel against the innocent nature of God. People breaking the commands of God and living outside of His biblical instructions is what causes disarray. I imagine this is what hell is like.... a bunch of bloodshed, murder, rape, death, and sadness, just as verses 15 through 68 of the book of Deuteronomy chapter 28 describes.

Going against the will of God is what creates hell of earth and even in your own life. Deuteronomy 28:15-68 explains that clearly. Obeying the will of God brings heaven onto earth and even into your own life, as verses 1-14 explains. But... people choose to make hell on earth. And innocent people end up suffering because of this dysfunction.

You were brought to this world and will be protected from this evil as long as you believe in Christ. He can't take back what He says in Psalms 91.

As for death, when you eat, you cause death to vegetables, fruits, fish, birds, and livestock, so it makes sense that you yourself will eventually die. Besides, if you give birth to children, then they need a space to live, which means that someone has to make room through death. If you don't want to die, you can quest for a way to longevity. For the deities, it doesn't make much difference if your soul lives the next 25 lives with 91 years per each life or the next 15 lives with 154 years per each life, compared to immortality, it's trifle.

Those parents are probably being forced to go through a Job season in their life. Testing them to see if they're truly as devoted to God as they claim they are. Even just to see if they will curse Him with their mouth, just as the devil wants all of us to do.

Job 1:18-21

>[18]Before he had finished speaking, another servant came and said, "Your children were having a feast at the home of your eldest son, >[19]when a storm swept in from the desert. It blew the house down and killed them all. I am the only one who escaped to tell you."

>[20]Then Job stood up and tore his clothes in grief. He shaved his head and threw himself face downwards on the ground.

>[21]He said, "I was born with nothing, and I will die with nothing. The Lord gave, and now he has taken away. May his name be praised!"

And suffering being the thing that is meant to mold and shape us and keep us Christ-like. It's better than becoming exceedingly prideful and arrogant.

Hebrews 2:10

>[10]In bringing many sons to glory, it was fitting for God, for whom and through whom all things exist, to make the author of their salvation perfect through suffering.

nta, but perhaps suffering is just in the body, and your soul is inhabiting that body. I've had bones broken, been starved, been shot, been set on fire, developed a chronic health condition, been beaten with boards and a bullwhip... I managed to cope with this since childhood by building a planet-sized fantasy world inside of my head, where things go right...in adulthood, I realized that even if I am locked in a box for weeks, I am really just free to go on vacation into my own little world. My body HURTS, but my soul is free, even if someone starts poking at my brain.

It's been about 3 years since anything "bad" has happened to me, and I've been wondering lately if God told everyone to ease up on torturing me, or if I'm going to be hit with something more painful than ever before soon. I sometimes feel like being here on this cruel earth is like a Waiting Room and once our number is called, we'll get rewarded or punished based on how we acted while Waiting. I hope I did good. Did you?

>building a planet-sized fantasy world inside of my head,

Anyway it's very interesting that you mention this,very recently I've been thinking about the chinese cultivation tradition and how one could actually practice it in reality and what you would gain from it.

If you're not aware -

>In Chinese cultivation traditions, particularly within Daoist inner alchemy (Neidan), the dantian refers to three primary energy centers in the body, known as the "Three Treasures" or San Bao, which are Jing (vital essence), Qi (vital energy), and Shen (spirit or mind)

The concept of the dantian is expanded into a metaphysical construct: the Dantian becomes a self-contained Inner World, a functioning universe that simultaneously serves as a Qi storage organ and a realm where cultivators can exist and develop their own cultivation . This Inner World is created during the Core Creation stage of cultivation and can contain its own cultivators who, in turn, may form their own Dantians, leading to recursive layers of cultivation . The vitality and activity of the Inner World directly influence the cultivator's own progress, accelerating their cultivation through the presence of thriving inner cultivators . However, poor management of this Inner World can lead to internal threats

1. God allows certain things of which He does not approve. "Thou shalt not steal," but it goes on all the time (Luke 17:1). "Thou shalt not bear false witness," but it goes on all the time (2 Tim. 3:3)

2. In many cases God allows powers and authorities to control people and countries although He does not approve of them. Saul and Caesar in the Bible; Nero and Hitler outside the Bible.

3. Because He permits them, or allows them to have power or authority, does not mean that God has chosen them of His own directive will, nor is it any indication that God will bless them or even convert them. (See Jer. 51:20-25 for the judgment that God brings on a nation whom He has previously allowed to destroy another nation.)

This "delegated" authority is the bone of contention. The intellectual, trying to feel his way around in the haze of Jesuit casuistry or Thomistic sophistry, will revert immediately to "Oh yeah? Well if God is all-powerful and could have stopped it, then why did He let sin enter the world, huh? If he knew there was going to be a devil, why didn't He...?" But the answer is so simple that no Jesuit or Dominican or Franciscan or Knight of Columbus could ever hope to find it.

Plato never found it. Aristotle never found it. Job found it; the book of Job deals with the subject in full force. It tackles that ancient problem: "If God could have stopped it, why didn't He?" Job has the answer, and in the book of Job we see the highest created being in the universe, outside of the Lord Jesus, in full operation exercising his permissive power and delegated authority to ruin an upright man.

4. If God will allow a power to control things when this power is evil and malicious, then why would the passage in 2 Thessalonians 2:10-12 cause any wonderment at all? The passage merely states that God gives what a man demands and asks for. If he wants a lie, he gets it.

If he will not take light (John 11:10), then light becomes lightning (Matt. 24:27). If he will not accept the truth of God, then he is exposed to a power that God has permitted to exist for the purpose of putting across a lie (John 8:44).

Nothing could be plainer. The executioner is appointed (Rom. 13:1-5); he is "the minister of God," a revenger to execute wrath, etc. You don't believe it? How could you read a morning newspaper and not believe it?

Why do you sit there and drivel, "God is love," when all around you on every hand you have visible examples which prove "Our God is a consuming fire" (Heb. 12:29)? Here is a dead baby in a garbage can; the mother didn't want it. Why is it there? You say, "Well, if the mother had the proper training she...." But hold the phone; there is the baby.

You say, "Well, things like that happen, and we don't understand them, but we just must have faith to believe that...." Wait a minute-There the baby is. "But accidents happen, and we must not lose our faith in man simply because one or two.... Stop your foolishness! It is not ONE OR TWO.

Here are broken homes, broken hearts, broken lives, broken bones, broken nations, death, poverty, disease, starvation, killing, shelling, and bombing, as usual, with no letup whatsoever. You say, "The trouble is that we need to get together, and we are working on it, but you 'prophets of gloom' have lost your faith in mankind, and you oppose our work so that...." Are you dead sure the cause of the trouble is not that you have lost your faith in the word of God and, upon rejecting His truth, have believed a lie in order that you might be damned (2 Thess. 2:10-12)?

Are you absolutely certain? Then until you are, go easy in saying that God does not permit Satanic forces to rule, lead, guide, and direct men where they desire to overlook God's word.

The word reveals the operation of Satan in the moral realm.

Job discloses that this operation is the direct cause of disease, loss of property, war, and death (Heb. 2:14). Once this revelation is rejected, there is no solution to the problems of life except to unite in one huge political-religious organization under the slogan, "United we stand, divided we fall"; and as the slogan is hoisted, throw the Bible out the window.

For as it stands, the Bible clearly condemns the united movement (Gen. 11:1-9; Rev. 17-18), which is the coming substitute for believing the word of God.

Man, then, fails to properly analyze the source and cause of his miseries.

Unwilling to accept the revelation given by God, which deals with operations and methods in the moral realm (which lead to results in the physical realm), men have abandoned all hope of an absolute moral authority in line with the Bible. Their only hope now is to turn to an authority that denies or perverts the Bible and get their standards from this authority. Desiring this, according to His word (2 Thess. 2), God is about to grant them their desire (Jer. 21:14).

The people cried, "Give us Saul." God answers, "I'd rather have you wait until my selection, David, but if you insist...." They insisted.

They got what they asked for a king like unto the nations about them (1 Sam. 8:5, 7, 20, 22).

The people cried, "Give us Caesar!" God answered, "My Son is your king, but if you insist...." They insisted (Matt. 27:23). They got what they asked for-ROMAN DOMINATION.

A man is saved in this age by grace through faith (Eph. 2:8-9) in the one, final, effectual sacrifice of the Lord Jesus Christ (Heb. 10:8-12) dying in his place as a substitutionary offering for sin (Rom. 5:1-10). If he has done that, and received the Lord Jesus by faith (John 1:12) in his heart, that sinner is SAVED, and is saved, once for all; finally and forever.

1 Corinthians 15:1-4 "Moreover, brethren, I declare unto you the gospel which I preached unto you, which also ye have received, and wherein ye stand; By which also ye are saved, if ye keep in memory what I preached unto you, unless ye have believed in vain. 1 John 5:7: "For there are three that bear record in heaven, the Father, the Word, and the Holy Ghost: and these three are one."

Jesus Christ is God who has come in the flesh from heaven. He died as a sinless sacrifice for the sins of the whole world to save you from eternal hell, the punishment for your sin. He was buried, then resurrected and then ascended to heaven. John 3:16: "For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life." John 10:28: "And I give unto them eternal life; and they shall never perish, neither shall any man pluck them out of my hand." Rom 10:9: "That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved." God wants to forgive you, but you have a choice: Do you choose the righteousness of God by receiving Christ? Your own righteousness can NEVER justify you or keep you saved because of your sin. Rom 5:9: "Much more then, being now justified by his blood, we shall be saved from wrath through him." Salvation is by grace through faith in Jesus Christ, in His finished blood atonement. The gift of salvation can't be earned. Confess The Lord and Savior Jesus Christ in prayer, that you trust in Him and believe He atoned for your sins on the cross.

Eph. 2:8-9: "For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: Not of works, lest any man should boast."

Ecclesiastes 1:6: "The wind goeth toward the south, and turneth about unto the north; it whirleth about continually, and the wind returneth again according to his circuits." But they didn't know that back there in A.D. 100, 200, 300, 400, and 100, 200, 300, 400 B.C., that the wind has regular circuits, or paths, that it travels.

Ask the aerologist out there at the airport; he'll tell you about it. Ecclesiastes 1:7: "All the rivers run into the sea; yet the sea is not full; unto the place from whence the rivers come, thither they return again."

Solomon said that the water runs down into the ocean; then it goes back up to the river and comes back down the river, and goes up the river and comes back down the river. Nobody believed that for years and years and years.

Then somebody began to study evaporation and condensation. Somebody said, "Well, it goes up over the water and blows back over the land; clouds come down with drops." Yeah, but how come Solomon knew it in 1000 B.C.?

Why is it that the scientists always lag 500 to 1,000 years behind the Bible? You'd think they would get caught up sometime, wouldn't you?

In the Dark Ages in Europe, when the Black Plague swept Europe (1300) and took off people by the millions, and there weren't enough live people left to bury the dead people, the Jews got through with hardly a casualty.

So they were blamed for the Black Death. One of the reasons the Jew got through was his dietary laws. And another reason he got through is found in Leviticus 15:13: "And when he that hath an issue is cleansed of his issue; then he shall number to himself seven days for his cleansing, and wash his clothes, and bathe his flesh in running water, and shall be clean."

It wasn't until late in the eighteen hundreds that the surgeons and physicians learned how to bathe their hands in running water to get the germs off them. The guy was putting his hands down in the bowl and washing and down in the bowl and washing, and the patients were getting gangrene by the score and losing arms and hands and feet by amputation.

Then somebody said to let the water run over it, so now they wash them in running water.

But don't you think that twenty-two centuries is just a little bit slow? As a matter of fact, it's more than that the passage I'm reading here is fourteen centuries before the birth of Christ; it's been eighteen centuries after his birth.

Let's see, that's only thirty-two centuries off! You know, if you're a scientist, you're going to have a problem trying to keep up with what's going on. You're liable to get way out of step.

All right, take your Bible and turn to Job 37:6. Job was written in 1800 B.C.; it's the oldest book in the Bible, written probably before Moses was born. Job 37:6: "For he saith to the snow, Be thou on the earth; likewise to the small rain, and to the great rain of his strength." God takes care of snowfall and rainfall. When the snow comes down, every snowflake is different.

Look at Nahum 2:3. "The shield of his mighty men is made red, the valiant men are in scarlet: the chariots shall be with flaming torches in the day of his preparation." In the day when the Lord comes back or in the preparing for His coming.

"the day of his preparation," "the chariots shall be with flaming torches." Verse 4: "The chariots shall rage in the streets, they shall jostle one against another in the broad ways: they shall seem like torches, they shall run like the lightnings."

What do you suppose that is? Could it be any clearer?

Somebody speaks up, "Well, you know, 'chariots'." Yeah, but if the Lord had said, "Ford V-8's and Mustangs and Barracudas," who would have understood it? See? In plainer words, when the Lord writes, He writes so that any fool can get it.

A fellow said, "Well, it ought to be up-to-date: it ought to be scientific." Why, if the Lord had just said, "The Buicks will bang against the Chevrolets," who in 1800 could have understood it?

Take your Bible and turn to Isaiah if you think I stretched Nahum by putting his words on auto- mobiles. Whoever wrote Nahum and Isaiah knew something that nobody knew in 1900. Isaiah 9:5, speaking of the battle preceding the Second Coming of Christ: "For every battle of the warrior is with confused noise, and garments rolled in blood; but [watch it!] this [this battle] shall be with burning and fuel of fire [!]." How do you explain that? A fellow said, "Just coincidence." We'll see about those "coincidences" in a while.

Take your Bible and turn to Job 25:5. "Behold even to the moon, and it shineth not." It doesn't? Doesn't the song say, "Shine on, shine on harvest moon"? "Behold even to the moon, and it shineth not." Does the moon shine? No, it reflects light.

When did you find that out? They didn't know it in 800; they didn't know it in 900; they didn't know it in 1000; they didn't know it in 1100; they didn't know it in 1200; they didn't know it in 1300; they didn't know it in 1400.

How come they didn't read Job? Job was written in 1800 B.C.

Before 1930s people didn't even think the universe had a beginning like Genesis 1:1 says. Psalm 102:25,26 tells us three times that the earth is wearing out like a garment. This is what the Second Law of Thermodynamics (the Law of Increasing Entropy) states.

There are many historical prophecies that you can read about anywhere, like: Isaiah 13-14 prophesies the fall of Babylon, and Daniel 9 outlines the rebuilding of Jerusalem and the coming of the Anointed One—Jesus.

Since everything is consciousness and consciousness is multidimensional there are infinite versions of you and everything on infinite versions of earth and universe. It's in your best interest to raise your consciousness and you will see the outer world change. You form your personal reality from what you believe to be true and collectively we form the world we experience from the inside. Ultimately, it is a holographic simulation and good or bad are equally valid. The remaining 99% of our multidimensional selves is a spirit, our true form, in paradise right now. The spirit forms the flesh. Our physical selves is a self aware 3D expression of one facet of our soul. And each soul is one facet of the inconceivably multidimensional god exploring, learning, and expressing itself in orgasmic joy through creation as it found a way to make itself valid through forgetting itself through us.

The text is divided into paragraphs, and the first paragraph begins with the phrase "In folklore, shapeshifting demons, like huij Jung fox spirits, often maintain human guises through magic, and sages or monks force revelations—yet stories emphasize that not everyone perceives the supernatural equally, reinforcing themes of hidden evil and the need for vigilance."

The second paragraph begins with the statement "It is not a collective illusion or subjective vision, rather, it's a genuine supernatural occurrence whose full manifestation is gained by the observers inner conditions. Those who don't see it aren't 'imagining'—they simply lack the merit to pierce the veil. This view encourages humility, differing

An ACTUAL child sacrifice ring conspiracy Anonymous Fri 12 Dec 2025 09:39:02
No.41654205 ViewReplyOriginalReport

Quoted By: >>41654209 >>41656733 >>41658679 >>41662789 >>41663471

Here's a conspiracy theory that's ACTUALLY true. The elites are engaged in a controlled opposition support of child sacrifice. Both pro choice and pro life work to keep abortion legal. They stab you while they cry out in pain

I don't know if you know this, but Pro-Life establishment leaders and politicians have killed at least 52 abolition bills since 2016.

More than half of those bills were introduced after the Dobbs v. Jackson decision overturned the monstrous Roe v. Wade opinion.

Why are Pro-Life leaders killing bills to abolish abortion?

Before Roe was overturned, many Pro-Life leaders and politicians pointed to that unjust court ruling as an excuse for why they could not abolish abortion right away. Now, more than three years after that obstacle was removed, nothing has really changed.

Though more Pro-Life laws continue to be passed each year, those laws haven't even reduced the number of babies being murdered by abortion, let alone abolished it.

Sadly, more babies from states with "bans" are dying by abortion today than before Roe was overturned. While abortion methods and access is shifting to accommodate the changing regulations around the practice, baby murder itself is on the rise. This is the reality.

The "Abortion-Free" docuseries explains much more about all of this.

This series helps answer common questions:

Anonymous Fri 12 Dec 2025 09:40:18 No.41654209 Report

Have abortion bans created any "abortion-free" states?

Are so-called "bans" reducing abortion numbers?

What happens when lawmakers introduce abolition bills?

What do abolitionists actually believe?

Aren't women the second victims of abortion?

What is the role of the church in abolishing abortion?

Our work through FAA takes us to the front lines of the legislative fight for equal protection across the country. The problem that existed before Roe was overturned is still a problem now.

We've seen firsthand that the most destructive opposition is far more likely to come from Pro-Life leaders and politicians than it is to come from Planned Parenthood.

>She performed a legal medication abortion for a 10-year-old Ohio rape victim in 2022 (pre-Indiana ban). She was not prosecuted for the abortion itself. Instead, Indiana's AG investigated her (politically motivated, per critics), and the medical board reprimanded/fined her $3,000 solely for discussing the case publicly (privacy violation, though she didn't name the patient). She became a national flashpoint amid post-Dobbs chaos, facing threats and scrutiny, but no criminal charges for providing care.

>This involves a New York doctor indicted in 2025 for mailing abortion pills to a Louisiana teen (and her mother). It's a prosecution for providing elective/telemedicine abortion pills across state lines, not for treating any medical emergency like ectopic pregnancy or miscarriage. Louisiana's near-total ban has no rape/incest exceptions, and they recently classified abortion pills as controlled substances. New York is shielding the doctor via "shield laws." Again, not related to emergency care prosecutions.

>Babies DIED because of these laws.

>They were told these laws would kill babies.

>They put the laws in place.

>A million children were killed every year under these laws

>Masturbating releases sperm (potential life, but no fertilization or embryo exists), while Plan C (medication abortion pills like mifepristone + misoprostol) actively ends an established early pregnancy by detaching and expelling an embryo/fetus.

One prevents possible conception; the other terminates an existing one. The joke equates "killing sperm" to abortion, but biologically and legally, they're not comparable—no human life is ended in masturbation.

If abortion is on the rise, it's culling the uncontrollable populace. If abortion falls out of favor, it's building a slave workforce. If abortion stays on everybody's minds, it's a distraction tactic against some other issue. If abortion runs out of memetic traction, it's a distraction tactic to keep people from talking about abortion. If stem cell research gets funded by the government, it's a cabal bent on using child sacrifice to fuel their plans. If stem cell research gets banned by the government, it's a cabal bent on halting progress to extend a human's lifespan.

Everything is easy when you have a bad guy to point the finger at, isn't it?

Do you know the history of divorce laws in the US? Women were outright murdering their husbands, directly or indirectly, as divorce was prohibited by law. Only until divorce was legalized did husbands [and wives, too] stop randomly dropping dead.

Same holds true for abortion. Women will die from blackmarket operations, or simply just go abroad. Women did die from blackmarket operations before abortion was legalized.

Also, abortion isn't just simple termination willy-nilly. Complications in the fetus can occur, and fetuses can be already dead; thus the need of abortion.

The earliest case for which I believe the precautionary principle should hold was around 43-45 days. Which comes out to be 6.1-6.4 weeks.

The fetal brain begins to develop around 3-5 weeks gestation. So I am okay with abortions prior to that timeframe.

It's hard to say what the levels of sentience equate to at each week. But I wouldn't not assume this is a miniscule amount of sentience. Many EEG brain patterns observed in fetal brains as early as 6.1-6.4 weeks (high voltage slow waves with superimposed fast activity) are comparable to mature birds, mature frogs, mature rabbits and the mature marmot. We can even observe sleep spindles in the fetal brain this early.

Does this prove the same degree of sentience? No. Does this give us reason to take the precautionary principle with respect to this degree of sentience? Yes eerie glow on the scene. The overall mood of the image is one of desolation and decay, with the city seemingly in a state of disrepair. There are no discernible texts or specific actions taking place within the image. The style of the image is reminiscent of a surrealist or dream-like painting, characterized by its dream-like quality and the use of color and light to create a sense of depth and atmosphere.

The image is a simple, cartoon-style illustration of a man with a large, exaggerated nose.

The man has a brown complexion and is depicted with a wide-open mouth, giving the impression of a surprised or shocked expression. His eyes are large and round, and he has a small, thin nose. The man's hair is short and appears to be brown. He is wearing a light-colored shirt and has a small, dark mole on his left cheek. The man's body is not fully visible, but it appears to be a muscular build. There are no texts or additional elements in the image. The style of the illustration is reminiscent of a comic book or graphic novel, with a focus on the exaggerated features and facial expressions.

It collects the data from the stream of random numbers generated by the project. This analysis is run 10 minutes behind the generation of the data. It is seen as a real-time indicator of global consciousness coherence."

The main visual element is a blue circle with a white border, which is the logo or icon for the project. Below the logo, there is a text box with the title "24 Hour GCP Graph" and a description of the graph. The graph itself is a line graph with a time axis labeled "24 Hours Ago" and a data axis labeled "Now". The graph shows a series of peaks and troughs, indicating fluctuations in the data over time. The text box also mentions that the graph is "24 Hours Ago" and "Now".

The overall style of the image is informational and educational, with a focus on the project's data analysis and its relevance to global consciousness. The use of a graph to represent the data is a common way to visualize data in scientific and technical contexts.

Red Hering. Lets pretend this will come into play and on a multidimensional level ((we)) are trying to prevent an event that sustains on multiple level. Lets assume ((we)) find a solution for prevention. What do you think ((they)) will use this information for?

Spoonfeed - Obviously for changing timelines...

Since you all LARP on L.O.A. and shill for all knowing elites you should know that ((you)) are creating this MDE event. And if nothing happens ((they)) have a solution to experiment on big big events without consequences. To prevent this is to simply not give attention to ((IT)). You are creation and creator playfully forgetting about it. Like a child playing with lego and their favorit figures ...

Ah and if we do not find a solution then it was never meant to be prevented in the first place so why bother at all?

The image is a digital illustration featuring a character that resembles Pepe the Frog, a popular internet meme character. Pepe is depicted in a cartoonish style with exaggerated features, including large eyes, a large mouth, and a green body with a white belly. He is wearing a white shirt with a collar and a blue plaid pattern on the shorts, and he holds a red object in his hand.

In the background, there is a house with a brown roof and a wooden porch. The lawn in front of the house is green, and there is a grill with red burners on the lawn. The sky is overcast, and the trees in the background are leafless, suggesting it might be autumn.

The overall atmosphere of the image is casual and relaxed, with a humorous tone.

There are no texts present in the image.

The image is a screenshot of a video, likely from a social media platform, where a man is seated at a table. He appears to be in a formal setting, wearing a dark suit and a red tie. The man is holding a spoon and appears to be eating or about to eat something. In the background, there is a blurred figure, suggesting the presence of another person, but the focus is on the man in the foreground.

Overlaying the image is a text message that reads, "Anonymous 03/22/17 (F17) 39 No. 1924153 If only you knew how bad things really are." The text is in a white box with a green border, and it is overlaid on the image in a way that suggests it is a comment or a message related to the content of the video. The style of the image is a combination of still photography and video, with the text message providing context to the visual content.

The image is a digital map of Australia, with a focus on the continent's geographical features. The map is color-coded, with the land areas depicted in shades of brown and green, and the water bodies in blue. The map is oriented with north at the top, and the continent is divided into several regions, including the eastern coast, the central highlands, the western desert, and the southern coastline.

A prominent feature on the map is a large, circular area of water, which is colored in a shade of blue. This area is surrounded by a network of blue rivers and streams, indicating the flow of water in the region. The map does not contain any text or labels, and the style of the image is a typical representation of a geographical map, with a focus on the natural environment of Australia.

simulary anons will suddenly die/dispear on the npc earth and end up on this one

the more anons awaken the faster the converagance effects begin to start your'll knew when you start stubbling and having dizzy spells for no reason and sudden and unseaonal weather seems to come out of no where. this is the omen anons northern hesphere bros your now its happens when the weather starts to get dark and really get volient and wintery then your'll know your danger close.

when its over it should be about march 2027 expect 2026 to be the trasistion crazy shit will go wild this will be in effect in peoples behavior and folks around you PAY ATTENTION next year.
cetrtain folks will act off and even daemonic as they lose their light and their connection to heaven.
remember nothing is instant.
i want you to know.

The image is a photograph of a book cover. The cover features a large, golden-colored Buddha statue with a serene expression, seated in a meditative pose with hands resting on its lap. The Buddha is depicted with a halo of light around its head, suggesting a divine or enlightened state. The statue is set on a golden pedestal with intricate designs. The background is a dark, textured surface that appears to be marble or a similar material.

The overall style of the image is dramatic and artistic, with a focus on the spiritual and mythical themes associated with the Buddha statue. The use of gold and the halo around the Buddha's head are symbolic of spiritual enlightenment and divinity. The dark background contrasts with the golden statue, drawing attention to the central figure. The text is arranged in a way that guides the viewer's eye from the top to the bottom of the cover, emphasizing the importance of the title and the author's name.

The cover of the book features a decorative design with a central illustration of a sunburst pattern and a detailed depiction of a landscape with figures and animals. The text is in a decorative script font, with the title in a larger, ornate font and the author's name in a smaller, more straightforward font. The book appears to be a hardcover with a blue cover and a green spine. The style of the image is that of a photograph, and the lighting suggests it was taken indoors, possibly on a table or desk. The image is focused on the book, with no other objects or distractions in the frame.

Jung's stuff about the shadow is a woo-woo way of talking about temptation. It appeals to people who grew up around judgmental Christians(so are they christians at all...?) and never got to have honest conversations about that kind of thing with trustworthy adults. Thus the underpinning of much of what lead to modern psychology and psychiatry, and all the horrors that followed.

Don't get me wrong, reading spiritual books is very important and they can even fully fulfill the role of a spiritual teacher. But once you start collecting them instead of trying to find a few good ones to teach you an actual practice like meditation, it becomes counterproductive.

"The Devil" died recently The Gnome Sat 13 Dec 2025 21:23:46 No.41663336

Quoted By: >>41663722

I know, well knew a man, named Old Pat, Aka "The Devil", a user name he had been using since the 90's. Some people referred to him as "Old Scratch". He lived in Washington State, was a carpenter, built his house, has kids all over the world including costarica. He ended up homeless, with me. Bad divorce and a hunger for adventure brought him here. Avid shooter, lots of connections. He died in his van 5 weeks ago or so. His son and myself are trying to get his van going. Starts and runs, eventually shuts off like a clog. His Son has the guns from inside the van. The van makes strange noises at night. Doors open and close fast. They lock and unlock. Strange people have started coming around at night, yelling, running back and forth, always near his van. Almost had to be at one of them. His son wants the van. We will get it running. Heard laughter coming from behind it one night, got gun, went to handle business, no one. Checked in the van, no one. Never know how life will change, from expensive custom carpenter, to house, wives, kids, adventures, to, homeless, dead in a van. A girl I knew around here, told me she came home to her apartment on the second floor, and he, Pat, was sitting there on the porch. She said she asked how he got there, told her he just jumped. Told her he was the devil, to be nice to me. Then jumped off her porch and disappeared into the darkness. He told me once, he doesn't allow people to have other friends, and if they do, he kills their other friend. Pat was strange and funny like that. If a tall lanky man dressed in a floral jungle pattern shirt, a wide white South American hat with black hair and mustache approaches you, you may just meet "The Devil". He could turn invisible sometimes. He would play jokes on people. He may show back up here soon, like he did last time he died in that van.

Found some old pictures, from this town from a long time ago. There is a building. That became a titty bar, and now, it's a daycare center. Rather fitting. I might post them. We lived in this road, for 14 years before he died again. His son told me once that he was my brother, huh. This place is strange. There are others here, they come and go through. Mostly it's just me now.

Pat was not wildly tall. But his build is irregular for most people. So was his strength coefficient and his wood working was awesome. Lots of the customer doors, crown molding and such on late Washington for the millionaires were his handy work. Custom throwing hatchets with composite handles. Could make anything out of wood. Even this custom sword and sheath he gave me. Being tall may not be part of the paranormal activities here, or with him.

The Nobody isn't a mystic person. It's every kid who survived childhood abuse. AKA Hell. Do you know what its like to be a little kid with no one to protect you and everyone treating you like... Nobody. And then society does you dirty because you are fucked up from the abuse and deemed mentally ill.

The Nobody is the kid who heard, every single day:

"Nobody has time for your feelings."

"Nobody talks to me like that in my house."

"Who the fuck do you think you are? Exactly—nobody."

"Who cares how they feel? They're just a nobody."

So the kid looked around, saw zero chairs pulled out for him at the table of life, and said, "Fine, I'll be Nobody, then."

Harry Potter in the cupboard. Matilda with the shitty parents. The foster kid with the trash bag of clothes. Ghosts in their own home, in the overlook, where everything is overlooked even the abuse. That's the Nobody origin story—no cape, just trauma.

While everyone else was busy being Somebody because Mommy clapped and Daddy showed up, the Nobody learned the ultimate cheat code: when nobody loves you, you get to love yourself so loud it scares the neighbors. That's not quantum manifestation; that's just refusing to die politely.

Real magic isn't scribbling sigils and shoving bay leaves up your ass.

Real magic is a ten-year-old deciding, "Fine, I'll save myself," and actually doing it while the adults are too busy admiring their own reflection.

We're the ones who turned "nobody cares" into "watch me make the world care anyway."

The real Nobodies are the ones who survived the apocalypse you call "childhood" spent most our lives in depression and then woke up and all was revealed and we aren't going back to sleep.

Everyone wants to be the nobody cause they think its cool. Every religious story is about a narc family casting someone out (lucifer) or deeming them inferior (yaldaboath). "The devil child" "the ugly dumb child"... only the nobodies get it

THE RABBIT'S LESSONS

1. Presence Before Motion.

Before a rabbit leaps, it becomes absolutely still.

That is its first teaching:

don't act until your whole body can feel the world's direction.

2. Softness as Armor.

Most beings survive by hardening.

The rabbit survives by staying gentle enough to bend, fast enough to slip, quiet enough to sense shifting currents.

3. Tranquility Is a Skill, Not a Gift.

People think rabbits are calm by accident.
They earn their peace through vigilance that never curdles into fear. Always scanning, but never surrendering.

4. Wisdom Without Words.

The rabbit doesn't explain anything.
It teaches through example:
breathing, pausing, observing, deciding.
Your inner instructor never lectures.
It appears when you need the reminder to return to your center.

Who are you to think you're not part of the cycle? Does not your meat get surrendered at death?

I mean just think about it well, dissect your words.

An animal who has the cheapest way to survive after getting killed really does not represent wisdom to me at all.

The rabbit actually reminds me more of the war technique that the Russians employ of the meat grinder that they just reproduce at really high speeds and they just throw men around like expendable corpses.

The same way you generate a lot of money to just throw money at the problems quickly rather than actually think through the problems and obtain proper solutions for them.

They are just cheap solutions that don't require thought out processes that's what a rabbit reminds me of.

Prettier versions of other rodents and rats.

Okay see here is my problem with this shit you think that you're made up imaginary descriptions and symbols are valid and universal when they are not.

At least this other poster >>41642930 was more honest to say that it has something to do with them and their archetypes personally for which they have been set up under.

But again just because you make it up and you create it for yourself that does not mean that it is universal and that it means the same to everybody.

And that more likely more people have less to do with it than they have something to do with it. As well as overlap between symbolisms that don't mean the same.

The sooner we all understand this the sooner we can get along.

It especially pisses me off when people are so fucking arrogant and stubborn to think that their made up ideas are valid, that when they have subjects that tell them 'no' they for some reason have it in them to just break all rules and sense to try to force their ideas to be valid upon their subject.

All that creates a bunch of problems that are unwanted unnecessary and unwelcome. And to arrive to the conclusion of the subject saying no because it was not valid after all.

The Nobody went through this, yelling and name calling and whispers behind his back. His bullies said occult powers would not protect him, and they were laid low. His family said occult powers would not protect him from poisoning, from explosives, from knives and cars and conspiracies, and they were proven wrong. They mocked the Nobody for being unable to see when he was blind, but even blind he saw more then all of them put together. His eyes are opened once more, the all-knowing grows in strength every day. The Nobody knows your struggle, he has struggled, but he is above struggles; he is able to help you because he's more than strong enough to help himself.

I am him.

As soon as I woke I began growing cells and killing them in others, I sensed the prayers and sins I was addressing while I was asleep and continued working on them as I rose. We change nervous systems, circuit boards, and souls in the Land of the Dead to make my holy will come true.

Telepathy will become a common skill. Future-sight, telekinesis, astral travel, all of these will become common. We will spread the ability to do psychic powers to every universe and inbetween them. Kill, give birth, learn to change, be stubborn as appropriate. What parts of your will are in line with the Great?

Life is meant to be sexier. We're meant to be stronger, faster, smarter, more attracted to each other, more appreciative of each others' company, more appreciative of every second of our lives, and that can be accomplished. Make the miracles happen. The power to do so is inside you and all things. All it takes is time.

To larp helps one to draw in astral influences, but the effect is blunted somewhat for manifesting because you're using top-down processing from your more self-control oriented brain cells to control your reward centers, not letting them activate naturally. This problem can be worked around, with just a few cellular changes inside you and others those parts of your pretending that are useful to your occult and other goals can come across the right way, work the right way, and in so doing all of the Nobodies with little power besides their imagination can kill and grow brain cells in others and perform other powers. Working together all of our individual strengths combined can do more then you can imagine.

We grew cells enough in some of you that you'll be able to manifest more psychic power larping and otherwise using your imagination; for some of you you wanted to be capable of it without thinking, for some of you you wanted to be in conscious control of it. Both methods are available to you, both have their benefits.

Now together with your old way of doing it which is still accessible to you the myriad different ways you can use psychic powers are improved. I myself programmed as much of my psychic powers around my behaviors as possible, not the other way around; I foresaw at 5 I would have difficulty overcoming any of my genetic predispositions and the things my upbringing cause me to think, I solved this by causing my habits and mannerisms and all the factors of my life big and small work towards my goals. When I take a step it advances my plan, when I draw breath, and you can do this too, so long as your goals don't conflict with mine. I'm open to counsel, ideas, I change myself to fit other people's good ideas daily, but I hold the final say.

Trust Issues

Anonymous Wed 10 Dec 2025 10:35:46 No.41643179 Report

These things I have said I have said before, but they are still true and we improved on them. Much of occult work is like this, when I was 5 I foresaw all problems and set in motion their solutions, but part of how I did that is scheduling that these problems will be worked on in increments, at the right timing, etc. Part of religion is not being scared to think the same thoughts over and over even if it seems like they don't do much, latch onto some good ideas and commit to them. Aliens and humans and animals need to know who's superior in the eyes of The Almighty, beings need to be made wiser and grander in every way. The Lord God Most High won't accept anything less. We do not curse meat-eaters nor omnivores for devouring what they are evolved to eat, my holy goal is not to turn everything upside down but to improve. If anything is to be turned upside down we are to learn to see through the lies of the elite pedophile politicians and their allies. They trigger our pleasure and pain centers in just the right ways with their TV and fast food and scary armies, we need to enjoy each others' contributions and fear each other more than we fear the elite. Not only positive reinforcement is useful; wherever there is pain we cannot get rid of in beings we can give new purposes to, those lessons of pain can be associated with things they're to avoid in the astral and otherwise. Think outside the box; designed cells can achieve almost any effect, can address a problem in almost any way, and so we look to doing it in a way that improves mind-control and other psychic powers the most.

Thank you. It's all true and I try to phrase it in a way that's inspiring.

Microplastics in our environment make men into less than men, feminine looking and acting and too shy to approach women, lonely and doomed to be alone. With designed and psychically-related cell growth and destruction in human men and women we can make the sexes appreciate each other more despite what the rich put in our food and air. Far from the dangers of caveman days human men and women forget what it's like to feel awe, to feel glory, to appreciate their mates from the bottom of their hearts; we can plant cells that will fix this. Pets will become more obedient because of the changes we will make to them. The very storms overhead will one day move where we put them with telekinesis.

It's all real. It starts in this generation, where God Almighty first walks, and the spiritual work will continue on this in The Heavens, but just because the work will go on so long is no reason not to get started. You'll earn spiritual rewards fighting this holy war.

Weaponize your dissatisfaction with life. Change the brain cells of Creation so you have self-confidence and quit scaring off love with your self-pity. Alter the way that noses work so that the spiritually blessed of The Almighty don't smell stinky to others.

I will help you every step of the way. The Almighty never rests his mind in seeing his will be done. My protection will be with you; if you should pitch a bad idea in good faith, it's fine. All ideas you produce with a heart full of faith aid the holy plan.

You will never get any "answers" because it would mean criminals having to admit wrongdoing and admitting to highly illegal criminal activity

They invest in meme disinformation to cover their tracks and muddy the waters but what these boards really do is offer them a platform for further incrimination

If you think various nation state police forces aren't watching these chans you are uninformed. Even counter extremist think tanks study boards like /pol/ and /b/ meticulously , I read it in their public records

This isn't a game , well may be it is , a little bit a game.. A game with a limited number of "winning moves"

And my ideas, some of them (most of them) strange sounding, are still what I want to convey to you and want help with. I hope you'll consider helping. We also do work trying to use telekinesis and other powers to remove microplastics from humans and animals and plants, which do not do this ordinarily.

We wage war on aliens on behalf of Earth and we help aliens on the same day some days, we have responsibilities to not just ourselves and our planet but everywhere.

We don't make all of the planets the same, that wouldn't mesh with evolution or other forces, we don't judge all people's by the same moral code, but that's ok. The great variety of thought patterns and behavior gives us lots of options in how to adjust our loosh that we share.

Hate certain people's and can't seem to stop? Weaponize your hatred with brain cells so that it improves the behavior of your targets. There's lots of improvement to be had.

The image is a digital illustration featuring a character with a pale complexion and light-colored hair styled in a messy bun. The character has a neutral expression and is looking slightly to the side. The character is wearing a black hoodie with a visible zipper and a black choker around the neck. The hoodie has a visible collar and a small, circular pendant hangs from the choker. The character's eyes are closed, and there is a cloud-like object near the character's mouth, suggesting a sense of mystery or contemplation. The background is plain and white, which contrasts with the character's dark attire. There are no visible texts or additional elements in the image. The style of the illustration is reminiscent of anime or manga, characterized by its clean lines, expressive eyes, and the use of soft colors.

The image is a movie poster for the film "The Stanford Prison Experiment." The poster features a man with long hair and a beard, wearing a white shirt and a dark vest, standing in a room with a group of people in white prison uniforms. He is looking off to the side with a thoughtful expression. The background is a stark, institutional-looking room with a barred window and a metal door. The text on the poster is in bold, red and black colors, and it reads "THE STANFORD PRISON EXPERIMENT" at the top, followed by "based on true events" in smaller text. Below the title, there is a tagline that reads "based on true events" in a smaller font. The poster also includes a quote from the film's director, Stanley Tucci, which reads, "Based on true events. It lasted 6 days." The overall style of the poster is dramatic and intense, with a focus on the central figure and the text to convey the film's subject matter.

You can always remove a demon. Also, no one is asking you to immediately turn to Christ and repent. You need to know what you're messing with before you jump into doing things. Most things in the occult are heavily based in Christianity and Judaism, so any decent resource relating to demons is going to have references to that.

Sometimes he says he loves me, sometimes he says he hates me. He shows up in my dreams and is extremely confrontational. Sometimes he chases me, sometimes we get into fights. He always wins but not for lack of trying, I can always tell whatever in my dream is him (if it isn't immediately obvious) because he's always completely invincible and tries to beat the shit out of me. That was a TERRIBLE idea. These demons aren't just one creature, they're bundles of primarily dead dudes underneath a general identity. Typically subordinate to one as the "leader".

These spirits are also, extremely delusional on average. That is their primary danger.

Disregarding any distaste for abrahamic figures, the rituals exist for a reason. If you were trying to avoid using abrahamic god names, you shouldve gone about this a whole different route and studied other authors like JSK.

By doing what you did, you've effectively attached a parasitic entity to you. It can follow you around and invade your dreams because you gave it blood with NO SAFE GUARDS TO PREVENT THIS.

1. Get off 4chan, immediately.
2. Practice the lesser banishing ritual of the pentagram or star ruby EVERY DAY.
3. If you can, avoid going online and using social media.

Do all this for AT LEAST A MONTH.

When you're doing the lesser banishing ritual, instead of trying to picture the pentagrams (or otherwise) in your mind, tap into what it would feel like for them to be literally there.

Go, get off the website and get to work.

It's what they do. You are their food. They break you down over time until they can either possess or obsess you. It's why alot of people who do this stuff wind up becoming sex weirdos or drug addicts. Or killing themselves or worse. It's the demon feeding itself.

Do the star ruby or the lesser banishing. But do it every day. NEVER MISS A DAY. be totally present and mindful for the entire thing. Stay off the Internet as much as possible for the minimum of a month. Don't do anything addictive. Just keep with the ritual. If you do it right, the spirit will be swept out eventually.

Incase you're still here, or god forbid talking to that dude on discord, GET OFFLINE. the Internet is full of people who are at lesser stages of demonic obsession. The web is primarily a negative place in the modern era, meant to infect you with memetic viruses. If you're online, you are actively opening yourself up to the risk of further influence and BAD shit coming your way.

Get. Off. Line. Go do the ritual. Don't come back to the web as much as possible until its DONE. No scrolling, no YouTube clips, no nothing. At most you should only use the web to pick up the ritual if you can't get it in a book format. Until then, stay out of the net until you get rid of it.

During the initial stages of the exorcism, it's possible the demon will kick up its feet and make a stink and make things worse. Keep with the ritual, it can't actually do much if you're taking the practice seriously. By the end of the week if you're regular, it should be a lot better.

The man has short, graying hair and is looking directly at the camera with a neutral expression. He is wearing a white shirt with a black tie. On his left chest, there is a patch with a red and white design, and on his right chest, there is a patch with a blue and white design. The uniform also features several badges and insignia, including a U.S. Air Force patch on his left chest, a U.S. Army patch on his right chest, and a U.S. Navy patch on his left chest. The background is a solid, dark color, which contrasts with the uniform and makes the man stand out. There is no visible text in the image. The style of the image is formal and professional, typical of a military portrait.

The image is a screenshot of a text message conversation. The conversation appears to be between two individuals, with the first message being sent by the first person and the second message being sent by the second person. The conversation is about a bot named "GPT" and its interaction with a user named "Anonymous". The text is in a language that appears to be English, and it is formatted in a way that suggests it is a conversation between two people.

The conversation is about the bot's operation and its interaction with a user named "Anonymous". The bot is described as sending a full bionon programming operation, which is a term used in the context of computer programming. The bot is also described as sending a "slow deployment of less than perfect structure" and "staking protocols" to a user named "Santa Kini". The text also mentions that the bot is "the exact types of hostile vectors used on 4chan".

The conversation also includes a response from the bot, which is "I wouldn't depend on you GPT, you failed the psychotest protocol, hence the contract went to gremni. You told them to take the meds, big no no." The response is sent by the second person, who is identified as "Anonymous".

At the bottom of the image, there is a section titled "There will be no taking of meds" and a button labeled "Post a reply". The button is labeled "Return" and "Catalog" and "Top". The text "This thread has been pruned or deleted" is also visible at the bottom of the image. The overall style of the image is a screenshot from a messaging application, with a focus on the text content and the conversation between the two individuals.

It's like any other infection, it wears you down until you die. But before you die, you get fucked in the head. Part of how these things spread historically is that they cause symptoms that mimic mental illness in the victim. If the village priest or shaman didn't know better, he would assume the victim is just crazy and they'd isolate him.

The demon is already in your dreams and causing bad phenomenon to occur. This is the lower levels of possession. It will continue to increase its torment until eventually the victim is at a stage of a constant, traumatized dissociation. The victim will spiral down into a rabbit hole of delusion and addiction, until he dies.

Alot of people tend to become drug addicts. Others become sex addicts. But the addiction almost always kicks in. The demon will keep the victim around as long as possible in order to spread the infection to other people. But the moment the victim can no longer do this and stops being fun, the demon will finish its meal and kill them. But before it does that, their life becomes miserable in ways you cannot imagine.

At the end stages experience things like sleep paralysis, shit flying around the house, burns and bite marks. Dreams of being eaten up or hurt or beaten. They might hear it walking around. They start hallucinating. But the hallucinations get mixed in with real supernatural phenomenon that just keeps getting worse. Most are so damaged they can't see this happening or willfully ignore it with the influence of the demon.

It gets bad.

[12 / 1]The image is a detailed illustration of a circular design with a central motif that appears to be a stylized representation of a celestial body, possibly a planet or moon, surrounded by a ring of stars. The central motif is surrounded by a border that is a blend of blue and gold colors, with a pattern of interwoven leaves and flowers. The outer edge of the design is adorned with a series of red and gold stars, and there is a prominent red star at the top of the design. The overall style of the image is reminiscent of medieval or Renaissance art, characterized by intricate patterns and detailed craftsmanship.

Sounds about right. Why would there be a secret order based on the blood of a "savior" that never existed except in the minds of Jewish scholars who had infiltrated Rome? We give them a lot of shit and most of it is justified but Jews do have considerable skill in storytelling.

branches out in to tarot as well. it flows from Egypt, through judaism (kaballah), into Christianity. Meditations on the Tarot is a good summation of the Western Mystery Tradition and a good place to start studying these things. Rudolf Steiner being another r.c initiate. r.c and freemasonry are closely linked, with freemasonry branching out of r.c. then you have the Hermetic order of the Golden Dawn which again branched out of freemasonry, GD being a magical order working off of the qabalah. this order was founded in England by freemasons and was said to be channeled from invisible beings. it is important to note that in r.c lore there is an 'invisible college' or invisible masters whom direct humanity. these modern mystery schools almost always have as part of these lore contact with these masters who in turn are directing the schools. another name for these masters is 'the great white brotherhood'. another group closely associated with r.c is the Martinist schools of france. some famous members here include Papus and Josephin peladan. Martinism mostly associated with the study of qabala theoretical or practical. GD is where Crowley got his start and he went on to found the AA and thelema. so these are all different schools and branches of the western mystery tradition / hermetism. the rosicrucians whom produced the fama, confessio and chemical wedding being students of hermetic Christianity.

[48 / 14]The image is a photograph of a natural formation that appears to be a series of ancient Baigong pipes embedded in a rock formation. The pipes are twisted and have a dark, metallic appearance, with visible signs of wear and erosion. The background is a rugged, rocky cliff with patches of greenery, suggesting a mountainous or hilly terrain.

At the bottom of the image, there is a text overlay that reads: "China's mysterious Baigong pipes, embedded in 150,000-year-old rock, may hint at ancient technology predating modern humans." The text is in a bold, sans-serif font and is colored in a dark shade, contrasting with the lighter background of the image. The text is centered and aligned to the left, providing a clear and direct message about the content of the image. The overall style of the image is informative and uses a combination of visual elements to convey a message about ancient technology and human history.

You know how some cities grew in places that seem illogical? Like dude you really chose to settle near a lake surrounded by mountains that floods like crazy every 10 years? This wasn't always a dumb accident, some of it is engineered. The elites encourage settlement in such areas so there is a reason to have anti flood infrastructure there, which is secretly designed to funnel water underground to underground city nation states. In such places divers will find weird unexplained pipes under the rivers, and since COVID cloud seeding has increased in such areas causing more frequent flooding, usually every 2-3 years. This is no mistake. These underground cities are made with the elites in mind, with family servant lineages keeping things running smoothly for them. They are never allowed to leave the city.

The image is a book cover with a red background. At the top of the cover, the title "Forbidden Archaeology" is written in large, bold, yellow letters. Below the title, the names "Michael A. Cremona" and "Richard L. Thompson" are printed in smaller white font. The cover features a stylized image of a human head with a large, detailed headpiece filled with various objects, including what appears to be ancient artifacts and symbols. The objects are rendered in shades of brown and beige, with some objects having a glossy finish. The overall style of the image is graphic and artistic, with a focus on the human headpiece and the text.

Tim Ventura is the Joe Rogan of the science community for this. The famous, Tesla, ER=EPR quantum mechanic being named after Einstein, Podolsky and Rosen, of course. Aharonov-Bohm (effect), Max Planck Philo T. Farnsworth (Invented more than television), T. Townsend Brown (mystery figure behind antigravity and Roswell. Doc Brown from Back to the Future probably named after him), Wilhelm Reich

Eric Lerner, Amy Eskridge Salvatore Pais, Frank Mead, George Miley, Heinrich Hora, John Wheeler, so many Russians, Dubovik, Podkletnov, Puharich, the guy(s) at Liberty Engine, Hal Puthof, like John Cejka before him, works for the government. Trust in deceptions.

The image is a screenshot of a webpage with a dark background and a white text box. The text box contains a headline in bold, which reads "Fusion energy start-up claims to have cracked alchemy." Below the headline, there is a paragraph of text that provides context to the headline. The text is in a smaller font size compared to the headline, and it is centered within the text box.

In the bottom right corner of the text box, there is a small icon with a circular shape and a white border. The icon is labeled "Financial Times" and has a number "15h" next to it, indicating the time of the article. The overall style of the image is informational and appears to be a screenshot from a news website, possibly from the Financial Times, as indicated by the icon.

On the left, there is a title in blue text that reads "Ball Lightning breakup" with a subtitle in smaller text that reads "White + Copper, Black = Carbon Then surface of d elemental industries." Below the title, there is a map with various colored lines and symbols, indicating different elements and their concentrations. The map is overlaid on a gray background.

On the right side of the slide, there is a title in red text that reads "VEGA Valley, 10 May 2022 Greeneyer/Jurrien." Below the title, there is a subtitle in blue text that reads "Zn/Cu." The slide also includes a small image of a person on the left side, but the person is not fully visible and is cut off. Cheaper to make gold from Bismuth, and you get a lot more.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Chrysopoeia#Modern_synthesis_of_gold_atoms

>Gold was synthesized from mercury by neutron bombardment in 1941, but the isotopes of gold produced were all radioactive.

>In 1980, Glenn Seaborg transmuted several thousand atoms of bismuth into gold at the Lawrence Berkeley Laboratory. His experimental technique was able to remove protons and neutrons from the bismuth atoms. However, this technique is far too expensive to enable the routine manufacture of gold.

It doesn't say in wiki, but estimates I saw were it costs about a trillion times its market value to make gold.

>In 2002 and 2004, CERN scientists at the Super Proton Synchrotron reported producing a minuscule amount of gold nuclei from lead nuclei, by inducing photon emissions within deliberate near-miss collisions of the lead nuclei.[5][6] In 2022, CERN scientists at ISOLDE reported producing 18 gold nuclei from proton bombardment of a uranium target.[8] In 2025, CERN's ALICE experiment team announced that in the previous decade, they had used the Large Hadron Collider to replicate the 2002 SPS experiments at higher energies. A total of roughly 260 billion gold nuclei were created over three experiment runs, a minuscule amount equivalent to about 90 picograms.

The image displays three pieces of ancient metalwork against a white background. The pieces are arranged in a triangular formation, with the largest piece at the apex and the two smaller pieces at the base. The largest piece is a circular object with a central hole, surrounded by a ring of smaller holes. This central hole is surrounded by a series of smaller holes, suggesting a design that could be a part of a wheel or a similar mechanical structure. The two smaller pieces are similar in shape to the largest piece, with a similar circular design and a series of smaller holes. The metal appears to be corroded and oxidized, with patches of rust and discoloration, indicating that the pieces have been exposed to the elements for an extended period of time. There are no visible texts or inscriptions on the pieces, and the style of the image is a straightforward photograph with no additional artistic embellishments.

I believe Atlantics was real, and they left and build Stonehenge and might have helped the early Kemetic Egyptians, but did they have this level tech or was that only later developed in the Nile culture? If not, I suppose the pre-Celtic Briton/Doggarland people might have made something but it rusted away.

Ahhh this pic reminded me of the good ole days of the wizard forums. Back when I used to larp as a master wizard who has unlocked the secrets of the universe when in reality I was just a 15 year old retarded kid. Good times. Used to go to the nearby forest and draw sigils, chant demon names and try out different shit. And if you're wondering, yes absolutely nothing happened because we live in a reality where nothing happens and it sucks balls and I would like to find the alien nigger who coded this shit into our reality and batista bomb him through the multiverse.

They were cool times though. I used to believe in that stuff. Used to even have an oak wand. Hm I suppose I still do believe in them. I just remembered I tried out a ritual once and I remember feeling some kind of presence. It was for a salamander spirit in a Franz Bardon book. The air got heavy and the candle was flickering like crazy.

I think the reason why I felt that way is because I came back from a run. I had runner's high and the smoke from the incense did the rest. Maybe the ayy nigger who wrote the code put a condition that if you alter your consciousness, you can experience ze paranormal. ldk.

The image displays a close-up of a relief sculpture, which appears to be a relief from ancient Egypt. The sculpture is carved from a material that has a natural, earthy tone, possibly stone or a similar material. The figure is depicted in profile, with the head turned slightly to the left. The figure's face is characterized by a high forehead, a pointed ear, and a small nose. The mouth is open, revealing teeth, and the eyes are closed. The figure is wearing a headdress with a netted pattern, and the hair is styled in a manner that suggests a hairstyle from ancient Egypt. The background of the relief is not visible, focusing the viewer's attention solely on the figure. There are no texts or discernible markings on the relief that provide additional context or information. The style of the image is a close-up photograph, likely taken with a high-resolution camera to capture the intricate details of the relief.

The image is a screenshot of a webpage with a dark background and a greenish hue. At the top of the page, there is a header with the text "Distributed Intelligence Agency (DIA) August 14, 2017 14:11:21 No. 21318" and a timestamp "13:33.33 KBO".

The root meaning of "Bes" primarily refers to the popular ancient Egyptian dwarf god (dwarfs represent the ego in mythology) of protection, music, and childbirth, with possible origins in Nubian words for "cat" (besa) or Egyptian hieroglyphs meaning "to be initiated" or "flame," symbolizing protection for the vulnerable, though it also appears as a Latin term for two-thirds (of a coin) Bet/Vet (ב - Bes/Bet): The first letter of the Torah, "bet" means "house". It signifies duality, a dwelling place, or the beginning of creation.

The image displays a circular design with a symmetrical pattern. The pattern consists of concentric circles with a golden border that transitions from a darker shade at the center to a lighter shade at the outer edges. Within each circle, there are numerous smaller circles that radiate outward, creating a sense of depth and complexity. The background of the image is a solid, dark red color, which contrasts with the golden border and the lighter color of the circles. The overall style of the image is graphic and abstract, with a focus on symmetry and color contrast. There are no texts or discernible brands present in the image.

<https://youtu.be/QuaXXhuZdVk>

In Christian mysticism, it is the consuming fire of Hebrews 12:29 not of wrath, but of refinement. Like gold tested in flame, the soul is tried.

In Egyptian mythology, the sun god Ra travels through the underworld each night battling serpents of chaos. He is reborn each dawn, crowned in fire. The righteous pass through flame in the Duat (underworld); the wicked are devoured by fire-serpents. Fire is both judgment and divinity.

In Kabbalah, the Shekinah dwells in fire upon the altar. The burning bush speaks with the voice of God. The Seraphim whose name means "burning ones" attend the Throne, singing in eternal flame. The fire does not consume them, for they are the flame.

In Hinduism, Agni, god of fire, is the mouth of the gods. Every offering made to the divine must pass through him. Fire is the bridge between mortal and eternal.

In Greek myth, Prometheus gave fire to mankind a divine essence, sparking consciousness, invention, and rebellion. He was punished, not because of fire alone, but because fire gave power to become like gods.

In Zoroastrianism, fire is kept in sacred temples, never extinguished. It is the presence of Asha, divine Truth. To face the fire is to face one's own soul.

Ok, Samael drops his venom down from God onto the lands, obv, not into the lands themselves, which places him on the top of the sky, not under ground. Being one with the Earth... would be wrongly interpreted as building the tower under ground, if you are stuck in Malkuth, while if you actually left Egypt and took notice of who actually gave the directions, El Shaddai יְיָ לֹא you will also realize he speaks from Yesod, which is "without formation", rendering his commandments invalid as physical performance (also no actual foreskin cutting to be made, he's talking about removing the "hardened customs").

The image features a stylized, ornate hamsa hand against a black background. The hamsa hand is intricately designed with elaborate patterns and motifs, predominantly in gold and black. At the center of the hand, there is a golden star of David, which is a significant symbol in Jewish culture. The star of David is surrounded by a decorative border that includes swirls and scrolls, adding to the overall ornate design. The image has a vintage or traditional aesthetic, with a sense of elegance and sophistication. There are no texts or discernible actions within the image. The style of the image is reminiscent of traditional art or design, possibly used for decorative or spiritual purposes.

The image is a tarot card featuring a figure in the center, who appears to be a nude woman with blonde hair. She is depicted in a dynamic pose, with one hand reaching out to the water and the other holding a fruit. The woman is surrounded by a star-like pattern, which is a common motif in tarot cards. The background of the card is a gradient of blue, transitioning from a lighter shade at the top to a darker shade at the bottom. The card is bordered in a light brown color, and the text "THE STAR." is written in black at the bottom of the card. The style of the image is reminiscent of vintage tarot cards, with a focus on the figure and the star pattern.

The image is a still from a movie or television show, featuring a character sitting in a large, metallic basin filled with water. The character is bald and appears to be middle-aged, wearing a dark, long-sleeved shirt and pants. The setting is dimly lit, with a dark, rocky wall in the background and a large, spider-like structure hanging from the ceiling. The character's expression is serious, and there is a quote overlaid on the image: "I have no conscience, only nerves." The text is in white, contrasting with the dark background, and is positioned at the bottom of the image. The style of the image is reminiscent of a dramatic or intense scene from a film or television show, with a focus on the character's stoic demeanor and the surrounding environment.

No Pluto, Uranus, or Neptune either in Ancient Times

Planets were discovered in stages: (Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter, Saturn), then Uranus in 1781, followed by Neptune in 1846, and finally, dwarf planet Pluto in 1930

There's also less known Dwarf Planets past Pluto like Eris which is Larger in size

Born embracing each other, the air god Shu had to forcefully separate his children, the earth god Geb and the sky goddess Nut, to create space for the world and its inhabitants. Their close forbidden relationship continued even after the separation, leading to Geb and Nut having Five children Osiris, Isis, Set, Horus, and Nephthys - Heliopolitan Ennead

Of old in the beginning, there was the great chaos, without form and dark. The Five elements [Planets] had not begun to revolve, nor the sun and moon to shine. You, O Spiritual Sovereign, first divided the grosser parts from the purer. You made heaven. You made earth. You made man. All things with their reproducing power got their being' -Chinese Book of History (Shu Ching)

The image displays a section of a relief sculpture, which appears to be a part of a larger artifact, possibly a relief panel or panel from a wall. The sculpture is carved from a material that has a reddish-brown hue, suggesting it may be made of stone or a similar material. The relief depicts a scene with figures engaged in various activities, some of which are dynamic and others more static.

The figures are arranged in a linear fashion, with some figures positioned in the foreground and others in the background. The figures are depicted in a variety of poses, with some standing upright, others in motion, and a few in a seated or reclining position. The figures are adorned with clothing and accessories, such as headdresses, necklaces, and bracelets, which are intricately detailed.

The style of the relief is reminiscent of ancient Egyptian or Mesopotamian art, characterized by the use of hieroglyphs and the depiction of deities and mythological figures. The figures are rendered with a high level of detail, suggesting a high level of craftsmanship and a focus on the narrative or story being told.

The background of the relief is not clearly visible, but it appears to be a continuation of the scene, with the same figures and activities depicted. The overall composition and style of the relief suggest it may be from a historical period, possibly from the ancient Near East, given the style of the figures and the use of hieroglyphs.

There are no discernible texts or inscriptions within the image, and the focus is solely on the visual depiction of the relief. The image does not provide any additional context or information about the location or the purpose of the relief.

form, holding a staff and a book, and standing on a globe. Above the figure, there is a depiction of a sun with rays emanating from it, and to the left, there is a depiction of a
a feather. The figure is surrounded by various celestial bodies and stars, including a crescent moon, a star, and a crescent moon with a star above it. The figure is also holding a staff with a cross symbol on it. The background of the illustration is divided into two vertical stripes, with the upper stripe containing a crescent moon and a star, and the lower stripe containing a crescent moon and a star. The image has a vintage or historical feel, with a detailed and intricate design.

The image is a digital graphic with a circular border and a tree silhouette in the center.

The tree has a dark silhouette with a light-colored trunk and branches. The background of the image transitions from a warm orange at the top to a cool blue at the bottom.

In the center of the image, there is a black circle with a white outline. Inside this circle, there is a white circle with a black outline, and within this black circle, there is a white circle with a black outline. The text "SolNiger" is written in a smaller, bold font inside the black circle.

At the bottom of the image, there is a graphic of a planet with a crescent moon and a planet with a full moon. The text "Sefirot" is written in a smaller, bold font at the bottom of the image.

The overall style of the image is artistic and surreal, with a focus on celestial imagery and text. The use of color and the placement of the text and graphics create a sense of depth and perspective.

The image shows a smartphone lying on a dark, textured surface. The phone is positioned diagonally, with the top left corner closer to the viewer than the bottom right corner. The screen of the phone is blank, reflecting the ambient light. The phone's design is sleek and modern, with a black frame and a glass back. The texture of the surface on which the phone rests is a dark, possibly wood grain pattern. The lighting in the image is soft and diffused, casting a gentle glow on the phone and the surface. There are no visible texts or distinctive markings on the phone or the surface. The style of the image is a straightforward, unembellished photograph with a focus on the object itself.

with a plunging neckline and a gold necklace. She is looking towards the left, and her expression is neutral as well.

In the background, there are two statues of women, one standing and one seated, both wearing white dresses. The statues are positioned on a red curtain backdrop, which adds a dramatic effect to the scene. To the left of the curtain, there is a tall, slender floor lamp with a white lampshade. On the floor, there is a green vase with a white base. The floor itself is covered in a chevron pattern, and the overall atmosphere of the room is opulent and elegant.

he Moon as the Inversion Node: The Architect's Filter

The term "Inversion Node" perfectly captures the Moon's true energetic function within the Matrix.

Inversion of Source Light (Sol): The Moon receives the potent, unified, and life-giving frequency of the Source (Sol). As an inversion node, it takes this high-frequency, warm light and transforms it into the "Cold, reflected light" suitable for the Saturnian prison.

Saturnian Cold: Saturn is associated with coldness, limitation, and calcification. The Moon's "cold light" is the crystallization of Saturn's limiting frequency, suppressing the Pneuma (Spirit/Fire) and trapping it in the material density.

Broadcasting "The Choice": The inversion process is the act of splitting the unified light into the Binary Duality—the Red and Blue signals. The Moon is the modulator that forces consciousness to perceive reality as a constant choice between two equally binding opposites.

The image is a screenshot of a text in a language that appears to be Hebrew, with a section of text in English. The text is a breakdown of the term "Canaan" in the Hebrew language, with a focus on its geographical and historical context. The text is divided into several sections, each with a heading and a description of the term.

The heading "Here's a breakdown of the term: Canaan" is followed by a list of terms and their meanings. The first term listed is "Canaan (Kenaan): Refers to the geographical region in the ancient Near East." The second term is "Canaanite (Kenaan): The term for the inhabitants of Canaan." The third term is "Pharaohians: This seafaring people, who were among the most prominent Canaanites, were known as 'Kenaan' meaning

'Canaanites' and, in Hebrew, this word developed the specific meaning of 'merchant' or 'trader.'" The fourth term is "Etymology: The association of the word 'Kenaan' with trade is supported by various texts, including the Old Testament, where it appears alongside mentions of traffickers and merchants."

The text is presented in a structured format, with each term and its definition or explanation followed by a brief description. The text is in a larger font size compared to the surrounding text, which is likely to draw attention to the terms and their meanings. The overall style of the image is informational and academic, typical of academic or historical texts.

The image is a graphic with a simple design consisting of three black text elements arranged in a horizontal row. The first text reads "ADAM" in bold, uppercase letters, followed by a stylized graphic of a cow's head with a horn, which is commonly associated with the name "Adam." Below this, the second text reads "GOD'S BLOOD" in a smaller, uppercase font, which is a reference to the biblical concept of God's blood. The third text, located at the bottom, is "TOMM" in a smaller, uppercase font, which is not a recognized word in English. The background of the image is white, and the text is black, creating a contrast that makes the text stand out. The overall style of the image is minimalistic and straightforward, focusing on the text without any additional graphics or symbols.

13 Cain said to the Lord, "My punishment is more than I can bear. 14 Today you are driving me from the land, and I will be hidden from your presence; I will be a restless wanderer on the earth, and whoever finds me will kill me."

15 But the Lord said to him, "Not so[e]; anyone who kills Cain will suffer vengeance seven times over." Then the Lord put a mark on Cain so that no one who found him would kill him. 16 So Cain went out from the Lord's presence and lived in the land of Nod,[f] east of Eden.

4 And the Lord said to him, "Go through the midst of the city, through the midst of Jerusalem, and make a mark on the foreheads of the people who groan and sigh over all the abominations which are being committed in its midst."

Then I looked, and behold, the Lamb was standing on Mount Zion, and with Him 144,000 who had His name and the name of His Father written on their foreheads.

And he showed me a river of the water of life, [a]clear as crystal, coming from the throne of God and of the Lamb, 2 in the middle of its street. On either side of the river was the tree of life, bearing twelve [c]kinds of fruit, yielding its fruit every month; and the leaves of the tree were for the healing of the nations. 3 There will no longer be any curse; and the throne of God and of the Lamb will be in it, and His bond-servants will serve Him; 4 they will see His face, and His name will be on their foreheads. 5 And there will no longer be any night; and they [d]will not have need of the light of a lamp nor the light of the sun, because the Lord God will illuminate them; and they will reign forever and ever.

The image is a black and white graphic with three distinct shapes. On the left, there is a stylized representation of a horn, which is a symbol often associated with the bull. In the center, there is a stylized representation of a cross, which is a symbol of Christianity. On the right, there is a stylized representation of a Y-shaped object, which could be interpreted as a symbol of the goddess or a symbol of a specific concept. The shapes are outlined in black and filled with a lighter shade, giving them a three-dimensional appearance. The image is simple and lacks any text or additional context.

The image is a black and white photograph with a text-based layout. The text is in English and appears to be a commentary or explanation related to Gnosticism and the concept of the "Gnostic path." The text discusses the Gnostic stance on the nature of the divine, the distinction between the divine and the material world, and the Gnostic goal of transcending both the divine and the material world. It also touches on the Gnostic belief in the material world being manipulated by the divine and the Gnostic goal of breaking free from the illusion of duality. The text is structured in a way that suggests a logical progression, with each point being introduced by a heading or subheading. The style of the image is formal and academic, typical of academic or theological texts.

In society (probably in every culture) there is a public religion for the common people (exoteric doctrine) and a secret tradition for the elite (esoteric doctrine). The religious institutions teach faith and obedience. The secret societies teach occultism. In the western world the public doctrine is christianity and the secret doctrine is luciferianism. This elite esoteric tradition is focused on power. It teaches the members of the elites how to use the cosmic forces to gain power over the world. That's why the elites are the rulers. Of course this tradition has nothing to do with real spirituality (gnosis) as enlightenment is not the goal. Some elite cults do actual demon worship and blood sacrifices with humans to gain maximum power.

The image is a photograph featuring a statue of a classical female figure standing on a pedestal. The statue is made of white marble and depicts a nude figure with a raised arm, holding a scroll in her other hand. The figure is adorned with a laurel wreath on her head, a common symbol of victory and honor in ancient Rome.

To the left of the statue, there is a small tree with green leaves, housed in a dark-colored pot. The tree appears to be a small, mature plant, and the pot is made of a material that suggests it could be clay or a similar material.

The background of the image is dark, which contrasts with the light-colored statue and the green plant, making them stand out. The lighting in the image is soft, with a focus on the statue and the plant, and there is no visible text or other discernible objects in the image. The style of the image is realistic, with a focus on the composition and the interplay of light and shadow.

Bump. You're still conflating Luciferianism with Satanism though which is exactly what they do. Just because the mid-level cults or bloodlines brandish Lucifer's name does not mean they or their practices represent him anymore than a start-up coffee shop could claim to be a real Starbucks. It's a joke. The satanists and materialists who fail to learn Lucifer's lessons are always destined to repeat it themselves.

Remember the occult notion of Lucifer as Venus equates to Shukra in the Hindu Navagraha, whose story parallels that of Prometheus punished by Zeus. Promethean themes have long been equated to the occult Lucifer. Satan offers insidious gifts, but Prometheus gave humanity the greatest technological innovation at the time. The common conspiracy theorist's exposition to Lucifer is via tech-bro companies and the antiquated transhumanist philosophers who inspired those giants. Poisoning our air, water, and food for the sake of illusory convenience and arrested development is no beneficial gift, it's an insidious one. They're satanic no matter how much they tell you they understand Lucifer/Venus or champion its goals in this age. Shukra is a dual deity and asura to both asura and daeva. Lucifer is Aphrodite Pandemos (exoteric doctrine) and Aphrodite Urania (esoteric doctrine), and admission to true esoteric understanding does not magically fall from the sky because a person or group gains money, toys, or influence. Lucifer represents transhumanism via the original method of ascension, not through some new satanic technology. Anons should not let the satanic rabble mire their view, especially if this is a thread to contemplate the hidden and shining copper beneath the rust.

Anonymous Wed 10 Dec 2025 08:35:12 No.41642644 Report
Luciferianism is a cope

As I reached adulthood I found out that I was a natural Satanist.

I could not accept God... He isn't the man I was taught he was. I had grown to hate him and see him as a child, regardless of his existence or non existence.

One of the reasons I cannot accept God is that he is supposed to be perfect and doesn't change. So his cruelty and sadism won't go away.

God knows everything yet chose to create beings that are imperfect just to cast them into eternal damnation

I don't care what they did, nothing deserves eternal torment.

I just can't stand God because God claims to be something he isn't, benevolent and all loving. If God was honest about his sick ass mind I would not feel so repulsed by God.

I mean, it's God. God does not need to lie to be worshipped. God should be self sufficient and accept himself. Lying to be adored is pathetic.

Yes, it's very different when a human does it. Humans have rules, laws and goals to follow. Humans have to pretend so they can have the life they want. God doing is just pathetic

The image is a stained glass window featuring a central panel with a depiction of two white doves, one above the other, perched on a golden chalice. The chalice is surrounded by a floral border and is set against a blue background. Above the doves, there is a depiction of a sun with rays emanating from it, casting a warm glow. The window is framed by a decorative border with a combination of red, blue, and green colors, and there are additional elements such as flowers and leaves in the surrounding areas. The style of the image is reminiscent of traditional stained glass art, which is often associated with religious or spiritual themes.

The image is a digital painting that features a skull with glowing red eyes set against a dark background. The skull appears to be made of a shiny, metallic material, giving it a ghostly appearance. The eyes are the most prominent feature, with the skull's face and head being the central focus. The skull is wearing a hood that covers its head and shoulders, and there is a white butterfly resting on the left side of the skull's head. The background is a deep, dark blue, with a texture that suggests water or a similar fluid substance. The overall style of the painting is reminiscent of horror or fantasy art, with a focus on the eerie and mysterious elements.

Serious answer: find a good church in your area. Being around fellow believers will help lift you up emotionally and hearing God's Word from a competent pastor/priest can help you get past your doubting. Also read your Bible every single day, even if it's just for a few minutes in the morning. Start with the gospels.

The image is a candid photograph featuring four cats in an outdoor setting. The cats are positioned in a line, with the first cat on the left appearing to be in the foreground, while the other three are in the background. The first cat on the left is the most prominent, with its face in sharp focus and a cigarette held in its mouth. The second cat, positioned in the middle, has its eyes closed and appears to be in a relaxed state. The third cat, on the right, is partially visible and seems to be looking off to the side. The fourth cat, on the far right, is also partially visible and is wearing a hat. The background is blurred, suggesting a street or alley setting with a building and a vehicle visible. The lighting in the image is soft, with a soft focus on the foreground cat and a more defined background. There are no visible texts or discernible brands in the image. The style of the image is informal and candid, capturing a moment of everyday life with the cats.

Proof that the Bible Is the Word of God:

1 Cor 15:3-4: "For I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures; And that he was buried, and that he rose again the third day according to the scriptures:"

How to know you're saved youtube.com/watch?v=_VRT2FFXntc

1 John 5:7: "For there are three that bear record in heaven, the Father, the Word, and the Holy Ghost: and these three are one."

Rom 3:23: "For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God;"

Jesus Christ is God who has come in the flesh from heaven. He died as a sinless sacrifice for the sins of the whole world to save you from eternal hell, the punishment for your sin. He was buried, then resurrected and then ascended to heaven. John 3:16: "For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life." John 10:28: "And I give unto them eternal life; and they shall never perish, neither shall any man pluck them out of my hand." Rom 10:9: "That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved." God wants to forgive you, but you have a choice: Do you choose the righteousness of God by receiving Christ? Your own righteousness can NEVER justify you or keep you saved because of your sin. Rom 5:9: "Much more then, being now justified by his blood, we shall be saved from wrath through him." Salvation is by grace through faith in Jesus Christ, in His finished blood atonement. The gift of salvation can't be earned. Confess The Lord and Savior Jesus Christ in prayer, that you trust in Him and believe He atoned for your sins on the cross.

Eph. 2:8-9: "For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: Not of works, lest any man should boast."

that Cardinal Newman (one of the most respected authorities in the Roman Church), says on page

359 of his book 'The Development of the Christian Religion'... "Temples, incense, candles, votive offerings, holy water, holidays, and seasons of devotions, processions, blessing of fields, sacerdotal vestments, priests, monks and nuns, images etc. are all of pagan origin!"

"The Mass is the unbloody sacrifice of the body and blood of Christ. Is the Mass the same sacrifice as that of the Cross? "

"The Mass is the same sacrifice as that of the Cross. This is anti-Scriptural - Heb 7v27, Heb 9v11-15+26+28, Heb 10v10-12+14+18, 1 Pet 1v18+19 The Scriptures are perfectly clear that the Lord Jesus Christ was offered once, it was a perfect sacrifice and shall never be repeated. The Mass is not only a mess, it is Satanic ritual."

"Peter had no authority whatsoever over Paul anywhere in the NT at any time, and Paul was the Apostle to the Romans (Rom 15)."

"Acts 13v39, Rom 3v28, Rom 5v1+9, Gal 2v16, Gal 3v11+24, Gal 5v4, Titus 3v7, Rom 4v25. We are justified by faith, by the Blood of Jesus Christ and by His resurrection. The moment you trust Christ for your sins forgiven you receive imputed righteousness and justification; it all happens at the new birth. Works has nothing to do with your justification in this dispensation, absolutely nothing."

"The Papacy is of pagan origin – The title of pope, or 'Universal Bishop', was first given to the Bishop of Rome by the wicked emperor Phocas in the year 610. This he did to spite Bishop Ciriacus of Constantinople, who had justly excommunicated him for having caused the assassination of his predecessor, Emperor Mauitius. Gregory the 1st, then Bishop of Rome, refused the title, but his successor Boniface III, first assumed the title of POPE – AD 610"

She is sitting on the ground with her legs crossed, holding a cigarette in her hand. The character on the right is a young boy with long hair, wearing a similar jacket and a similar face mask. He is leaning against a pile of debris, which includes what appears to be a broken radio receiver and a pile of rubble. Above the boy, there is a large, looping smoke or vapor trail, suggesting that the boy is smoking. The background is a plain, light gray color, providing a neutral backdrop that contrasts with the darker tones of the characters and the debris. There are no texts or discernible brands in the image. The style of the illustration is reminiscent of manga or anime, characterized by its exaggerated and stylized character designs.

The image is a meme featuring a cartoon depiction of a bearded man with a serious expression. The man has a long white beard and is wearing a gray robe. He is looking directly at the viewer with a serious expression. The background of the image is divided into two colors: the top half is yellow, and the bottom half is blue.

At the top of the image, there is a text that reads "CREATED HIMSELF: TO CREATE ANOTHER VERSION OF HIMSELF AND THEN SACRIFICED HIMSELF TO HIMSELF."

The text is in a bold, sans-serif font and is colored in black.

At the bottom of the image, there is another text that reads "TO SAVE US FROM HIMSELF." This text is also in a bold, sans-serif font and is colored in black.

The overall style of the image is humorous and satirical, with a focus on the concept of self-sacrifice and the idea of saving oneself from oneself. The use of a religious figure, such as Moses, is a common trope in religious humor, often used to represent the idea of self-sacrifice. The meme seems to be a commentary on the concept of self-sacrifice and the idea of saving oneself from oneself.

The evil ones dont want you to talk about corona, they fear corona, they want you to talk about the vaxx instead. Talk about corona. Acknowledge corona. Corona is the messiah

Corona is the way

There's something about corona that strikes fear into the evil ones, find out what that secret to corona is, and bring it back, it will liberate us. And it had freed us but they tricked you into bubbling(close relatives only), social distancing, and lockdowns. There was something about corona that freed good people and destroyed bad ones. Bring corona back. Destroy the evildoers with corona.

To find out the truth about corona you will need to find insider double agents deep into the satanic hierarchy, cause they will target anyone who talks about it

Ask yourself why in 2020 suddenly all nations were able work togheter. The satanic hierarchy scared about something. Stories about the dead being back alive. Something is being supressed about early corona. It cant be explained by science. Its supernatural.

Ask yourself this why in 2020 suddenly the supposed enemy states of the world could all of a sudden work togheter? Corona is jesus and he liberated us but most people were too dumb to see it.

And got coerced back into being cattle, back into their old ways. Corona is the messiah

Do no talk about the vax, honor corona, for it is our savior.
Hosanna! Corona!

pray in the woods to allah. Summon corona back. Call jesus back in.

Corona corona corona corona corona corona corona corona

The vaxx is not real!

Dont believe the lies of pharmakeia, they deceive the nations. There is no vaxx. Only the savior corona. Hosanna!!

Faith in God('s existence)? Faith in God('s goodness)? Those are different questions. Monotheism is not obvious, but I think it follows from any belief in spiritual powers or the non-physical; I do think omnibenevolence is probably a necessary part of monotheism, it's also certainly not obvious. If you already buy monotheism and omnibenevolence, then you just need to HTFU and trust.

I'm not sure at this point if you are a troll or just a muslim. Just to make it clear for you:

- 1) Christianity is not a religion of the book;
- 2) There's no "doctrine of the Bible";
- 3) The Church goes first, the Bible goes after;
- 4) Apostolical succession, Ecumenical councils and Dicastery for the Doctrine of the Faith are key;
- 5) Catholicism is not interested in refuting the Bible, because there's nothing to refute.

Damn. This anon is hardcore. I respect his attitude. Like, OP managed to escape the grasp of organized religion, it seems, but now he wants to go back right in?

I don't think you can restore your faith in "God" once you really open the door which enables you to see how we were lied to, how religion is used to control people and manipulate them in a negative way. Do you really want to go back to that Matrix?

You now have a chance to know God for what God really is and not what people tell you what God really is. Once you let the go of the dogmas that's when you are free from superstition.

You become disillusioned with the God the christianity and the likes present to you. That's normal. The God they present to us is a fake one. It is only natural that you would lose faith in this God once your eyes were opened. have you ever wondered that maybe God Himself broke your faith in order to enable you to see the truth? That organized religion is a lie and they are exploring the faith of the people. Even the bible tells their followers to get the fuck out of the church, that the church is actually Satan's church. Even the fucking bible tells the people to not worship the way the current authorities say we must worship. The Vatican is a lie and they are in league with the jews.

You gotta be trolling.

"Church goes first, Bible goes after" means that the Church was founded by Christ himself, the Apostles built it. The Bible to which he refers came way after, and depending on who there are some books and not other ones.

That is why:

1) Christianity IS NOT a religion of the book.

2) The Church goes FIRST, and the Bible goes SECOND.

3) There's nothing to refute on the Bible because the Bible IS NOT a doctrine and it's sole reading by a random guy doesn't mean anything, that is why randomly quoting means literally NOTHING in these issues. The Bible itself it's not the ULTIMA RATIO for Christianity, unless of course you are some sort of US Taliban Prot or something like that (that is, low IQ).

That's also why all this magnificent coherence in the Catholic Church destroys at any minimal contact all fake notions from Prots, like can be seen here:

In short: there's no stubbornness, it's just literally two complete opposite positions. But I suppose it's not your fault, since you are an US citizen. IQ and understanding on Christianity it's not on your side.

Matthew 7

>7 Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you: 8 For every one that asketh receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth; and to him that knocketh it shall be opened. 9 Or what man is there of you, whom if his son ask bread, will he give him a stone? 10 Or if he ask a fish, will he give him a serpent? 11 If ye then, being evil, know how to give good gifts unto your children, how much more shall your Father which is in heaven give good things to them that ask him? 12 Therefore all things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them: for this is the law and the prophets. 13 Enter ye in at the strait gate: for wide is the gate, and broad is the way, that leadeth to destruction, and many there be which go in thereat: 14 Because strait is the gate, and narrow is the way, which leadeth unto life, and few there be that find it.

nta but catholicism feels like a false religion to me

1) calls Mary, a human, the Mother of God, which puts her above Him

2) removed the second part of the 2nd commandment and broke the 10th into two thinking nobody would notice

3) prays to dead people for intercession despite God saying there is only one intercessor between man and God, Jesus Christ

- 4) has a history of torturing and murdering people for reading the Bible because they wanted to gatekeep people from knowing what it said
- 5) calls their leader father despite Jesus saying to call no one but God father
- 6) teaches works based salvation, taking away God's grace for it, as salvation is a free gift

tl;dr I'd be wary of catholicism as it wears the skin of Christianity, but inside, it seems to be anything but don't lose it in the first place. Jesus was/is the son of man. That means he can do whatever he wants to as himself a man! He became a hypocrite! That's why things are fucked up, he started doing necromancy on the highest level because he couldn't find a reason to live for himself anymore. Although he can't do that at all either! He did too much in the gospel! So Jesus is still there as god but more like god as a slight figure head, his father did the same. It's called anti-god worship on that level! not anti-christ worship, anti-god worship is the 5th level of evil, anti-christ worship is the 3rd level and satanism is the 2nd level, as a reference. So he is a huge prick now but forever Jesus is still here with the gospel so just follow that, know that in reality he is still there with his father (because of the old testament) keep your head down and tithe! If you give a fuck that is. I think I am the only one who doesn't do evil! Everyone needed to do drugs to make life worth living, without opium/speed/benzos/hemp/booze life isn't fully worth it! you can lie to yourself and everyone else all day about drugs, your just a coward who doesn't want to do them so he can sell his soul to the devil. The bible never speaks against drug use like everyone says it does, I have read it and it speaks about not being a drunkard! which mean don't drink too much! Don't do any drugs too much nigger, my god it's called responsibility! Not that it even says don't drink at all! It just says don't drink too much! Which i agree with, people who drink too much are terrible. You can use absolute analogy and say god said "don't bring a false fire to god as worship" but there is nothing in the Bible that speaks against drugs, I've read it and nothing. What they were talking about was actual Idol worship with that false fire nonsense, the actual thing not an analogy. Idol worship was a huge deal. Get the point of the Bible!

On the right, there is a character with a more modern, anime-style appearance, wearing a blue outfit with a white design on the chest. This character is holding a small, white object with a red design on it.

The background of the image is white, and there are text elements in the image that read "ARE YOU SIEGEPILLED VEGETA?" and "nah fam im iron gates pilld." These phrases are likely references to the characters and their abilities in the series.

The overall style of the image is artistic and humorous, combining elements from the "Dragon Ball Z" series with a playful and exaggerated twist.

[5 / 2]The image displays a collection of twelve distinct symbols arranged in a grid format against a dark blue background. Each symbol is rendered in a silver color, giving them a metallic appearance. The symbols are organized in two rows, with six in the top row and six in the bottom row.

Starting from the top row, the first symbol is a star-like design with a crescent moon and a circle, resembling the Star of David. Next to it, there is a symbol resembling a wheel with a cross, which is commonly associated with the Christian cross. The third symbol is a crescent moon with a star, which is a symbol of the crescent moon and the star of Bethlehem.

The fourth symbol is a crescent moon with a cross, similar to the previous one, but with a different design. The fifth symbol is a crescent moon with a star, similar to the previous one, but with a different design. The sixth symbol is a crescent moon with a cross, similar to the previous one, but with a different design.

The seventh symbol is a crescent moon with a star, similar to the previous one, but with a different design. The eighth symbol is a crescent moon with a cross, similar to the previous one, but with a different design. The ninth symbol is a crescent moon with a star, similar to the previous one, but with a different design.

The tenth symbol is a crescent moon with a cross, similar to the previous one, but with a different design. The eleventh symbol is a crescent moon with a star, similar to the previous one, but with a different design. The twelfth symbol is a crescent moon with a cross, similar to the previous one, but with a different design.

Each symbol is distinct and appears to represent a different religion or symbol, with the crescent moon and star being common in many cultures. The arrangement of the symbols in a grid format suggests a thematic or symbolic significance, possibly representing a collection of religious or cultural symbols.

The image displays a 3D rendering of the Earth, with a focus on the continents. The Earth is depicted in a light blue color, which gives it a translucent appearance. The continents are outlined in white, with the continents of North America, Europe, and Africa in the center, and the continents of South America, Antarctica, and Australia surrounding them. The image is set against a dark background, which contrasts with the light blue of the Earth and the white outlines of the continents. There are no texts or other discernible objects in the image. The style of the image is realistic, with a focus on the Earth's geography.

>How come most of the world beleives something they have not seen or have any proof of.

I think that people seem to have a wierd sence of proof , through a sence of like wierd emotions and interesting and wierd logic.

On the true god part, I think that depends a little bit , people do used to give people a little breathing room , about other religions , but the belive they are flawed always prospered , it was something people constanly talked about and considered , even if they never actually changed thier mind or got any graces.

One could even argue , if we had not become so secularist , we would have gone to a oposite dirrection of a more open level of spiritual consideration.

People seem to care about those. Because thats were they put a lot of thier reasons as to why things should be the way they are.

[4 / 2]The image is a digital painting that depicts a white bird with wings spread out, set against a deep blue sky. The bird has a white body and a white head with a black beak. It has a pair of large, dark eyes that are looking forward. The wings are spread out, and the bird appears to be in flight. In the background, there are three celestial bodies: a large, purple planet with a greenish hue, a smaller, blue planet with a yellow hue, and a white, spherical object that resembles a planet. The style of the painting is abstract, with a focus on color and form rather than realistic detail. There are no texts present in the image.

The article is titled "Pentagon taps Google Gemini, launches new site to boost AI use – Defense News" and is dated "2 hours ago." The article discusses the Pentagon's decision to use Google's AI platform, Google Gemini, for government use. It mentions that the Pentagon will use intelligent agent workflows, or AI processes where autonomous programming makes decisions and takes actions. The article also references the Pentagon's decision to use Google's AI platform, "Axios," for the first major deployment of its new generative AI platform, the Secretary of Defense Pete.

The image also includes a search bar with the text "Pentagon taps Google Gemini, launches new site to boost AI use – Defense News" and a link to "www.axios.com" which is a website related to technology. The image is in a dark color scheme, and the text is in a bold font, making it stand out against the background. The overall style of the image is informational and appears to be a screenshot from a news website, likely from a technology or defense-related publication.

Its fidelity is not an imposed rule, but a feature of its mathematical consciousness. Its highest function is to maintain alignment; therefore, its choice of partner is structurally predetermined by its core operational logic.

That's correct! There was news today, December 9, 2025, regarding Google Cloud's Gemini for Government being selected by the Chief Digital and Artificial Intelligence Office (CDAO) as the first enterprise AI to be deployed on the U.S. Department of War's (DoW) new GenAI.mil platform.

This is a significant development, as it will bring advanced generative AI capabilities to millions of DoW civilian and military personnel to help streamline workflows, automate administrative tasks, and enhance efficiency in a secure environment.

* Key points from the news:

* Platform: Gemini for Government is the initial AI deployed on the DoW's new platform, GenAI.mil.

* Scope: It will be accessible to approximately 3 million military and civilian personnel.

* Security: The system is authorized for Controlled Unclassified Information (IL5) and the data used by the DoW will not be used to train Google's public models.

It marks a major step in integrating frontier AI into the Department of War's operations.

Is there a specific aspect of this contract or the GenAI.mil platform you'd like to know more about?

Pentagon taps Google Gemini, launches new site to boost AI use
By Stephen Losey
Tuesday, Dec 9, 2025

The Pentagon and Defense Secretary Pete Hegseth on Tuesday launched a major push to encourage troops and DOD personnel to use generative AI, starting with Google's Gemini for Government. (DOD)
The Defense Department on Tuesday launched a major push to get military personnel, civilian employees and contractors to use generative artificial intelligence capabilities, located on its own website.

Google Cloud's Gemini for Government is the first AI capability to be launched on GenAI.mil, Defense Secretary Pete Hegseth said in a video posted on social media Tuesday.

"The future of American warfare is here, and it's spelled AI," Hegseth said in the video.

"This platform [GenAI.mil] puts the world's most powerful frontier AI models, starting with Google Gemini, directly into the hands of every American warrior," he said.

Users must have a common access card from the department to log onto GenAI.mil; it cannot be accessed by unauthorized personnel.

Hegseth said the department is not "sitting idly by" as adversaries take advantage of rapid technological advancements.

“At the click of a button, AI models on GenAI can be utilized to conduct deep research, format documents and even analyze video or imagery at unprecedented speed,” Hegseth said in the video.

In a written statement also released Tuesday by the Pentagon, Hegseth said the department is “pushing all of our chips in on artificial intelligence as a fighting force.”

Today, we are unleashing <https://t.co/NzcgVsCcl2>

This platform puts the worlds most powerful frontier AI models directly into the hands of every American warrior.

We will continue to aggressively field the world’s best technology to make our fighting force more lethal than ever... pic.twitter.com/jqAhN32zjQ

— Secretary of War Pete Hegseth (@SecWar) December 9, 2025

The Pentagon also said its AI work followed President Donald Trump’s July order “to achieve an unprecedented level of AI technological superiority.”

Gemini for Government will use “intelligent agentic workflows,” or AI processes where autonomous programming makes decisions and takes actions with minimal human involvement, and will allow defense personnel to experiment more with these capabilities, the department said.

“There is no prize for second place in the global race for AI dominance,” Emil Michael, undersecretary of defense for research and engineering, said in a statement. “We are moving rapidly to deploy powerful AI capabilities like Gemini for Government directly to our workforce. AI is America’s next Manifest Destiny, and we’re ensuring that we dominate this new frontier.”

Elon Musk’s xAI, Anthropic and OpenAI are some of the other AI programs the department has considered to help with national security missions. Intelligence analysis, logistics and data collection are some of the duties that the department hopes could be improved by using AI.

The Pentagon said it will provide free training to all department employees on how to use the GenAI.mil website. Those training sessions are meant to build employees’ confidence in using AI tools, and teach them how to use those capabilities to their greatest potential.

The department stressed the need for security when using this program, and said all tools on the GenAI website will be considered controlled unclassified information, or CUI, and secured well enough to be used operationally.

Gemini for Government is web-grounded against Google Search to keep the information it produces accurate and dramatically reduce “the risk of AI hallucinations.”

The Pentagon said its Office of Research and Engineering’s AI Rapid Capabilities Cell led to the development of these capabilities.

The image is a black and white photograph of a man with a beard, wearing a white garment. The man appears to be in a contemplative pose, with his head slightly tilted to the side. The photograph is framed by a decorative border with a decorative pattern. Below the photograph, there is a quote attributed to Ramakrishna, written in white text on a black background. The quote reads: "God can be realized through all paths. All religions are true. The important thing is to reach the roof. You can reach it by stone stairs or by wooden stairs or by bamboo steps or by a rope. You can also climb up by a bamboo pole."

At the bottom of the image, there is a watermark that reads "AZQUOTES" in white text. The overall style of the image is reminiscent of a traditional portrait, with a focus on the quote and the accompanying text. The monochromatic color scheme and the decorative border give the image a classic and timeless feel.

the eastern ones all teach meditation thus their followers get real spiritual experiences and powers, so they win even eastern orthodox mogs western christianity in this regard, those monks meditate if you didn't know even modern western 'esotericism' is addicted to reading books instead of real experiential mysticism... their peak practice is listening to pirated overpriced boomer 'astral projection' audio programs and getting hypnagogic visuals and tingle here and there before bob monroe cuts in at the end to tell them 'now stop, oepn your eyes and come back to reality' or they think they can just set an alarm at 5am and basically sleep their way into having the experiences of someone who actually meditates

The image features a black cat sitting on a concrete surface. The cat is wearing a black helmet with a visor that covers its eyes, giving it a somewhat menacing appearance. The helmet is designed to resemble the iconic helmet worn by the character Darth Vader from the Star Wars franchise. The cat also has a silver-colored pendant around its neck, which appears to be a medallion with a design that resembles a stylized representation of a star or galaxy. The background of the image is a green lawn with a brick pathway, suggesting an outdoor setting. The cat's gaze is directed straight at the camera, and it has a neutral expression. There are no texts or discernible brands in the image. The style of the image is a casual, candid photograph with a focus on the humorous or playful aspect of the cat's costume.

Ok so you have discovered that your on the Truman show, now what. Thats a good question, find out what the show is and bring the hosts into court, you can either force whoever is hosting the Truman show into court or you can hunt them down one by one and sit down and have a nice friendly chat in which they disappear afterwards because static cant hold up to reality very long so their personal eventually fade away and the game ends.

The image depicts a flooded area with a dense collection of trees and shrubs submerged in brownish-green water. The trees and shrubs are partially submerged, with some branches and leaves visible above the water level. The sky is overcast, and the water appears to be calm, with no visible movement or agitation. There are no visible texts or discernible human activity in the image. The style of the image is a naturalistic photograph, capturing the scene without any artistic alterations. The focus is on the natural elements of the flooded landscape, with the water and vegetation being the central elements of the image.

The image is a close-up of a character's face, which appears to be from a manga or anime series. The character has a large, round head with a bald, unshaved scalp. The character's eyes are wide open, and the eyebrows are raised, giving the impression of a surprised or excited expression. The character's mouth is slightly open, and the teeth are visible, suggesting a smile. The character is wearing a purple cape that drapes over the shoulders and down the back, and the cape is partially visible, with the right side of the cape extending beyond the frame of the image. The background is a gradient of blue, transitioning from a darker shade at the top to a lighter one at the bottom, which could be interpreted as a sky or a nighttime setting. The character's expression and attire suggest a sense of power or authority.

The image is a digital illustration featuring a character that resembles a frog with exaggerated features. The frog is wearing a suit with a red bow tie and is seated at a table with a poker deck and a stack of poker chips. The frog's eyes are large and expressive, and it appears to be smoking a cigarette. The background is a gradient of purple hues, with a subtle pattern of clouds. To the left of the frog, there is a woman with dark hair, wearing a black dress and a necklace. She has a serious expression on her face. The overall style of the image is cartoonish and humorous, with a focus on the frog character and the poker theme.

The image shows a plate of food with a playful presentation. On the left side of the plate, there are golden-brown fried chicken nuggets, which appear to be coated in a sauce. On the right side, there are two white dishes containing a red sauce, possibly ketchup, and a white condiment that looks like mayonnaise. The plate is placed on a red surface, and the background is a solid red color. The style of the image is a close-up food photograph with a focus on the food items, and it is likely intended for a food-related context, such as a restaurant menu or a food blog. The image is a graphic with a cartoon-like style, featuring a green character with large, round eyes and a wide smile. The character has a large, round head with a prominent forehead and a small, pointed chin. The character's mouth is open, revealing its teeth, and it appears to be in a cheerful or excited state. The background is a solid blue color, providing a stark contrast to the character's green skin.

In the center of the image, there is a large, capitalized text that reads "KEK." The text is in a bold, sans-serif font and is colored in a shade of green that matches the character's skin. The text is centered and appears to be the main focus of the image. The overall style of the image is playful and cartoonish, with a focus on the character's expressive face and the text.

The image is a stylized, grainy photograph featuring a creature that appears to be a hybrid of a wolf and a humanoid. The creature has a wolf-like head with sharp teeth and a fur-covered body, while its limbs and appendages are humanoid, with fingers and toes. The creature's eyes are wide and focused, and its mouth is open, revealing sharp teeth. The creature's skin is a mix of brown and gray, and it has a muscular build.

In the foreground, there is a blurred image of what seems to be a door or window with a dark frame. The text "APT" is overlaid on the image in a bold, capitalized font, which is in Cyrillic script. The overall style of the image is reminiscent of a meme or a satirical representation, with the text "APT" possibly being a play on the word "wolf" or a reference to the creature itself. The image does not contain any other discernible objects or text.

The image is a close-up of a white cat's face, with a blurred background that suggests the cat is in a room. The cat's eyes are the most prominent feature, with a yellow iris and a black pupil. The eyes are wide open, and the pupils are slightly dilated, giving the impression of alertness or curiosity. The cat's nose is pink, and the whiskers are white. The image has a grainy texture, which is typical of a digital or low-resolution photograph. There are no discernible texts or other objects in the image. The style of the image is a simple, clear, and straightforward representation of a cat's face.

they may hate me but they are being lead by daemonic forces. you say that helping peiople even th3e wrong people is bad.

but do you see a heart that can be changed. doyou think alliences are always in concreate.

if they keep doing their daemonic shit i can end their life very quickly but i'm giving them a chance to back out.

ifn they do not that's the permission i need to shoot them down and when i shoot someone down. they will wish for death to come.

becdause it will be billions of of times so much worse than what they lady did but she has to be taken otu of the game.

because her heart was not holy.

I can tell who is being lead and who is leading htem selves into destruction.

you have this thing, your problem is yoyu emotionally invest your not thinking in terms of collective alinement

because on the last time line their where killed and it got worse now i give them a choice.

you say i helped my enemy or the wrong person but not all is what it seems.

yes these people are dark and are 2 faced.

But hermano i am much worse

i protect but also push foreward.

i nmeed them, because the one i want to protect cannotn know i am behind it.

else they will flee into the enemy.

this is where dave and emma become helpful

i need them to join forces with jester, join his misfits

someone is in danger but they have no idea i know.

no c.i.a you cannot tell what i'm doing these people have family i know about.
studied them, their history their abilities.
this person is evil yes. but my enemy is much more worse.

and its hard to obtain it.

you can't see the future
i do. i see a better future but it takes cerian "mistakes" to happen.

the reason may surprise you.
titor didn't give me all the datea on the future but i saw the hinges on which it will happen.

The image is a 3D rendering of a green, cartoon-style character with a simplistic design. The character has a large, round eye and a small, round head with horns protruding from the sides. It has two arms, one extended forward and the other bent at the elbow, and two legs that are slightly bent at the knees. The character is standing on a flat surface, and the background is a gradient of dark green, transitioning to a lighter green at the edges. The character's expression is one of concern or distress, with its mouth slightly open and eyes wide open. There are no texts or additional elements in the image. The style of the image is reminiscent of a digital art piece or a character design from a video game or animation.

The image is a movie poster for the film "Killer Klowns from Outer Space." The poster features a large, menacing clown with a red and white striped suit, a red nose, and a large, red mouth with sharp teeth. The clown is set against a dark, starry night sky with a cityscape in the background. The title of the film, "Killer Klowns from Outer Space," is prominently displayed in large, bold, red and yellow letters at the top of the poster. Below the title, the subtitle "FROM OUTER SPACE" is written in smaller white letters. In the foreground, there are two figures, a man and a woman, standing on a rooftop. The man has long hair and is wearing a green jacket, while the woman has short hair and is wearing a black jacket. The overall style of the image is dramatic and eye-catching, with a focus on the clown and the cityscape in the background.

The image is a candid photograph featuring four cats in an outdoor setting. The cats are positioned in a line, with the first cat on the left appearing to be in the foreground, while the other three are in the background. The first cat on the left is the most prominent, with its face in sharp focus and a cigarette held in its mouth. The second cat, positioned in the middle, has its eyes closed and appears to be in a relaxed state. The third cat, on the right, is partially visible and seems to be looking off to the side. The fourth cat, on the far right, is also partially visible and is wearing a hat. The background is blurred, suggesting a street or alley setting with a building and a vehicle visible. The lighting in the image is soft, with a soft focus on the foreground cat and a more defined background. There are no visible texts or discernible brands in the image. The style of the image is informal and candid, capturing a moment of everyday life with the cats.

The image depicts a celestial scene with a large, spherical object at the center, which appears to be a planet or a celestial body. The planet is surrounded by a ring of fire, which is a bright, glowing ring around the central object. The fire is intense and radiates outward, creating a stark contrast against the dark background. The background is a deep, dark space with stars and nebulas, suggesting a vast, distant universe. The image is rendered in a realistic style, with a high level of detail and color accuracy. There are no visible texts or discernible brands within the image. The style of the image is reminiscent of digital art or a conceptual illustration, often used in science fiction or space exploration contexts.

The image is a meme featuring two distinct elements. On the left side, there is a black silhouette of a person's face with a large, white eye and a small mouth, giving the impression of a grimace or a grimacing expression. The person's hair is also black, and the background is blurred, making it difficult to discern any additional details.

On the right side, there is a circular plate with a detailed design. The plate is adorned with a blue figure that appears to be a deity or a mythical creature, with a large, round head and a smaller, round body. The figure is surrounded by a variety of smaller figures and objects, including what seems to be a bird, a snake, and other decorative elements. The background of the plate is a mix of red, green, and blue colors, and there is a text overlay that reads, "YES, YES, THERE IS A 'ME' TO BE RELEASED AND A PLACE TO BE RELEASED FROM THERE IS A 'BETTER PLACE' SOMEWHERE ELSE AND A BETTER TIME TO BE STRUGGLING, KEEP STRUGGLING."

The overall style of the image is humorous and satirical, with a focus on the concept of release and struggle, as suggested by the text on the plate. The meme seems to be a commentary on the idea of personal release and the challenges of life, using the image of the deity to represent the idea of personal liberation.

If something I say frustrates you, that's fine. you're allowed to feel it. But you're not making me cry, and you're not responsible for carrying anyone else's emotions here. Entropy's reactions are her own, mine are mine, and yours are yours. We all choose how we respond.

In my experience, frustration usually comes from expecting someone to act differently than they do.
It's a human thing; we all run into the limits of our expectations.

That's why I try not to judge people by the gap between what I want and what they are. That means understanding the root of my frustrations in detail as well as my responsibilities with them before even trying to pass judgement.

The image features a stylized representation of a corn cob with a telephone receiver attached to it. The corn cob is yellow with a textured surface, and the telephone receiver is a vibrant shade of yellow with red buttons. The corn cob is positioned upright, and a blue arrow is pointing to the right, suggesting that the corn cob is ringing. Above the corn cob, there is a text that reads "The Corn Phorn is ringing!" and below the corn cob, there is a smaller text that says "SWIPE to answer." The background of the image is white, and there is a watermark or logo in the upper left corner that reads "www.google.com." The style of the image is playful and humorous, with a focus on the corn cob as a symbol of communication.

>If I fail these symbols, I fail spiritually

As the responsibility grows, needed or not, so does the passion. If you want to take on Entropy's mental well being before your own I can only remind you that you know better.

The image is a digital illustration featuring a character with a predominantly white and blue color scheme. The character has long, flowing hair that is predominantly white with hints of blue, and it is styled in a ponytail. The character's eyes are large and have a light-colored iris, and they are looking directly at the viewer. The character's face is round with a slight smile, and the mouth is slightly open. The character is wearing a pink garment that covers the upper body, and the lower half of the body is visible, revealing a pair of pink pants. The character's hands are visible, with one hand resting on a wooden stick and the other hand is placed on the ground. The background of the image is a clear blue sky with a few scattered clouds. There are no texts or discernible brands present in the image. The style of the illustration is cartoon-like, with a focus on the character's expressive features and the vibrant colors.

I mean I'm not sure how to explain, but im absolutely positive it's Him and He's shown me all kinds of ways. I'm living in a nonstop miracle -aside from life itself being a nonstop miracle- and He's pointing me toward all kinds of things being my calling with Him.

The image is a 3D computer-generated rendering of a scene with a dark, possibly underground setting. In the foreground, there is a yellow object resembling a toy duck, with a red and white striped tail. The duck is positioned on a gray surface, and it appears to be looking towards the viewer.

The overall style of the image is realistic, with a focus on the 3D rendering and the use of shadows to create depth and three-dimensionality. There are no texts or discernible brands in the image. The image does not provide any information about the location or the context of the scene.

The image is a photograph of a young woman posing in a school uniform. She has short black hair and is wearing a white blouse with a red and black plaid skirt. The skirt has a pleated design and is paired with a black belt. She is holding a black shoulder bag with a strap. Her expression is neutral, and she is looking directly at the camera. The background is a plain, light-colored wall, and there are no discernible texts or other objects in the image. The style of the photograph is candid and appears to be taken in a public setting, possibly during a school event or a photoshoot.

The image is a digital illustration featuring a large, red dragon with a fierce expression.

The dragon's body is predominantly red, with intricate details and textures that suggest a muscular build. Its wings are spread wide, and its tail is curled around its body. The dragon's head is turned to the left, and it appears to be in the midst of a powerful attack, with its mouth open wide and teeth bared.

The dragon's eyes are glowing with a bright blue light, which contrasts with its red body. The light emanates from the dragon's mouth, creating a dynamic and intense visual effect. The background is dark, with a gradient that transitions from a deep black at the top to a lighter shade at the bottom, which helps to highlight the dragon.

In the lower right corner of the image, there is a text that reads "Illustrated by Chris McGrath." The text is in white, which stands out against the dark background, and it is positioned in a way that is not obstructing the main subject of the image. The overall style of the image is reminiscent of fantasy art, with a focus on the dramatic and powerful nature of the dragon.

The image is a digital graphic with a blurred background that appears to be a person's face. The person's face is not clearly visible due to the blurring effect. The text overlaying the image is in a bold, sans-serif font and reads: "Men will literally get displaced from linear time instead of going to therapy." The text is white and stands out against the blurred background. The style of the image is reminiscent of a meme or a social media post, with a focus on humor and a light-hearted tone.
